WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Representative J. "I am unalterably opposed to any further reduction or cancellation of the debts of foreign nations to the United States, and under no circumstances will I support any move that has for its purpose the United States being made a part of any reparations settlement with Germany," Mr. Swick said. International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—The Mellon plan to raise $920,000,000 in new taxes today faced extensive revision by the House ways and means committee, but the Republican administration and House Democratic leaders appeared to be moving nearer an agreement in the budget-balancing program.

The Treasury proposals were made the basis of the hearings which will continue for 10 days, while Democratic leaders are formulating the details of their own tax boost plan.

No Controversy

Virtually no controversy developed over the Treasury's recommendation that the maximum surtax rate on big incomes be doubled, but the further proposal that exemption bars be lowered to hit taxpayers with small incomes was coolly received by the Democrats.

The Democratic majority on the committee also bowed to the Treasury's recommendation that certain sales taxes be imposed, but the divergence of opinion appeared over the extent of this plan and the articles to be included.

Failure of Secretary Mellon to recommend imposition of a gift tax brought criticism from both Republicans and Democrats on the committee, with indications that the federal estate tax also would be

Premier Laval Successful In Cabinet Choice

New Cabinet Formed By French Premier Will Likely Be Approved

Andre Tardieu, As Minister Of War Will Attend Geneva Conference

(International News Service)

PARIS, Jan. 14.—Pierre Laval stood more firmly entrenched in the French political scene than ever today as a result of forming a new cabinet within 24 hours after his resignation during the government crisis.

The new cabinet was composed of the same ministers as the resigned body with one notable exception, the retirement of Aristide Briand, veteran of veterans in the politics of France.

Today it will be known whether Briand, although ill, still will lend a hand in solving his country's political and economic problems. Laval, who retained for himself Briand's foreign ministry Portfolio to hold with his premiership, was to confer with him asking him to aid unofficially at the coming reparations and disarmament conference.

Briand May Decline

Should Briand decline, it was expected he would retire to some quiet country spot for convalescence.

Andre Tardieu, former premier and minister of agriculture in the late cabinet, was named war minister, in which capacity he will plead the cause of France at the Geneva Disarmament Conference. He fills the place left vacant by the recent death of Andre Maginot.

President Paul Doumer was officially to accept the new group today in a formal ceremony. Today or tomorrow the new cabinet was to face a vote in the chamber of deputies because of the proximity of the coming important international conferences, it was considered certain it would be approved without delay.

Shenandoah Valley Is Being Combed By Posses For Alleged Killer Of Two Women

Bootjack Murder Of Society Matron And Aged Maid Stirs Entire State

By EDWARD D. LOCKHART
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MIDDLEBURG, Va., Jan. 14—Virginia's Shenandoah valley echoed the shrill cry, "man hunt," today.

Police and populace joined in a search for the slayer or slayers in the bloody, bootjack murder of pretty Mrs. Spencer Ilsley, popular widow, social leader and horsewoman of Washington, New York and Milwaukee, and her elderly maid, Mrs. Anne Buckner, of Rockville, Md.

Believed Drink Crazed

They believe a drink crazed, colored ex-convict who has disappeared since the murder, George Crawford, killed Mrs. Ilsley for revenge. He used to work for her. She swore out a warrant against him charging burglary after a valuable watch, jewel case and overcoat were stolen from her house about Christmas. Crawford was man of all work in the Ilsley household for several months. He was familiar with the Ilsley estate.

There was nothing of hysteria in the search for Crawford. The countryside was aroused, in deadly, determined fashion. There was no talk of lynching. But there was steely intention of seeing to it the law might apprehend the ex-convict. A $500 reward was on his head offered by the Middleburg citizenry.

Compare Fingerprints

Little groups of citizens received in stolid silence news from Washington authorities they had discovered the automobile stolen from Mrs. Ilsley's house early yesterday after the murder. They learned, too District of Columbia police conducting an investigation here sawed away part of the door jamb entering the room in which Mrs. Ilsley was killed and shipped it to Richmond to check fingerprints found thereon with the prints of Crawford taken some years ago when he was sent to prison for manslaughter.

The body of Mrs. Ilsley was taken to Washington for preparation for

(International News Service)

ROME, Jan. 14—Premier Mussolini today made a second sensational appeal for the abolition of all war debts, this time addressing it directly to the United States.

In an editorial appearing in his personal organ Popolo D'Italia and generally attributed to have been inspired by him, the United States was asked to settle the whole problem by complete cancellation.

"The solution of the present crisis lies in the hands of the United States" the editorial declared.

Although not signed by the Premier himself, the article bore unmistakable signs of his own pen, as in the previous Popolo D'Italia editorial.

The first article urged "A clean wiping off the slate of the tragic accounting of war debts." It was the first definite comment on the stand of the fascist government after the announcement by Chancellor Bruening of Germany that Germany could not and would not make any more reparations payments, now or in the future.

Jameson Hospital Is Being Conducted On Sound Principles

In the list of civic workers of the city W. F. Moody's name has usually been found as one of the active members. Community Chest, Kiwanis Club, these and a number of other activities have made heavy demands upon his time. In addition, he is a director of the Jameson Memorial Hospital and as a business man is interested in knowing that the hospital is conducted along business lines.

It has taken us a little time to put the hospital upon a thorough going business basis" said Mr. Moody, "for the very good reason that there was no comparison between the new hospital and the old Shenango Valley. Rules of procedure which were found all right in the Shenango Valley simply wouldn't fit at the Jameson because of its increased size and equipment."

"During this time there has been a deficit accumulating but with the work of the hospital on a business basis as it now is, the future should not hold any deficits save for a small operating deficit which is to be expected in any good hospital. The big thing that is needed now is to lift the deficit of $60,000 and give the Jameson Memorial Hospital a chance to function properly.

"Under the system now in vogue in the Jameson Memorial Hospital we know where every dollar goes and how much of it goes for the various departments. Of the dollar paid by a patient, .0835 percent goes for administration, .0673 for housekeeping, .0295 for laundry, .2590 for dietary, .1402 for plant operation, fuel, power etc., .01 for

"The Jameson Memorial Hospital is being conducted on sound business principles by people who are trained and skilled in their work Remove the $60,000 deficit and they will have a chance to demonstrate just how efficient the hospital can be."

Railroad History Being Made Today

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—Railroading history was being made here today.

Representatives of all the union rail workers and representatives of all the principal railroads met to discuss wage and employment problems. The meeting is the first of its nature in railroad history.

The nine rail executives, three each from the east, west and south are expected to ask the union men to accept a 10 per cent wage reduction.

Wage Cut Acceptable

The wage cut is acceptable to union leaders, it was reported today, provided rail executives adopt a program proposed by the labor forces for improving working conditions and relieving unemployment.

Labor heads are also demanding stabilization of present employment, that workers may be assured an income. They are also expected to ask for a six-hour day as a means of reducing unemployment.

Rail executives are expected to offer a large portion of the estimated $250,000,000 savings realized by the wage cut, toward re-opening shops and resuming work on rights of way, as a means of relieving the unemployment situation.

Both union leaders and representatives of the executives said they expected to agree on compromise measures.

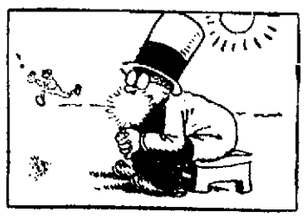

Session Postponed.

The first joint session, scheduled for 10 o'clock this morning, was postponed until 2 p. m., at the request of the rail presidents' committee. It was believed that some members of the committee had not arrived.

The big thing that is needed now is to lift the deficit of $60,000 and give the Jameson Memorial Hospital a chance to function properly.

"Under the system now in vogue in the Jameson Memorial Hospital we know where every dollar goes and how much of it goes for the various departments. Of the dollar paid by a patient, .0835 percent goes for administration, .0673 for housekeeping, .0295 for laundry, .2590 for dietary, .1402 for plant operation, fuel, power etc., .01 for real estate repairs, .021 for equipment repairs, .0061 for rent and insurance, .1560 for nursing, .023 for pharmacy, .038 for medical and surgical supplies, .0254 for anesthesia, .0717 for laboratory, .0392 for X-Ray, .0124 for physical therapy,

Railroad History Being Made Today

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—Railroading history was being made here today.

Representatives of all the union rail workers and representatives of all the principal railroads met to discuss wage and employment problems. The meeting is the first of its nature in railroad history.

The nine rail executives, three each from the east, west and south are expected to ask the union men to accept a 10 per cent wage reduction.

Wage Cut Acceptable

The wage cut is acceptable to union leaders, it was reported today, provided rail executives adopt a program proposed by the labor forces for improving working conditions and relieving unemployment.

Labor heads are also demanding stabilization of present employment, that workers may be assured an income. They are also expected to ask for a six-hour day as a means of reducing unemployment.

Rail executives are expected to offer a large portion of the estimated $250,000,000 savings realized by the wage cut, toward re-opening shops and resuming work on rights of way, as a means of relieving the unemployment situation.

Both union leaders and representatives of the executives said they expected to agree on compromise measures.

Session Postponed.

The first joint session, scheduled for 10 o'clock this morning, was postponed until 2 p. m., at the request of the rail presidents' committee. It was believed that some members of the committee had not arrived.

The future Ruths and the sand lot stars will soon be leaving their homes, for the teams are leaving for sunny parts, and the players will start to roam. To Florida and the far west coast, they'll be going to show their stuff, and long is the road to a star's high place, and the going is sometimes rough. But they'll soon be leaving and you will read, "the players are going away" to places far from their own fireside, it's fifty seven today.

January Has Had Warmer Days, But Few Can Remember

In 1914 And 1916, Wednesdays Temperature Was Exceeded, Records Show

That was in 1914 and 1916.

In January, 1914, the extreme temperature of 69 degrees was noted, while January of 1916 produced one day when the mercury hit 67. According to the records of the Pittsburgh weather bureau, the maximum temperature recorded there in the 49 year period prior to 1920, was 75 degrees. New Castle generally has a temperature two degrees colder, so it probably got up to 73 degrees here, but the date is not known.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

warmer during January, it was just a freakish occasion, and was generally preceded and followed by much colder weather.

Residents along Park avenue will tell you that a robin visited their neighborhood Wednesday afternoon. This is not so uncommon and has occurred in the past, but one of Pa Newc's boys claims the honor of discovering the first one this year.

The trip from North Liberty street to Washington street, via trolley, took exactly one-half hour Wednesday afternoon. The regular 20-minute ride was prolonged by the presence of a long funeral party on Long avenue.

A lad on Long avenue, running after a cat, found that the chase cost him much more than it was worth. Out of his bulging pockets dozens of marbles rolled to the sidewalk in all directions. He spent ten minutes playing "pick-up" and doubtless lost quite a number of the precious "shooters".

In the home of a seven-year-old on Highland avenue there is a large new red and yellow sled. The sad-eyed owner has been hoping desperately for snow ever since Santa left the sled, but has not had one chance to use it.

S. O. S! Mr. Myers—Pa Newc has an inquiry as to what is the cause of the present unusually warm weather. We'll wait hopefully for a scientific explanation.

Chickens in coops along the Wilmington road must all have been working overtime last night. Most every chicken coop along the road was electrically lighted along about nine o'clock.

Pa Newc has wondered many times what the idea of the sign in New Wilmington on New Castle street, at the intersection of Waugh avenue. Coming to New Castle street from the direction of the college, the intersection is marked with a nice sign, but it apparently points toward the hotel as the direction for New Castle. It doesn't say New Castle, but "New Castle St." But the arrow points north, and it is a safe bet that some confusion has resulted for strangers. Why not reverse the arrow?

Another worthy appeal: The City Rescue Mission would be able to place second-hand articles of furniture, stoves and bed clothing in several needy homes. They would desire a donation of night gowns for men who are quartered nightly at the Mission.

Along East Washington street about eight o'clock Wednesday evening was a group of women, stalking along observing things to the right and left and then marking them on paper. It was later discovered they were Girl Scout leaders and were laying out a trail for another group to follow.

Would you believe it? Yesterday, January 13th firemen from No. 2 station were called out to Neshannock boulevard, at the end of Wildwood avenue, to put out a grass fire on a hillside. Brooms were used to stamp out the flames.

The pioneer Arbor Day State is Nebraska, where the observance began in April, 1872.

prove business and general conditions, was to put aside the fear that appears to have put a strangle hold on everything and with renewed confidence in ourselves and our country, bring about a return of prosperity for all.

Alec Samuels, retiring president, presided at the opening of the evening's program, which got under way with the entire group standing and singing America.

New President.

Mr. Samuels then made a few remarks, in which he said that the South Side Board of Trade was not an organization designed to benefit one particular section of the city, but is a civic organization, ready and willing at all times to do something for the community at large.

He then introduced J. Hartzell Huston as the new president of the Board of Trade, who on assuming charge, remarked that he was proud of the honor conferred on him in making him the head of the organization and that he would pledge his best efforts to advance the interests of the organization during his term of office. He in turn stated that Alec Samuels, retiring president, would be the secretary of the organization, a position, which he had held for two years.

President Huston then introduced Councilman D. O. Davies as chairman of the program of the evening and the latter after a few appropriate remarks started the program of the evening, which included as the opening number, a selection by the Book-Leyde quartette.

Chairman Davies then called upon Attorney Harry Frank for a few remarks, in the course of which Attorney Frank congratulated the South Side Board of Trade on what had been accomplished through its efforts and wishing the organization and its members a prosperous year.

Sees Better Times Ahead.

Judge R. L. Hildebrand was then called and expressing himself as surprised to find an organization with such enthusiasm and extended his congratulations and best wishes for the continued success of the organization.

State Senator George T. Weingartner was the next speaker and told of the fact that two main improved thoroughfares would soon touch the South Side districts, a thing the members have long been asking. These are the extension of Pennsylvania avenue to and thru the Savannah M. E. church district and the improvement of the road extending from Moravia street on beyond New Castle Junction to West Pittsburg. Referring to the fact that a constant flow of water for all purposes is assured in the future by the construction of the Pymatuning Dam and pictured New Castle once more on the upgrade, when conditions in general improved.

Chairman Davies then called upon a number of special guests and others to stand up, when their names were called, among those called upon to do this being, Councilman A. A. Hoyland, James M. Smith, representing the Chamber of Commerce, and Maurice Markley, widely known member of the South Side Board of Trade.

David Lewis, well known soloist of the South Side was then called upon and rendered a selection and an encore.

Mr. Buisch Speaks.

Louis H. Buisch was then introduced as the speaker of the evening and his remarks proved most inspirational to all those present.

He said among other things "Let us be optimistic and happy. Let us face present day conditions with a hope and confidence in the future.

"Too much is being said at the present time in public meetings and in private conversation concerning depression. Many are making it the excuse for evading their obligations. In fact this is true of the people in general.

"Present conditions exist, because they are allowed to exist. Many are making the depression the scapegoat and a means of evading the fulfillment of our obligations to our fellowman.

"We should see ourselves as others see us and not be flattered by what people say about us.

"All that is needed to accelerate the pace of business today, is greater confidence on the part of the people generally. This country is thoroughly sound. We have had bumper crops. We have more than half the world's supply of gold, never in years has there been a disposition to work which is found everywhere today. People generally are still just as keen to enjoy the luxuries of life as ever, and they have more money to spend than ever before. All of these combined, make for a very hopeful outlook for business."

At the conclusion of the address, Mr. Buisch was extended a rising vote of thanks, Chairman D. O. Davis also mentioned the fact that the Jameson Memorial hospital would soon make an appeal and that this was an opportunity to co-operate and help put a worthy cause across.

The program of the evening was brought to a close with a selection by the Book-Leyde quartette. During the serving of the dinner, the Anthony Basile South Side orchestra played a number of selections.

was arraigned and held under $500 bond.

The four Americans accused of having taken the law into their hands in the shooting of Joseph Kahahawai still remained aboard a United States warship in the harbor.

Mrs. Granville Fortescue, her son-in-law, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie and the two naval enlisted men will be surrendered to the civil authorities whenever requested, navy officials said.

Mrs. Massie, who charged that Kahahawai and four other men attacked and beat her, was still watched over closely by friends at the naval base. She has been in a highly nervous and dazed condition since the shooting of Kahahawai last Friday.

Conditions Deep Rooted.

Responsible citizens held conditions that make the background for the recent series of attack cases on white women were deep rooted, and in defense of Governor Judd it was pointed out he instituted reforms and attempted to force a bill reorganizing the police force through the last legislature.

Others, however, contended only a federal investigation and federal action could lead to a cleanup of the magnitude necessary to restore calm to the islands.

of dollars which were used by her debtors to rehabilitate their respective countries. This settlement was made months before the treaty of Versailles was consummated, and before the question of German reparation has been settled, therefore no person can say that the terms of the debt agreement are any way affected by those of the reparations settlement between our former allies and Germany.

"It must be remembered that the United States asked nothing and received nothing in the way of reparations despite the fact that she was the determing factor in winning the war.

"The present European debt represents in part the proceeds of the sale of liberty and victory bonds issued by the United States and subscribed for by her patriotic citizens, and which today represent no small portion of our national debt.

"Those bonds will be redeemed by the treasury when they become due. The federal government would be equally justified in asking the holders of these bonds to cancel them without redemption, as is Europe in asking that the United States cancel their indebtedness.

"It is true that the citizens of England, France and Italy have been sorely tried by a mounting levy of taxes and I admire the pluck displayed by them in these trying times, but we too are passing through difficult times, economic adjustment, our people are faced with unemployment and taxes which at times appear almost incredible.

"Yet no person has suggested that the cancellation of indebtedness as a remedy for our difficulties.

"Despite the charges by the European press who refer to Uncle Sam as Uncle Shylock, it is a fact that to date not one cent of money paid by Europe on their debt to the United States has come from the pockets of their tax payers. It has represented that prompts the present move to make German reparations and debt settlement synonomous so far as European statesmen are concerned.

"Reparation of their debts would mean the collapse of credit of the debtor nations and cause a condition for which no government could sanely be responsible and is therefore a very remote possibility in my opinion."

boosted more than the Treasury suggested.

Gasoline Tax

Serious consideration is being given by Democratic members to a federal tax on gasoline, opposed by the Treasury on the ground that it is peculiarly a tax for states. The action of many states in taxing tobacco—regarded as a federal tax—gave impetus to the gasoline tax movement.

A general agreement was apparent upon the cardinal principle advocated by Secretary Mellon and Undersecretary of the Treasury Mills—a balancing of the budget.

Democratic leaders have tentatively fixed the total amount to be raised in new taxes at a billion dollars, even exceeding the Treasury proposals.

SNOW IN CALIFORNIA SPRING-LIKE IN EAST

nel in Chicago informed International News Service. Abnormally high temperatures cannot be expected to continue much longer, however, he stated.

January temperature records were smashed in many part of the Central and Eastern states. Chicago experienced a 58 degree warmth yesterday. Evidences of winter were lacking in New York City, although snow was predicted for the upper part of the state tonight.

An unusual phenomenon occurred at Pana, Ill., where wild roses were in bloom. In many sections farmers are plowing. Baseball, golf, and motoring were in vogue, instead of skiing and tobogganing.

Springlike temperatures prevailed over the greater part of Western Pennsylvania, reports indicated. Sunny skies, soft breezes, spring robins, spring plowing and budding shrubs were among the signs of spring reported. And weather forecasters indicated the spring spell would continue.

burial. It will be returned here for brief funeral services in the Episcopal church at 11 a. m. today. It will be sent to Milwaukee for burial.

Points To Negro

The body of Mrs. Buckner was taken to her home in Rockville, where burial will take place.

The single theory held here pointed to Crawford as the murderer of Mrs. Ilsley. Officials awaited confirmation through fingerprints or discovery of the missing man prior to following any other theory.

Both bodies bore signs of a terrific struggle. Both were literally drenched in blood, as were bedclothes, carpets, walls and even the ceiling in Mrs. Buckner's room.

A heavy bootjack was used as a weapon, police said. One sharp edge of the instrument corresponded with the clean, long gash in Mrs. Ilsley's forehead. The bootjack was taken by Washington police, along with the door jamb fragment.

Friends of the popular housewoman came to the "Little House" on the Ilsley estate by the dozen to offer any aid they could give. Mrs. Ilsley was known as one of the most popular matrons of the wealthy group which maintains stables and estates in this section.

Save Much Coal In City Schools

Warm Weather Is Economy In Cost Of Operation Of Schools

Farmers may bemoan the unseasonably warm weather because of the growth of wheat and fruit trees, the coal men may make snoots at the weatherman, but S. G. Ligo, superintendent of buildings and grounds for the New Castle school board, is viewing the weather with the greatest equanimity.

"If it just keeps up a little while longer we'll save 500 tons of coal," was Ligo's comment Wednesday evening at the meeting of the board. "Warm winter weather means that we need less heat for the school rooms and so far our saving in coal is large."

At a meeting of the Building Administration and Friendly Service Committee, of the Y. W. C. A. of which Mrs. A. B. Fankhauser is chairman, plans were started to be formed for a club of girls who have asked for employment at the Association's bureau.

The purpose of such a club is partly for recreation and partly to help in the lines of work in which the girls are interested.

warmer during January, it was just a freakish occasion, and was generally preceded and followed by much colder weather.

Residents along Park avenue will tell you that a robin visited their neighborhood Wednesday afternoon. This is not so uncommon and has occurred in the past, but one of Pa Newc's boys claims the honor of discovering the first one this year.

The trip from North Liberty street to Washington street, via trolley, took exactly one-half hour Wednesday afternoon. The regular 20-minute ride was prolonged by the presence of a long funeral party on Long avenue.

A lad on Long avenue, running after a cat, found that the chase cost him much more than it was worth. Out of his bulging pockets dozens of marbles rolled to the sidewalk in all directions. He spent ten minutes playing "pick-up" and doubtless lost quite a number of the precious "shooters".

In the home of a seven-year-old on Highland avenue there is a large new red and yellow sled. The sad-eyed owner has been hoping desperately for snow ever since Santa left the sled, but has not had one chance to use it.

S. O. S! Mr. Myers—Pa Newc has an inquiry as to what is the cause of the present unusually warm weather. We'll wait hopefully for a scientific explanation.

Chickens in coops along the Wilmington road must all have been working overtime last night. Most every chicken coop along the road was electrically lighted along about nine o'clock.

Pa Newc has wondered many times what the idea of the sign in New Wilmington on New Castle street, at the intersection of Waugh avenue. Coming to New Castle street from the direction of the college, the intersection is marked with a nice sign, but it apparently points toward the hotel as the direction for New Castle. It doesn't say New Castle, but "New Castle St." But the arrow points north, and it is a safe bet that some confusion has resulted for strangers. Why not reverse the arrow?

Another worthy appeal: The City Rescue Mission would be able to place second-hand articles of furniture, stoves and bed clothing in several needy homes. They would desire a donation of night gowns for men who are quartered nightly at the Mission.

Along East Washington street about eight o'clock Wednesday evening was a group of women, stalking along observing things to the right and left and then marking them on paper. It was later discovered they were Girl Scout leaders and were laying out a trail for another group to follow.

Would you believe it? Yesterday, January 13th firemen from No. 2 station were called out to Neshannock boulevard, at the end of Wildwood avenue, to put out a grass fire on a hillside. Brooms were used to stamp out the flames.

The pioneer Arbor Day State is Nebraska, where the observance began in April, 1872.

Mrs. John Bruce Dodd of Spokane, Wash., was the founder of Father's Day.

prove business and general conditions, was to put aside the fear that appears to have put a strangle hold on everything and with renewed confidence in ourselves and our country, bring about a return of prosperity for all.

Alec Samuels, retiring president, presided at the opening of the evening's program, which got under way with the entire group standing and singing America.

New President.

Mr. Samuels then made a few remarks, in which he said that the South Side Board of Trade was not an organization designed to benefit one particular section of the city, but is a civic organization, ready and willing at all times to do something for the community at large

He then introduced J. Hartzell Huston as the new president of the Board of Trade, who on assuming charge, remarked that he was proud of the honor conferred on him in making him the head of the organization and that he would pledge his best efforts to advance the interests of the organization during his term of office. He in turn stated that Alec Samuels, retiring president, would be the secretary of the organization, a position, which he had held for two years.

President Huston then introduced Councilman D. O. Davies as chairman of the program of the evening and the latter after a few appropriate remarks started the program of the evening, which included as the opening number, a selection by the Book-Leyde quartette.

Chairman Davies then called upon Attorney Harry Frank for a few remarks, in the course of which Attorney Frank congratulated the South Side Board of Trade on what had been accomplished through its efforts and wishing the organization and its members a prosperous year.

Sees Better Times Ahead.

Judge R. L. Hildebrand was then called and expressing himself as surprized to find an organization with such enthusiasm and extended his congratulations and best wishes for the continued success of the organization.

State Senator George T. Weingartner was the next speaker and told of the fact that two main improved thoroughfares would soon touch the South Side districts, a thing the members have long been asking. These are the extension of Pennsylvania avenue to and thru the Savannah M. E. church district and the improvement of the road extending from Moravia street on beyond New Castle Junction to West Pittsburg. Referring to the fact that a constant flow of water for all purposes is assured in the future by the construction of the Pymatuning Dam and pictured New Castle once more on the upgrade, when conditions in general improved.

Chairman Davies then called upon a number of special guests and others to stand up, when their names were called, among those called upon to do this being, Councilman A. A. Hoyland, James M. Smith, representing the Chamber of Commerce, and Maurice Markley, widely known member of the South Side Board of Trade.

David Lewis, well known soloist of the South Side was then called upon and rendered a selection and an encore.

Mr. Buisch Speaks.

Louis H. Buisch was then introduced as the speaker of the evening and his remarks proved most inspirational to all those present.

He said among other things "Let us be optimistic and happy. Let us face present day conditions with a hope and confidence in the future.

"Too much is being said at the present time in public meetings and in private conversation concerning depression. Many are making it the excuse for evading their obligations. In fact this is true of the people in general.

"Present conditions exist, because they are allowed to exist. Many are making the depression the scapegoat and a means of evading the fulfillment of our obligations to our fellowman.

"We should see ourselves as others see us and not be flattered by what people say about us.

"All that is needed to accelerate the pace of business today, is greater confidence on the part of the people generally. This country is thoroughly sound. We have had bumper crops. We have more than half the world's supply of gold, never in years has there been a disposition to work which is found everywhere today. People generally are still just as keen to enjoy the luxuries of life as ever, and they have more money to spend than ever before. All of these combined, make for a very hopeful outlook for business."

At the conclusion of the address, Mr. Buisch was extended a rising vote of thanks, Chairman D. O. Davis also mentioned the fact that the Jameson Memorial hospital would soon make an appeal and that this was an opportunity to co-operate and help put a worthy cause across.

The program of the evening was brought to a close with a selection by the Book-Leyde quartette. During the serving of the dinner, the Anthony Basile South Side orchestra played a number of selections.

was arraigned and held under $500 bond.

The four Americans accused of having taken the law into their hands in the shooting of Joseph Kahahawai still remained aboard a United States warship in the harbor.

Mrs. Granville Fortescue, her son-in-law, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie and the two naval enlisted men will be surrendered to the civil authorities whenever requested, navy officials said.

Mrs. Massie, who charged that Kahahawai and four other men attacked and beat her, was still watched over closely by friends at the naval base. She has been in a highly nervous and dazed condition since the shooting of Kahahawai last Friday.

Conditions Deep Rooted.

Responsible citizens held conditions that make the background for the recent series of attack cases on white women were deep rooted, and in defense of Governor Judd it was pointed out he instituted reforms and attempted to force a bill reorganizing the police force through the last legislature.

Others, however, contended only a federal investigation and federal action could lead to a cleanup of the magnitude necessary to restore calm to the islands.

of dollars which were used by her debtors to rehabilitate their respective countries. This settlement was made months before the treaty of Versailles was consummated, and before the question of German reparation has been settled, therefore no person can say that the terms of the debt agreement are any way affected by those of the reparations settlement between our former allies and Germany.

"It must be remembered that the United States asked nothing and received nothing in the way of reparations despite the fact that she was the determing factor in winning the war.

"The present European debt represents in part the proceeds of the sale of liberty and victory bonds issued by the United States and subscribed for by her patriotic citizens, and which today represent no small portion of our national debt.

"Those bonds will be redeemed by the treasury when they become due. The federal government would be equally justified in asking the holders of these bonds to cancel them without redemption, as is Europe in asking that the United States cancel their indebtedness.

"It is true that the citizens of England, France and Italy have been sorely tried by a mounting levy of taxes and I admire the pluck displayed by them in these trying times, but we too are passing through difficult times, economic adjustment, our people are faced with unemployment and taxes which at times appear almost incredible.

"Yet no person has suggested that the cancellation of indebtedness as a remedy for our difficulties.

"Despite the charges by the European press who refer to Uncle Sam as Uncle Shylock, it is a fact that to date not one cent of money paid by Europe on their debt to the United States has come from the pockets of their tax payers. It has represented that prompts the present move to make German reparations and debt settlement synonomous so far as European statesmen are concerned.

"Reparation of their debts would mean the collapse of credit of the debtor nations and cause a condition for which no government could sanely be responsible and is therefore a very remote possibility in my opinion."

boosted more than the Treasury suggested.

Gasoline Tax

Serious consideration is being given by Democratic members to a federal tax on gasoline, opposed by the Treasury on the ground that it is peculiarly a tax for states. The action of many states in taxing tobacco—regarded as a federal tax—gave impetus to the gasoline tax movement.

A general agreement was apparent upon the cardinal principle advocated by Secretary Mellon and Undersecretary of the Treasury Mills—a balancing of the budget.

Democratic leaders have tentatively fixed the total amount to be raised in new taxes at a billion dollars, even exceeding the Treasury proposals.

SNOW IN CALIFORNIA SPRING-LIKE IN EAST

nel in Chicago informed International News Service. Abnormally high temperatures cannot be expected to continue much longer, however, he stated.

January temperature records were smashed in many part of the Central and Eastern states. Chicago experienced a 58 degree warmth yesterday. Evidences of winter were lacking in New York City, although snow was predicted for the upper part of the state tonight.

An unusual phenomenon occurred at Pana, Ill., where wild roses were in bloom. In many sections farmers are plowing. Baseball, golf, and motoring were in vogue, instead of skiing and tobogganing.

Springlike temperatures prevailed over the greater part of Western Pennsylvania, reports indicated. Sunny skies, soft breezes, spring robins, spring plowing and budding shrubs were among the signs of spring reported. And weather forecasters indicated the spring spell would continue.

burial. It will be returned here for brief funeral services in the Episcopal church at 11 a. m. today. It will be sent to Milwaukee for burial.

Points To Negro

The body of Mrs. Buckner was taken to her home in Rockville, where burial will take place.

The single theory held here pointed to Crawford as the murderer of Mrs. Ilsley. Officials awaited confirmation through fingerprints or discovery of the missing man prior to following any other theory.

Both bodies bore signs of a terrific struggle. Both were literally drenched in blood, as were bedclothes, carpets, walls and even the ceiling in Mrs. Buckner's room

A heavy bootjack was used as a weapon, police said. One sharp edge of the instrument corresponded with the clean, long gash in Mrs. Ilsley's forehead. The bootjack was taken by Washington police, along with the door jamb fragment.

Friends of the popular horsewoman came to the "Little House" on the Ilsley estate by the dozen to offer any aid they could give. Mrs. Ilsley was known as one of the most popular matrons of the wealthy group which maintains stables and estates in this section.

Save Much Coal In City Schools

Warm Weather Is Economy In Cost Of Operation Of Schools

Farmers may bemoan the unseasonably warm weather because of the growth of wheat and fruit trees, the coal men may make snoots at the weatherman, but S. G. Ligo, superintendent of buildings and grounds for the New Castle school board, is viewing the weather with the greatest equanimity.

"If it just keeps up a little while longer we'll save 500 tons of coal," was Ligo's comment Wednesday evening at the meeting of the board. "Warm winter weather means that we need less heat for the school rooms and so far our saving in coal is large."

SENIORS-JUNIORS UNITE IN MEETING

The vestry room of Temple Israel had all available seating space filled Wednesday evening when the annual meeting of the senior and junior National Council of Jewish Women of New Castle was held.

Mrs. Lawrence Davis, president of the senior organization, opened the meeting and splendid solos were sung, with Miss Ruth Drescher singing "Oh Love What A Day" by Mrs. H. H. A. Beach, and Mrs. Madeline Rugh singing "Now Sleeps the Crimson Petal" by Quilter, and "Sunshine" by Clokey. Mrs. Paul Welsh accompanied the singers.

The program was then turned over to the juniors, Miss Josephine Levine president, and they presented a most humorous sketch, "Bargain Day in the Gallery" which was most cleverly put on under the direction of Miss Meg Bloom.

Miss Florence Shapo as the photographer had a most interesting time with the persons who came to have their "picture took" and the ludicrous costumes and comic antics of the customers kept the audience in an uproar of laughter. Those taking part were: Miss Shapo, Ethel Pittler, Mildred Levine, Josephine Levine, Annabel Plansky, Reba Frank, Mary Pittler, Bessie Kulkin, Ina Rosenberg and Esther Fisher.

Mrs. Maurice Davis, a charming young matron of Pittsburgh, and an advisor of juniors, was the speaker of the evening, and she took as her subject the relationship of mother and daughter, telling in an interesting manner of the splendid example a mother can set for her daughter, how she can interest her in everything concerning the responsibilities of a home and family, instruct her in the valuesof economic living, and start her life on a firm foundation. She said the compensation a mother gets out of her daughter is the pleasure she has in seeing her grow into splendid womanhood.

At the close of Mrs. Davis' talk the hostesses of the evening: Mrs. Herman Wolfe, Mrs. Jack Gerson, Mrs. J. Moresky, Mrs. J. Perelman, Mrs. I. Myers and Mrs. M. Newmark, served cake and coffee.

WIMODAUSIS CLUB LUNCHEON-WEDNESDAY

A large number participated in the regular monthly luncheon event held by members of the Wimodausis Club Wednesday afternoon in the Cathedral for its membership. Mrs. H. L. Marvin and Mrs. W. O. Williams proved delightful hostesses on this occasion. At 1 o'clock the guests were lead into the dining room and given their places at the large tables which had been beautifully decorated in the season's flowers, with red and white tones being predominant.

At the conclusion of luncheon, those assembled were favored with an exceptionally interesting program arranged especially by Mrs. C. H. Milholland, chairman.

A group of students of the dramatic department of Geneva College participated, and displayed some unusual talent. The first feature was a reading by Beatrice Brunton, and following a play entitled "A Woman's Strategm" with Clifford Wray, Eleanor Caine, Alma Wahlgenth, Neil Blair and Marian Gilmore taking character parts, was presented. Miss Elizabeth Milholland gave an interesting reading and the closing number consisted of another novel playlet "When Love Is Young" with Leah Miller, Marian Latto, Beatrice Brunton and Ralph Trout performing.

This chronicled the close of a most successful and enjoyable meeting.

On Wednesday, February 10 the Wimodausis will assemble again. The hostesses for this date will be announced in the near future.

CIRCULATING BOOK CLUB LUNCHEON EVENT

Mrs. J. Norman Martin pleasingly recevied associates of the Circulating Book club in her home Wednesday afternoon at a beautifully appointed 1 o'clock luncheon. A delicious menu was served at a large table nicely decorated in keeping with the season's tones, and following, the usual exchange of books occurred. The balance of the leisure period was spent informally with sewing, cards and chat.

Mrs. Howard Haney of Boston, Mass., was a special guest of the occasion.

In two weeks the members will meet again, the place to be announced later.

Study Group Meets.

An interesting study period is conducted every second Monday of the month by the international relations department of the Woman's club, and the peace department of the New Castle section, National Council of Jewish Women, when they meet at the home of the department chairman, Mrs. William Cosel, Sheridan avenue.

The course given is that presented by the General Federation of Women's clubs and is based on McMillen's "Building the World Society".

Not only the members of these committees, but any women interested in this movement are welcomed at the study periods.

The next meeting of the group will be February 8 at Mrs. Cosel's home.

TUREEN DINNER AT MULLEN RESIDENCE

A delightful event of Wednesday evening was the tureen dinner party held in the home of Miss Marguerite Mullen, 912 East Morton street when she pleasingly entertained her associates of the Cheerful Climbers Class, taught by Miss Grace Stitzinger, of the Epworth Methodist Episcopal church. A delicious menu was served from the tureens at 6 o'clock. The large dining room table was beautifully decorated with choice flowers, flanked by tall tapers in crystal holders.

At the conclusion of this feature, a short business session was called, and plans were discussed regarding a membership drive in the near future. Other items of interest were also given attention. The remaining hours were spent informally with games and contests, bringing to a close their second meeting of this nature.

Y. O. A. GIRLS ENTERTAIN WEDNESDAY

Mrs. Frank Johnston of Court street entertained members of the Y. O. A. Girls club in her home Wednesday, and as special guests, had Miss Mary Bigley and Mrs. Jesse N. Rice. The hours were spent informally with bridge, and at the close of play, a lovely prize was presented to Mrs. John Morrow for winning honors. A dainty lunch was served by the hostess at the close of the meeting.

On Wednesday, January 27 the club will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Morrow at Gardner.

January Has Had Warmer Days, But Few Can Remember

In 1914 And 1916, Wednesdays Temperature Was Exceeded, Records Show

In spite of the fact that yesterday's maximum temperature exceeded that of some of the days we had last summer, it has been warmer here. Few can remember when however.

Yesterday's summer warmth is bound to provoke discussions, and some of the Old Timers will tell you how they sat around in their shirt sleeves, forty years ago, in January, and swatted flies. In order to refresh their memory, B. F. Johnson, U. S. Weather Observer here, delved back into ancient history and after brushing the dust off the old weather archives, found that we had warmer weather on two different days since the local weather observing station was founded. That was in 1914 and 1916.

In January, 1914, the extreme temperature of 69 degrees was noted, while January of 1916 produced one day when the mercury hit 67. According to the records of the Pittsburgh weather bureau, the maximum temperature recorded there in the 49 year period prior to 1920, was 75 degrees. New Castle generally has a temperature two degrees colder, so it probably got up to 73 degrees here, but the date is not known.

HUGHES IS LIKELY TO BE SUCCESSOR TO JAS. A. FARRELL

with Farrell handling the operations end. Taylor is 57, Farrell 69.

Inasmuch as Taylor is a financier, rather than a steel operating man, it is regarded as an accurate assumption that some one will have to be found to fill Farrell's shoes.

Hughes Likely.

Of the candidates mentioned for Farrell's post three stand out. They are:

Eugene P. Thomas, who succeeded Farrell years ago as president of the U. S. Steel Products Company, I. Lamont Hughes, president of the Carnegie Steel Company, largest unit in the steel corporation, and E. T. Weir, president of the National Steel Company.

Farrell was United States Steel's third president since its formation more than thirty years ago. Charles Michael Schwab was the first. William E. Corey preceded Farrell.

Mr. Hughes is a former New Castle boy and his elevation to the presidency of U. S. Steel would be most pleasing to his many friends here.

EMPLOYMENT BUREAU PLANNING FOR CLUB

At a meeting of the Building Administration and Friendly Service Committee, of the Y. W. C. A. of which Mrs. A. B. Fankhauser is chairman, plans were started to be formed for a club of girls who have asked for employment at the Association's bureau.

The purpose of such a club is partly for recreation and partly to help in the lines of work in which the girls are interested.

warmer during January, it was just a freakish occasion, and was generally preceded and followed by much colder weather.

Residents along Park avenue will tell you that a robin visited their neighborhood Wednesday afternoon. This is not so uncommon and has occurred in the past, but one of Pa Newc's boys claims the honor of discovering the first one this year.

The trip from North Liberty street to Washington street, via trolley, took exactly one-half hour Wednesday afternoon. The regular 20-minute ride was prolonged by the presence of a long funeral party on Long avenue.

A lad on Long avenue, running after a cat, found that the chase cost him much more than it was worth. Out of his bulging pockets dozens of marbles rolled to the sidewalk in all directions. He spent ten minutes playing "pick-up" and doubtless lost quite a number of the precious "shooters".

In the home of a seven-year-old on Highland avenue there is a large new red and yellow sled. The sad-eyed owner has been hoping desperately for snow ever since Santa left the sled, but has not had one chance to use it.

S. O. S! Mr. Myers—Pa Newc has an inquiry as to what is the cause of the present unusually warm weather. We'll wait hopefully for a scientific explanation.

Chickens in coops along the Wilmington road must all have been working overtime last night. Most every chicken coop along the road was electrically lighted along about nine o'clock.

Pa Newc has wondered many times what the idea of the sign in New Wilmington on New Castle street, at the intersection of Waugh avenue. Coming to New Castle street from the direction of the college, the intersection is marked with a nice sign, but it apparently points toward the hotel as the direction for New Castle. It doesn't say New Castle, but "New Castle St." But the arrow points north, and it is a safe bet that some confusion has resulted for strangers. Why not reverse the arrow?

Another worthy appeal: The City Rescue Mission would be able to place second-hand articles of furniture, stoves and bed clothing in several needy homes. They would desire a donation of night gowns for men who are quartered nightly at the Mission.

Along East Washington street about eight o'clock Wednesday evening was a group of women, stalking along observing things to the right and left and then marking them on paper. It was later discovered they were Girl Scout leaders and were laying out a trail for another group to follow.

Would you believe it? Yesterday, January 13th firemen from No. 2 station were called out to Neshannock boulevard, at the end of Wildwood avenue, to put out a grass fire on a hillside. Brooms were used to stamp out the flames.

The pioneer Arbor Day State is Nebraska, where the observance began in April, 1872.

SOUTH SIDERS HAVE BANQUET

prove business and general conditions, was to put aside the fear that appears to have put a strangle hold on everything and with renewed confidence in ourselves and our country, bring about a return of prosperity for all.

Alec Samuels, retiring president, presided at the opening of the evening's program, which got under way with the entire group standing and singing America.

New President.

Mr. Samuels then made a few remarks, in which he said that the South Side Board of Trade was not an organization designed to benefit one particular section of the city, but is a civic organization, ready and willing at all times to do something for the community at large

He then introduced J. Hartzell Huston as the new president of the Board of Trade, who on assuming charge, remarked that he was proud of the honor conferred on him in making him the head of the organization and that he would pledge his best efforts to advance the interests of the organization during his term of office. He in turn stated that Alec Samuels, retiring president, would be the secretary of the organization, a position, which he had held for two years.

President Huston then introduced Councilman D. O. Davies as chairman of the program of the evening and the latter after a few appropriate remarks started the program of the evening, which included as the opening number, a selection by the Book-Leyde quartette.

Chairman Davies then called upon Attorney Harry Frank for a few remarks, in the course of which Attorney Frank congratulated the South Side Board of Trade on what had been accomplished through its efforts and wishing the organization and its members a prosperous year.

Sees Better Times Ahead.

Judge R. L. Hildebrand was then called and expressing himself as surprized to find an organization with such enthusiasm and extended his congratulations and best wishes for the continued success of the organization.

State Senator George T. Weingartner was the next speaker and told of the fact that two main improved thoroughfares would soon touch the South Side districts, a thing the members have long been asking. These are the extension of Pennsylvania avenue to and thru the Savannah M. E. church district and the improvement of the road extending from Moravia street on beyond New Castle Junction to West Pittsburg. Referring to the fact that a constant flow of water for all purposes is assured in the future by the construction of the Pymatuning Dam and pictured New Castle once more on the upgrade, when conditions in general improved.

Chairman Davies then called upon a number of special guests and others to stand up, when their names were called, among those called upon to do this being, Councilman A. A. Hoyland, James M. Smith, representing the Chamber of Commerce, and Maurice Markley, widely known member of the South Side Board of Trade.

David Lewis, well known soloist of the South Side was then called upon and rendered a selection and an encore.

Mr. Buisch Speaks.

Louis H. Buisch was then introduced as the speaker of the evening and his remarks proved most inspirational to all those present.

He said among other things "Let us be optimistic and happy. Let us face present day conditions with a hope and confidence in the future.

"Too much is being said at the present time in public meetings and in private conversation concerning depression. Many are making it the excuse for evading their obligations. In fact this is true of the people in general.

"Present conditions exist, because they are allowed to exist. Many are making the depression the scapegoat and a means of evading the fulfillment of our obligations to our fellowman.

"We should see ourselves as others see us and not be flattered by what people say about us.

"All that is needed to accelerate the pace of business today, is greater confidence on the part of the people generally. This country is thoroughly sound. We have had bumper crops. We have more than half the world's supply of gold, never in years has there been a disposition to work which is found everywhere today. People generally are still just as keen to enjoy the luxuries of life as ever, and they have more money to spend than ever before. All of these combined, make for a very hopeful outlook for business."

At the conclusion of the address, Mr. Buisch was extended a rising vote of thanks, Chairman D. O. Davis also mentioned the fact that the Jameson Memorial hospital would soon make an appeal and that this was an opportunity to co-operate and help put a worthy cause across.

The program of the evening was brought to a close with a selection by the Book-Leyde quartette. During the serving of the dinner, the Anthony Basile South Side orchestra played a number of selections.

The four Americans accused of having taken the law into their hands in the shooting of Joseph Kahahawai still remained aboard a United States warship in the harbor.

Mrs. Granville Fortescue, her son-in-law, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie and the two naval enlisted men will be surrendered to the civil authorities whenever requested, navy officials said.

Mrs. Massie, who charged that Kahahawai and four other men attacked and beat her, was still watched over closely by friends at the naval base. She has been in a highly nervous and dazed condition since the shooting of Kahahawai last Friday.

Conditions Deep Rooted.

Responsible citizens held conditions that make the background for the recent series of attack cases on white women were deep rooted, and in defense of Governor Judd it was pointed out he instituted reforms and attempted to force a bill reorganizing the police force through the last legislature.

Others, however, contended only a federal investigation and federal action could lead to a cleanup of the magnitude necessary to restore calm to the islands.

of dollars which were used by her debtors to rehabilitate their respective countries. This settlement was made months before the treaty of Versailles was consummated, and before the question of German reparation has been settled, therefore no person can say that the terms of the debt agreement are any way affected by those of the reparations settlement between our former allies and Germany.

"It must be remembered that the United States asked nothing and received nothing in the way of reparations despite the fact that she was the determing factor in winning the war.

"The present European debt represents in part the proceeds on the sale of liberty and victory bonds issued by the United States and subscribed for by her patriotic citizens, and which today represent no small portion of our national debt.

"Those bonds will be redeemed by the treasury when they become due. The federal government would be equally justified in asking the holders of these bonds to cancel them without redemption, as is Europe in asking that the United States cancel their indebtedness.

"It is true that the citizens of England, France and Italy have been sorely tried by a mounting levy of taxes and I admire the pluck displayed by them in these trying times, but we too are passing through difficult times, economic adjustment, our people are faced with unemployment and taxes which at times appear almost incredible.

"Yet no person has suggested that the cancellation of indebtedness as a remedy for our difficulties.

"Despite the charges by the European press who refer to Uncle Sam as Uncle Shylock, it is a fact that to date not one cent of money paid by Europe on their debt to the United States has come from the pockets of their tax payers. It has represented that prompts the present move to make German reparations and debt settlement synonomous so far as European statesmen are concerned.

"Reparation of their debts would mean the collapse of credit of the debtor nations and cause a condition for which no government could sanely be responsible and is therefore a very remote possibility in my opinion."

boosted more than the Treasury suggested.

Gasoline Tax

Serious consideration is being given by Democratic members to a federal tax on gasoline, opposed by the Treasury on the ground that it is peculiarly a tax for states. The action of many states in taxing tobacco—regarded as a federal tax—gave impetus to the gasoline tax movement.

A general agreement was apparent upon the cardinal principle advocated by Secretary Mellon and Undersecretary of the Treasury Mills—a balancing of the budget.

Democratic leaders have tentatively fixed the total amount to be raised in new taxes at a billion dollars, even exceeding the Treasury proposals.

SNOW IN CALIFORNIA SPRING-LIKE IN EAST

nel in Chicago informed International News Service. Abnormally high temperatures cannot be expected to continue much longer, however, he stated.

January temperature records were smashed in many part of the Central and Eastern states. Chicago experienced a 58 degree warmth yesterday. Evidences of winter were lacking in New York City, although snow was predicted for the upper part of the state tonight.

An unusual phenomenon occurred at Pana, Ill., where wild roses were in bloom. In many sections farmers are plowing. Baseball, golf, and motoring were in vogue, instead of skiing and tobogganing.

Springlike temperatures prevailed over the greater part of Western Pennsylvania, reports indicated. Sunny skies, soft breezes, spring robins, spring plowing and budding shrubs were among the signs of spring reported. And weather forecasters indicated the spring spell would continue.

burial. It will be returned here for brief funeral services in the Episcopal church at 11 a. m. today. It will be sent to Milwaukee for burial.

Points To Negro

The body of Mrs. Buckner was taken to her home in Rockville, where burial will take place.

The single theory held here pointed to Crawford as the murderer of Mrs. Ilsley. Officials awaited confirmation through fingerprints or discovery of the missing man prior to following any other theory.

Both bodies bore signs of a terrific struggle. Both were literally drenched in blood, as were bedclothes, carpets, walls and even the ceiling in Mrs. Buckner's room

A heavy bootjack was used as a weapon, police said. One sharp edge of the instrument corresponded with the clean, long gash in Mrs. Ilsley's forehead. The bootjack was taken by Washington police, along with the door jamb fragment.

Friends of the popular horsewoman came to the "Little House" on the Ilsley estate by the dozen to offer any aid they could give. Mrs. Ilsley was known as one of the most popular matrons of the wealthy group which maintains stables and estates in this section.

Save Much Coal In City Schools

Warm Weather Is Economy In Cost Of Operation Of Schools

Farmers may bemoan the unseasonably warm weather because of the growth of wheat and fruit trees, the coal men may make snoots at the weatherman, but S. G. Ligo, superintendent of buildings and grounds for the New Castle school board, is viewing the weather with the greatest equanimity.

"If it just keeps up a little while longer we'll save 500 tons of coal," was Ligo's comment Wednesday evening at the meeting of the board. "Warm winter weather means that we need less heat for the school rooms and so far our saving in coal is large."

WASHINGTON VICTORIOUS ONCE AGAIN

AFTER being consigned to the basement, the famous painting of "Washington Crossing the Delaware" is again to be exhibited in the Metropolitan Museum in New York.

This marks the second victory in connection with the Father of his Country within a very short time. When preparations for the celebration of the surrender at Yorktown were being made it was suggested that the actual surrender be omitted, first, because it might offend the susceptibilities of our British cousins and, secondly, because the popular conception of that great event was an error. In other words, Cornwallis did not personally surrender to Washington. But the event was staged, nevertheless, and in a manner that made it conform, as far as possible, to historic truth.

Now Washington has been victorious again in the matter of the much-talked-about picture. President Coffin of the Museum says that, while the painting can not be classified as a masterpiece, and while it is not an exact historical record, it has some justification for recognition. "We believe," he says, "it is fitting and desirable that it should be shown during the time of the Washington Bicentennial, and in the Metropolitan Museum, because, in spite of obvious defects, it has great interest for many people who were accustomed to seeing copies of it in their school books." There is no further need for an agitation of the subject; and those cities which were willing to accept the picture if it was to be discarded by New York will have to be reconciled to the decision. It goes without saying that institutions like the Metropolitan must have certain standards of art, but it is doubtful if all their exhibits are technically perfect.

As a matter of fact, a wave of patriotism is making its way over the United States at this time. During the last two decades there had been a growing disposition to be apologetic concerning ourselves and our history; and now the inevitable reaction has come reflects the Inquirer of Philadelphia. Comparatively few persons care anything about the artistic excellence of "Washington Crossing the Delaware," but multitudes have been thrilled by looking at the picture and thinking of the incident it seeks to portray. And, after all, Washington did cross the Delaware, he did surprise the Hessians, and he still remains first in the hearts of his countrymen.

MORE COMPLICATIONS

If the present condition of marital uncertainty persists there certainly will develop a movement toward the nationalization of marriages and divorces. The subject is becoming most undelightfully complicated. Nevada and Arkansas have gone into the divorce business on mass production scales and patronage has been of sufficient volume to cause frank leanings in the same direction by the solons of various other states.

But a large fly has appeared in the ointment the Fort Worth Star Telegram points out.

Within a few weeks of each other the Supreme Courts of California and Massachusetts have decreed that Reno divorces are valid only so long as the parties to the annulment proceedings remain within the state granting them and have laid a predicate for plenty of tribulation for the divorcees once they return to their commonwealths which contain technical claims to their citizenship. In effect, the decrees set out that being divorced in Nevada is important in California and Massachusetts, respectively, only to the extent of making the husbands and wives defendents in bigamy cases or in suits for desertion by those who are not agreeable to the Nevada service. As such verdict was the result of a test case in which exactly those points were at issue, the statement that plenty of trouble is in the offing appears to have little exaggeration.

All of which is important to the American people who are of a mind for standardization of domestic ties. In comes the whole realm of State's Rights once more. Some states have individual rules for the joining together of the two pillars of domesticity and other states have prepared statutes putting them asunder in vagarious manner, which is a condition of affairs calculated to remain a disturbing element in the social strata, quality immaterial.

While the loss of the California and Massachusetts business may not seriously affect the Reno prosperity—or that now building in Arkansas—it can not but have its deleterious effect. When pilgrims trek across the terrain to the mecca of marital disjunction they want to know that their labor has not been in vain. Thousands of persons—if we may believe the evidence of the Nevada experiment—are perfectly willing to sojourn in Reno during a period but they are not making a permanent Nevada citizenship. Nearly any article can become too high-priced on occasion. The same statement can be made anent Arkansas—with due regard for the relativities.

It begins to look as though action and reaction are as equal in opposite directions as that famous axiom maker declared them to be back there in the days when mathematics was an exact science.

When one plus one is declared to equal one the same mathematical process is necessary when they undertake to work the problem of one from one equalling two.

And, more important still, both problems must be worked under the same set of state rules.

All Of Us

Without Grief, No Joy
Without Loss, No Possession
Without Death, No Love

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Have you been unhappy in the thought that the good things seem to endure such a little while? That the flower fades? And the rainbow goes? And the spring does not last forever? And the body that was so light and strong takes feeble steps at last? . . . Have you sighed because the best of life would not stand still for you? Because puppies lose their charming ways? And adorable children grow older? And those we have loved pass from us and we see them no more?

Have you been sad with the remembrance that this is true and that life is so?

Years ago I found three paragraphs of words that a man had spoken or written. I clipped them from the page on which I found them and threw them carelessly into a drawer. And yesterday they came back to me. The name of their author was not on them, but I think I can guess his name.

He had comfort for those who sigh so plaintively, for those who sob convulsively and are racked with grief, For he said:

"I am not sure that we ought to mourn for the dead. I do not know which is better—life or death. It may be that death is the greatest gift that ever came from Nature's hands. We do not know."

(He sounds so bitter. He seems to be leading us down to some abyss of cynicism.)

"There is one thing of which I am certain, and that is, that if we could live forever here, we would care nothing for each other. The fact that we must die, the fact that the feast must end, brings our souls together, and treads the weeds from out the path between our hearts."

(At the heart of the bitter fruit he has found a honey that is sweet indeed)

"And so it may be, after all, that love is a little flower that grows on the crumbling edge of the grave. So it may be that were it not for death there would be no love, and without love, all life would be a curse."

(He has looked into the mystery of life—and he has seen it is the impermanence of the lovely that makes it doubly precious.)

Robert Ingersoll, I am sure, was author of those thoughts. He was wise; he was comforting; and in those three paragraphs he eases the trouble heart and gently shames the rebellious tears.

Just Folks

TREE AND MAN

The oak tree never quits its place
To ask about a neighbor's care.
A thing of majesty and grace,
Whose leafy arms seem raised in prayer.
It stands two hundred years or more
Against the storms of winter stout,
While man is broken down before
The sands of seventy years run out.

From the first moment of its birth
Until a rotted log it dies,
Its roots draw sweetness from the earth,
Its leaves draw nectar from the skies.
Patient, untroubled and serene,
A tree, with age in splendor grows,
Because on it no grief has been
Such as the fretted mortal knows.

Poor man must roam the world afar
And give his strength to many needs;
Pride, pomp and place and pity are
Forever spurring him to deeds.
Not only must he suffer pain,
But God has fashioned him so fair
That none may carry to him in vain,
Even a stranger's hurt he'll share.

The span of mortal life is brief.
The oak tree long outlives us all,
Yet better 'tis to suffer grief;
To weary oft at duty's call;
To wear our strength and courage out
Against the tides of human fears
Than live and never ask about
The cause of sorrow's blinding tears.

THE HOME HERO

Of course, old man, fou have a right to expect that when you reach home in the evening conditions are going to be favorable to your comfort.

But perhaps you demand too much in that way.

You say all you want is to be let alone, which means they can't play the radio, the children must be quiet and your wife must not ask too many questions.

You want to sleep or read in perfect quiet.

Isn't this expecteing too much.

You many be tired and worried over business matters.

But why carry your gloom or ill nature home with you?

It is not natural for children to be quiet.

An intelligent wife, alone all day with the children, would like to converse with an adult mind for a change, particularly with you.

She too, is weary and has hoped your return would bring cheer and respite-sympathy in her case.

The children would like to have a little fun with Daddy.

Maybe you are the sort the children hate to see come home.

Man, if you are, you are missing one of the finest things in life, the joy of a child or a wife at the return of the "home-hero", father.

Let's be honest about it. Every year or so, pious adults in the community lift their hands in holy horror because some boy in his early teens has been caught stealing. They say he is a born criminal and never will amount to a hill of beans. And thus they display their ignorance. It is the nature of boys to steal. Nobody is born with a sense of property rights. A child takes what it wants, without thought of guilt. Boys steal because it is an adventure to break the laws of adults. The boys I knew at the age of twelve had a lot of fun stealing watermelons, and not one of them became a criminal. In fact, nearly all of them are solid and respectable citizens and now worry about the younger generation. There are vicious boys, depraved by inheritance and environment. But a few minor thefts don't prove a kid hopelessly wicked. He may become a better man than any of those who condemn him now.

HERE'S A FUNNY ONE

When the elevated trains in New York gave up their choo-choo steam engines for the speedier electric trains, they found a market for their choo-choos in China. An American salesman, travelling in China, found himself in a train that was being pulled by one of these choo-choos. It coughed and sputtered, as might be expected from one of its age, and moved unwillingly along, dragging its train at the speed of a tottering old man. In the middle of what appeared to be a farm, the train stopped. The Chinese conductor, passing through the car was asked by the American why the train stopped at this place. The conductor who spoke pidgin English replied, "cow on tlack." After a short interval required to coax the cow off the track, the train started. For about two hours it continued on its weary way and then stopped again, this time in a rice field. The conductor coming through, was again stopped. "Another cow on the track?" asked the American. "No," replied the conductor blandly, "same cow on tlack."

VELVETS AND RAGS

Antonio Scraggs was a ragman wise;
He knew every star that lived in the skies;
He knew where they went
And he knew whence they came
He spoke of them, to them,
And knew each by name.

So whenever I found myself
Flound'ring in doubt,
I'd ask wise Antonio
To please help me out.

I walked at the side of Antonio Scraggs
The while he was calling his "bottles and rags"
And when we arrived at the rich man's town,
I saw a sweet maid in a velvet gown
And at her side sat, like a frigidaire
A velvet robed youth with a vacant stare.
The maid's eyes were sad and I heard her sigh,
But I could not venutre the reason why.

And so we kept on to the poor man's town
Where I saw a maid in a ragged gown;
And at her side on the bright green sward
A young man sat as proud's a lord;
And the light of joy shone in their eyes
As they laughed and loved beneath the skies.

So when I asked Antonio Scraggs
"What is the difference twixt velvet and rags?
"Velvets conceal," he shoop his head

NOW'S THE TIME TO BUILD A MAN

Now's the time to build a man
He's not fashioned like a can.

You can't build him with a rule
He's not even made in a school.

Nor can you mould him like hot steel
For he must live and think and feel.

If he's to work and do his duty
He must live and know some beauty.

He must rise and face the morning sun,
And rest and dream when the day is done.

Let him feel the thrill of new things
Let his creative soul take wings.

When God grants him the best he has above,
Let no hand bar him from his love.

Let him build a stronger place to live,
And give his land the best he can give.

No Evidence Of Revolt Seen In Comment On Third Party

Republican Insurgents Fail To Impress Country With Likelihood That They Will Support Any Except Their Regular Ticket

Study of the fate of third party movements in American politics has convinced most commentators that the talk of a third party in the coming national campaign is unlikely to produce tangible results.

"It is a certainty that the next president will be either a Republican or a Democrat," declares the SOUTH BEND TRIBUNE, voicing the thought that "the radicals are deriving enjoyment from the idea that their opposition is feared by the Democratic and Republican managers," and the conclusion that "thus their self-esteem is fertilized apparently without serious damage to the nation." The HARRISBURG TELEGRAPH feels that "the wild talk may not be without its benefits," for, in the opinion of that paper, "very likely it will bring about wise concessions and useful compromises," for "the Republican leaders are in no position to be arbitrary."

"So far as the principle of public favoritism for the safer and usually more conservative prospects can apply to the present situation," according to the SPRINGFIELD (MASS.) UNION, "it would indicate that the effect of a radical third party would be to draw from the Democratic rather than from the Republican party, and would be more likely to help President Hoover than to hurt him." This view is held also by the ABILENE REPORTER, which recalls that "La-Follette polled almost five million popular votes in 1924, but the only effect was to emphasize the Coolidge victory."

An obstacle which is pointed out by the OKLAHOMA CITY TIMES is in the fact that "there is no leader in sight, of such magnitude as to hope to lead a third party ticket to victory in 1932." The Times adds: "Unless they blunder tremendously, the Democrats have an excellent chance of electing the next president. But it will be true in 1932, as it always has been, that a third party movement will weaken the old party whose leaders sponsor the new organization. Democrats, with the best chance in years before them, owe it to themselves and the country to avoid such mistakes."

"A third party may be useful as a violent stimulant to an older party," advises the ST. LOUIS TIMES, "but as a successful organization it stays on the track about once in a whole flock of blue moons. It's easier and more practical to remodel an old party than to build a new one from the ground up, especially in view of the fact that there will never be more than two kinds of voters, the liberal and conservative." The ROCK ISLAND ARGUS emphasizes the fact that "it is a matter of history that only one third party has ever been successful. That was the newly organized Republican party," continues The Argus, "and its nominee, Abraham Lincoln, received only 40 per cent of the popular vote. Mr. Lincoln was elected by a split dominant party, the Democratic. * * * A third party received 27½ per cent of the popular vote in 1912, and 16½ per cent in 1924. What might prove to be a deterring influence to organizing a third party is that possibly about 65 posts the Republican radicals now hold on house and senate committees might be forfeited."

Differing from some observers, the SIOUX CITY JOURNAL maintains that "a third party movement next year would result in the election of a Democrat to the presidency," and that "the third-party ticket would not get far except to divide votes between itself and the Republicans and permit the Democrats to win the electoral votes of states that they otherwise could not carry." The Journal charges that "if the independent progressives do put a ticket in the field it will be for revenge upon the Hoover administration and nothing else."

"If these insurgents were realists, if they were equipped with a full measure of courage, intellectual integrity, and devotion to the common good," argues the OMAHA WORLD-HERALD, "they would have left the Republican party long ago." That paper adds as to their hisotry: "It is because thehe insurgents have called themselves Republicans, accepted honors and emoluments at the party's hands, cooperated with it at election time though effectually opposing it between elections, that the Republican party has been made dominant and privilege has been enthroned. There has not been, since the first campaign of William J. Bryan, a Democratic platform with which they were not more greatly in sympathy than with the Republican platform, exceoting possibly those of the Roosevelt campaigns. The purposes and ideals of the Democratic party have been more nearly their own than the purposes and ideals of the Republican party. Yet, through all the years, they have done their utmost to weaken, rather than strengthen, the Democratic party, and so to discourage its idealism."

As to Senator Norris, who has been mentioned for the third-party nomination, the LITTLE ROCK ARKANSAS DEMOCRAT believes that "he and his party couldn't find the financial backing to win an election." That paper also advises that Senator Borah is "too much given to heading back for the reservation when in doubt," and makes the comment on Senator Johnson: "Could he win? Not in six geologic ages, for the simple reason that his national political sun has set. He retains his old genius at getting on the first page, but that will not carry a man to victory." Similar judgment is voiced by the DAVENPORT DEMOCRAT, with the added statement: "It is questionable if Governor Pinchot would consent to run on this ticket. He will probably be a candidate at the Chicago convention, and abide by its results, unless it should be characterized by such hard-boiled, steam-roller tactics as marked the convention which renominated President Taft and resulted in the bolt led by Theodore Roosevelt."

Noting that Alfred E. Smith is not except from the list of possibilities for "standard bearer for a new third party," the HARTFORD TIMES states: "No matter what Mr. Smith's ambitions may be, and no matter how they fare, it is well-nigh impossible to envision him in the role of heading a revolt against the party which has done so much for him, and of which he has been for so many years such a shining ornament in positions of various degrees of importance."

"There is no outstanding idea, principle or issue around which the independent forces in the United States could rally unitedly. * * * At this time there is neither an outstanding personality nor an outstanding issue to rally the independents," asserts the JERSEY CITY JOURNAL. The COLORADO SPRINGS GAZETTE-TELEGRAPH maintains that "it would be a good thing for Republicanism if the insurgents were compelled to oppose from the ouside, to assume their real role as indepedents."

Treating the matter in a humorous vein, the SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE remarks: "Why talk about a new third party? The country has one already. Completely equipped with a platform and almost everything required, it was launched a little while ago by J. S. McHenry of Glasgow, Mont. McHenry's party is called the 'Nationalist' party. In keeping with that name its platform is broad. Declaring for sound money, he is for the gold standard, but is not at all hidebound about it. Any other metal that will do will also be acceptable. On the tariff the National party is equally liberal. A hasty reading of the platform gives the impression that it would encourage protection for those who want it and free trade for those who lean in that direction. Other issues are disposed of with equal facility."

FOREIGN LANGUAGES

English as it is spoken in other lands often requires an interpreter, to say nothing as to what a stranger from the Colonies may require while visiting the United States.

A New Yorker entertaining a friend from South Africa took him to the Times Square restaurant for dinner. The visitor being in a hurry, beckoned to a waiter and exclaimed:

"I say, bring me a word book."

The servitor was puzzled and showed it.

"Do you mean a dictionary, sir?" he asked.

"Of course not," snapped the diner. "I want one of those bally things on which your provender is listed."

"Oh, he wants a menu," laughed his host. Then turning to his guest, he added: "They are also called bills of fare."

"How odd," was the rejoinder.

Bible Thought For Today

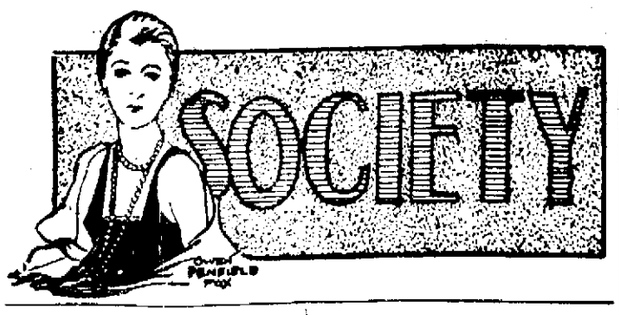

THE FRIEND OF SINNERS:—Their scribes and Pharisees murmured against his disciples, saying, Why do ye eat and drink with publicans and sinners? And Jesus, answering, said unto them, They that are whole need not a physician; but they that are sick. I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance.—Luke 5: 30-32.

SENIORS-JUNIORS UNITE IN MEETING

The vestry room of Temple Israel had all available seating space filled Wednesday evening when the annual meeting of the senior and junior National Council of Jewish Women of New Castle was held.

Mrs. Lawrence Davis, president of the senior organization, opened the meeting and splendid solos were sung, with Miss Ruth Drescher singing "Oh Love What A Day" by Mrs. H. H. A. Beach, and Mrs. Madeline Rugh singing "Now Sleeps the Crimson Petal" by Quilter, and "Sunshine" by Clokey. Mrs. Paul Welsh accompanied the singers.

The program was then turned over to the juniors, Miss Josephine Levine president, and they presented a most humorous sketch, "Bargain Day in the Gallery" which was most cleverly put on under the direction of Miss Mae Bloom.

Miss Florence Shapo as the photographer had a most interesting time with the persons who came to have their "picture took" and the ludicrous costumes and comic antics of the customers kept the audience in an uproar of laughter. Those taking part were: Miss Shapo, Ethel Pittler, Mildred Levine, Josephine Levine, Annabel Prinsky, Reba Frank, Mary Pittler, Bessie Kulkin, Ina Rosenberg and Esther Fisher.

Mrs. Maurice Davis, a charming young matron of Pittsburgh, and an advisor of juniors, was the speaker of the evening, and she took as her subject the relationship of mother and daughter, telling in an interesting manner of the splendid example a mother can set for her daughter, how she can interest her in everything concerning the responsibilities of a home and family, instruct her in the valuesof economic living, and start her life on a firm foundation. She said the compensation a mother gets out of her daughter is the pleasure she has in seeing her grow into splendid womanhood.

At the close of Mrs. Davis' talk the hostesses of the evening: Mrs. Herman Wolfe, Mrs. Jack Gerson, Mrs. J. Moresky, Mrs. J. Perelman, Mrs. I. Myers and Mrs. M. Newmark, served cake and coffee.

Railroad Men To Feel Effects Of Chicago Actions

Rail Executives Air Wage Stand Before Spokesmen Of Crafts

New Castle railroad craftsmen were awaiting with interest today the momentous decisions which the Chicago conference of railroad executives and craft representatives promises to bring Thursday. The 15 per cent wage reduction of all craftsmen is being considered.

Speaking for the combined association of railroad presidents, President Daniel Willard of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad has been conferring with the craft speakers since Monday. He has outlined the executives' stand on wage reduction.

Whether or not the craftsmen will accept or reject the 15 per cent drop in wages remains for the conference to decide. Decisions will affect a large portion of rail workers here.

The railroad mediation board will receive the wage matter for attention if the Chicago meeting fails to bring a settlement in the wage controversy.

Stubborn Coughs Ended by Recipe, Mixed at Home

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs due to colds. It takes but a moment to prepare, costs little, and saves money, but it gives real relief even for those dreaded coughs that follow severe cold epidemics.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of severe coughs and bronchial irritations.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

MY NEW YORK

BY JAMES ASWELL

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Marginalia of a Madhattanite:

All newspapermen practicing in New York think they know just what specially-prepared printed fare out-of-towners like to consume . . . They imagine there is a special problem in serving up this newsprint dish, with carefully marked off taboos against various subjects. . . . "Out-of-towners would be shocked by that," and "nobody but a New Yorker would understand or be interested in that." . . . Blah! . . . Every publication originally intended for Manhattan consumption has succeeded across the land for the same reason which brought circulation in town . . . And nothing about New York interesting locally could fail to get widespread reaction outside, where the city is better known than it is to the natives, anyway . . .

The big gamblers and gunmen never pay in anything except cash. . . . Which is to say, the ex-gamblers, for there are not enough games going nightly now to make the profession worth while . . . There is a store in 42nd street which has been "going out of business" uninterruptedly for four years . . . Now the burlesque houses have taken, in some instances, to giving away "peppy" cartoon booklets with those boxes of candy sold between the acts . . . Broadway is the leanest lane in the world for "prize" candy offers so common a decade ago . . .

WHO?

Who goes to Harlem anymore . . . Up there, by the way, the cover charge is making its last stand, and the $2-a-half-pint ginger ale . . . An English paper the other day described Sixth avenue, in the West Forties as "a portion of New York's lower East Side" . . . That Russian railway wreck, after which the injured were laid out on a parallel track and promptly run over by a passing freight, was so astoundingly simple-minded as to make it understandable why the censors are tight about news from that land . . .

The gyp acutioneers still find customers for those mysterious "bonanza packages" alleged to be worth "at least $5" . . . No longer are prospective customers yanked bodily into East Side shops by eager salesmen, eliminating another touch of humorous color from the quarter . . . Collier's Magazine began to prosper prodigiously as soon as it moved offices to the 13th floor of 250 Park Avenue, scoring the superstition powerful enough to eliminate that floor from many a Manhattan structure . . .

Will Rogers has never kissed any of his female movie partners . . . The Aquaria, in Cortlandt street, has a tank full of weird, pop-eyed tropical fish . . . At $25 per . . . WASHINGTON VICTORIOUS ONCE AGAIN

AFTER being consigned to the basement, the famous painting of "Washington Crossing the Delaware" is again to be exhibited in the Metropolitan Museum in New York.

This marks the second victory in connection with the Father of his Country within a very short time. When preparations for the celebration of the surrender at Yorktown were being made it was suggested that the actual surrender be omitted, first, because it might offend the susceptibilities of our British cousins and, secondly, because the popular conception of that great event was an error. In other words, Cornwallis did not personally surrender to Washington. But the event was staged, nevertheless, and in a manner that made it conform, as far as possible, to historic truth.

Now Washington has been victorious again in the matter of the much-talked-about picture. President Coffin of the Museum says that, while the painting can not be classified as a masterpiece, and while it is not an exact historical record, it has some justification for recognition. "We believe," he says, "it is fitting and desirable that it should be shown during the time of the Washington Bicentennial, and in the Metropolitan Museum, because, in spite of obvious defects, it has great interest for many people who were accustomed to seeing copies of it in their school books." There is no further need for an agitation of the subject; and those cities which were willing to accept the picture if it was to be discarded by New York will have to be reconciled to the decision. It goes without saying that institutions like the Metropolitan must have certain standards of art, but it is doubtful if all their exhibits are technically perfect.

As a matter of fact, a wave of patriotism is making its way over the United States at this time. During the last two decades there had been a growing disposition to be apologetic concerning ourselves and our history; and now the inevitable reaction has come reflects the Inquirer of Philadelphia. Comparatively few persons care anything about the artistic excellence of "Washington Crossing the Delaware," but multitudes have been thrilled by looking at the picture and thinking of the incident it seeks to portray. And, after all, Washington did cross the Delaware, he did surprise the Hessians, and he still remains first in the hearts of his countrymen.

MORE COMPLICATIONS

If the present condition of marital uncertainty persists there certainly will develop a movement toward the nationalization of marriages and divorces. The subject is becoming most undelightfully complicated. Nevada and Arkansas have gone into the divorce business on mass production scales and patronage has been of sufficient volume to cause frank leanings in the same direction by the solons of various other states.

But a large fly has appeared in the ointment the Fort Worth Star Telegram points out.

Within a few weeks of each other the Supreme Courts of California and Massachusetts have decreed that Reno divorces are valid only so long as the parties to the annulment proceedings remain within the state granting them and have laid a predicate for plenty of tribulation for the divorcees once they return to their commonwealths which contain technical claims to their citizenship. In effect, the decrees set out that being divorced in Nevada is important in California and Massachusetts, respectively, only to the extent of making the husbands and wives defendents in bigamy cases or in suits for desertion by those who are not agreeable to the Nevada service. As such verdict was the result of a test case in which exactly those points were at issue, the statement that plenty of trouble is in the offing appears to have little exaggeration.

All of which is important to the American people who are of a mind for standardization of domestic ties. In comes the whole realm of State's Rights once more. Some states have individual rules for the joining together of the two pillars of domesticity and other states have prepared statutes putting them asunder in vagarious manner, which is a condition of affairs calculated to remain a disturbing element in the social strata, quality immaterial.

While the loss of the California and Massachusetts business may not seriously affect the Reno prosperity—or that now building in Arkansas—it can not but have its deleterious effect. When pilgrims trek across the terrain to the mecca of marital disjunction they want to know that their labor has not been in vain. Thousands of persons—if we may believe the evidence of the Nevada experiment—are perfectly willing to sojourn in Reno during a period but they are not making permanent Nevada citizenship. Nearly any article can become too high-priced on occasion. The same statement can be made anent Arkansas—with due regard for the relativities.

It begins to look as though action and reaction are as equal in opposite directions as that famous axiom maker declared them to be back there in the days when mathematics was an exact science.

When one plus one is declared to equal one the same mathematical process is necessary when they undertake to work the problem of one from one equalling two.

And, more important still, both problems must be worked under the same set of state rules.

One of the easiest ways to get acquainted with a nice girl is to marry her.

It takes at least two men to make greatness; one to do the stunt and one to cheer.

A man may be slow to move when opportunity knocks, but he isn't when the neighbors do it.

A pedagogue says the world should cease to mention the flapper. What, and break her heart?

One advantage of voting for the loser is one doesn't have to make apologies at the end of the term.

The only gridiron which the modern girl knows anything about is the one with goal posts at each end.

All Of Us

Without Grief, No Joy
Without Loss, No Possession
Without Death, No Love

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Have you been unhappy in the thought that the good things seem to endure such a little while? That the flower fades? And the rainbow goes? And the spring does not last forever? And the body that was so light and strong takes feeble steps at last? . . . Have you sighed because the best of life would not stand still for you? Because puppies lose their charming ways? And adorable children grow older? And those we have loved pass from us and we see them no more?

Have you been sad with the remembrance that this is true and that life is so?

Years ago I found three paragraphs of words that a man had spoken or written. I clipped them from the page on which I found them and threw them carelessly into a drawer. And yesterday they came back to me. The name of their author was not on them, but I think I can guess his name.

He had comfort for those who sigh so plaintively, for those who sob convulsively and are racked with grief. For he said:

"I am not sure that we ought to mourn for the dead. I do not know which is better—life or death. It may be that death is the greatest gift that ever came from Nature's hands. We do not know."

(He sounds so bitter. He seems to be leading us down to some abyss of cynicism.)

"There is one thing of which I am certain, and that is, that if we could live forever here, we would care nothing for each other. The fact that we must die, the fact that the feast must end, brings our souls together, and treads the weeds from out the path between our hearts."

(At the heart of the bitter fruit he has found a honey that is sweet indeed)

"And so it may be, after all, that love is a little flower that grows on the crumbling edge of the grave. So it may be that were it not for death there would be no love, and without love, all life would be a curse."

(He has looked into the mystery of life—and he has seen it is the impermanence of the lovely that makes it doubly precious.)

Robert Ingersoll, I am sure, was author of those thoughts. He was wise; he was comforting; and in those three paragraphs he eases the trouble heart and gently shames the rebellious tears.

Just Folks

TREE AND MAN

The oak tree never quits its place
To ask about a neighbor's care.
A thing of majesty and grace,
Whose leafy arms seem raised in prayer,
It stands two hundred years or more
Against the storms of winter stout,
While man is broken down before
The sands of seventy years run out.

From the first moment of its birth
Until a rotted log it dies,
Its roots draw sweetness from the earth,
Its leaves draw nectar from the skies.
Patient, untroubled and serene,
A tree, with age in splendor grows,
Because on it no grief has been
Such as the fretted mortal knows.

Poor man must roam the world afar
And give his strength to many needs;
Pride, pomp and place and pity are
Forever spurring him to deeds.
Not only must he suffer pain,
But God has fashioned him so fair
That none may carry to him in vain.
Even a stranger's hurt he'll share.

The span of mortal life is brief.
The oak tree long outlives us all,
Yet better 'tis to suffer grief;
To weary oft at duty's call;
To wear our strength and courage out
Against the tides of human fears
Than live and never ask about
The cause of sorrow's blinding tears.

THE HOME HERO

Of course, old man, you have a right to expect that when you reach home in the evening conditions are going to be favorable to your comfort.

But perhaps you demand too much in that way.

You say all you want is to be let alone, which means they can't play the radio, the children must be quiet and your wife must not ask too many questions.

You want to sleep or read in perfect quiet.

Isn't this expecteing too much.

You many be tired and worried over business matters.

But why carry your gloom or ill nature home with you?

It is not natural for children to be quiet.

An intelligent wife, alone all day with the children, would like to converse with an adult mind for a change, particularly with you.

She too, is weary and has hoped your return would bring cheer and respite-sympathy in her case.

The children would like to have a little fun with Daddy.

Maybe you are the sort the children hate to see come home.

Man, if you are, you are missing one of the finest things in life, the joy of a child or a wife at the return of the "home-hero", father.

Let's be honest about it. Every year or so, pious adults in the community lift their hands in holy horror because some boy in his early teens has been caught stealing. They say he is a born criminal and never will amount to a hill of beans. And thus they display their ignorance. It is the nature of boys to steal. Nobody is born with a sense of property rights. A child takes what it wants, without thought of guilt. Boys steal because it is an adventure to break the laws of adults. The boys I knew at the age of twelve had a lot of fun stealing watermelons, and not one of them became a criminal. In fact, nearly all of them are solid and respectable citizens and now worry about the younger generation. There are vicious boys, depraved by inheritance and environment. But a few minor thefts don't prove a kid hopelessly wicked. He may become a better man than any of those who condemn him now.

HERE'S A FUNNY ONE

When the elevated trains in New York gave up their choo-choo steam engines for the speedier electric trains, they found a market for their choo-choos in China. An American salesman, travelling in China, found himself in a train that was being pulled by one of these choo-choos. It coughed and sputtered, as might be expected from one of its age, and moved unwillingly along, dragging its train at the speed of a tottering old man. In the middle of what appeared to be a farm, the train stopped. The Chinese conductor, passing through the car was asked by the American why the train stopped at this place. The conductor who spoke pidgin English replied, "cow on track." After a short interval required to coax the cow off the track, the train started. For about two hours it continued on its weary way and then stopped again, this time in a rice field. The conductor coming through, was again stopped. "Another cow on the track?" asked the American. "No," replied the conductor blandly, "same cow on track."

VELVETS AND RAGS

Antonio Scraggs was a ragman wise;
He knew every star that lived in the skies;
He knew where they went
And he knew whence they came
He spoke of them, to them,
And knew each by name.

So whenever I found myself
Floundering in doubt,
I'd ask wise Antonio
To please help me out.

I walked at the side of Antonio Scragga
The while he was calling his "bottles and rags"
And when we arrived at the rich man's town,
I saw a sweet maid in a velvet gown
And at her side sat, like a frigidaire
A velvet robed youth with a vacant stare.
The maid's eyes were sad and I heard her sigh,
But I could not venutre the reason why.

And so we kept on to the poor man's town
Where I saw a maid in a ragged gown;
And at her side on the bright green sward
A young man sat as proud's a lord;
And the light of joy shone in their eyes
As they laughed and loved beneath the skies.

So when I asked Antonio Scraggs
"What is the difference twixt velvet and rags?
"Velvets conceal," he shoop his head

No Evidence Of Revolt Seen In Comment On Third Party

Republican Insurgents Fail To Impress Country With Likelihood That They Will Support Any Except Their Regular Ticket

Study of the fate of third party movements in American politics has convinced most commentators that the talk of a third party in the coming national campaign is unlikely to produce tangible results.

"It is a certainty that the next president will be either a Republican or a Democrat," declares the SOUTH BEND TRIBUNE, voicing the thought that "the radicals are deriving enjoyment from the idea that their opposition is feared by the Democratic and Republican managers," and the conclusion that "thus their self-esteem is fertilized apparently without serious damage to the nation." The HARRISBURG TELEGRAPH feels that "the wild talk may not be without its benefits," for, in the opinion of that paper, "very likely it will bring about wise concessions and useful compromises," for "the Republican leaders are in no position to be arbitrary."

"So far as the principle of public favoritism for the safer and usually more conservative prospects can apply to the present situation," according to the SPRINGFIELD (MASS.) UNION, "it would indicate that the effect of a radical third party would be to draw from the Democratic rather than from the Republican party, and would be more likely to help President Hoover than to hurt him." This view is held also by the ABILENE REPORTER, which recalls that "La-Follette polled almost five million popular votes in 1924, but the only effect was to emphasize the Coolidge victory."

An obstacle which is pointed out by the OKLAHOMA CITY TIMES is in the fact that "there is no leader in sight, of such magnitude as to hope to lead a third party ticket to victory in 1932." The Times adds: "Unless they blunder tremendously, the Democrats have an excellent chance of electing the next president. But it will be true in 1932, as it always has been, that a third party movement will weaken the old party whose leaders sponsor the new organization. Democrats, with the best chance in years before them, owe it to themselves and the country to avoid such mistakes."

"A third party may be useful as a violent stimulant to an older party," advises the ST. LOUIS TIMES, "but as a successful organization it stays on the track about once in a whole flock of blue moons. It's easier and more practical to remodel an old party than to build a new one from the ground up, especially in view of the fact that there will never be more than two kinds of voters, the liberal and conservative." The ROCK ISLAND ARGUS emphasizes the fact that "it is a matter of history that only one third party has ever been successful. That was the newly organized Republican party," continues The Argus, "and its nominee, Abraham Lincoln, received only 40 per cent of the popular vote. Mr. Lincoln was elected by a split dominant party, the Democratic. * * * A third party received 2½ per cent of the popular vote in 1912, and 16½ per cent in 1924. What might prove to be a deterring influence to organizing a third party is that possibly about 65 posts the Republican radicals now hold on house and senate committees might be forfeited."

Differing from some observers, the SIOUX CITY JOURNAL maintains that "a third party movement next year would result in the election of a Democrat to the presidency," and that "the third-party ticket would not get far except to divide votes between itself and the Republicans and permit the Democrats to win the electoral votes of states that they otherwise could not carry." The Journal charges that "if the independent progressives do put a ticket in the field it will be for revenge upon the Hoover administration and nothing else."

"If these insurgents were realists, if they were equipped with a full measure of courage, intellectual integrity, and devotion to the common good," argues the OMAHA WORLD-HERALD, "they would have left the Republican party long ago." That paper adds as to their hisotry: "It is because thehe insurgents have called themselves Republicans, accepted honors and emoluments at the party's hands, cooperated with it at election time though effectually opposing it between elections, that the Republican party has been made dominant and privilege has been enthroned. There has not been, since the first campaign of William J. Bryan, a Democratic platform with which they were not more greatly in symoathy than with the Republican platform, excepting possibly those of the Roosevelt campaigns. The purposes and ideals of the Democratic party have been more nearly their own than the purposes and ideals of the Republican party. Yet, through all the years, they have done their utmost to weaken, rather than strengthen, the Democratic party, and so to discourage its idealism."

As to Senator Norris, who has been mentioned for the third-party nomination, the LITTLE ROCK ARKANSAS DEMOCRAT believes that "he and his party couldn't find the financial backing to win an election." That paper also advises that Senator Borah is "too much given to heading back for the reservation when in doubt," and makes the comment on Senator Johnson: "Could he win? Not in six geologic ages, for the simple reason that his national political sun has set. He relies his old genius at getting on the first page, but that will not carry a party to victory." Similar judgment is voiced by the DAVENPORT DEMOCRAT, with the added statement: "It is questionable if Governor Pinchot would consent to run on this ticket. He will probably be a candidate at the Chicago convention, and abide by its results, unless it should be characterized by such hard-boiled, steam-roller tactics as marked the convention which renominated President Taft and resulted in the bolt led by Theodore Roosevelt."

Noting that Alfred E. Smith is not except from the list of possibilities for "standard bearer for a new third party," the HARTFORD TIMES states: "No matter what Mr. Smith's ambitions may be, and no matter how they fare, it is well-nigh impossible to envision him in the role of heading a revolt against the party which has done so much for him, and of which he has been for so many years such a shining ornament in positions of various degrees of importance."

"There is no outstanding idea, principle or issue around which the independent forces in the United States could rally unitedly. * * * At this time there is neither an outstanding personality nor an outstanding issue to rally the independents," asserts the JERSEY CITY JOURNAL. The COLORADO SPRINGS GAZETTE-TELEGRAPH maintains that "it would be a good thing for Republicanism if the insurgents were compelled to oppose from the ouside, to assume their real role as indepedents."

Treating the matter in a humorous vein, the SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE remarks: "Why talk about a new third party? The country has one already. Completely equipped with a platform and almost everything required, it was launched a little while ago by J. S. McHenry of Glasgow, Mont. McHenry's party is called the 'Nationalist' party. In keeping with that name its platform is broad. Declaring for sound money, he is for the gold standard, but is not at all hidebound about it. Any other metal that will do will also be acceptable. On the tariff the National party is equally liberal. A hasty reading of the platform gives the impression that it would encourage protection for those who want it and free trade for those who lean in that direction. Other issues are disposed of with equal facility."

FOREIGN LANGUAGES

English as it is spoken in other lands often requires an interpreter, to say nothing as to what a stranger from the Colonies may require while visiting the United States.

A New Yorker entertaining a friend from South Africa took him to the Times Square restaurant for dinner. The visitor being in a hurry, beckoned to a waiter and exclaimed:

"I say, bring me a word book."

The servitor was puzzled and showed it.

"Do you mean a dictionary, sir?" he asked.

"Of course not," snapped the diner. "I want one of those bally things on which your provender is listed."

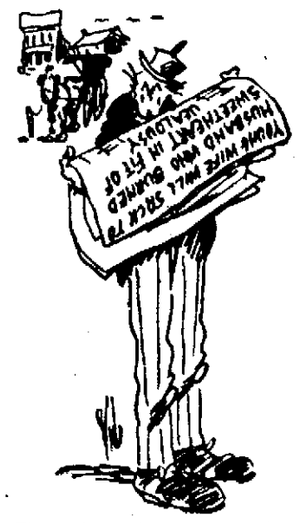

"Oh, he wants a menu," laughed his host. Then turning to his guest, he added: "They are also called bills of fare."

"How odd," was the rejoinder.

China To Demand New Conference

POSITION MADE KNOWN TODAY

(International News Service)

SHANGHAI, Jan. 14—The new Chinese government struck out bodily today in its first announcement regarding the Manchurian situation, stating it was ready either to demand a new Washington conference in international affairs or invocation of article XVI of the League of Nations covenant formally declaring Japan an aggressor nation.

The government's position was made known in a formal statement by Eugene Chen, minister for foreign affairs.

Article XVI. of the League covenant states that if any member of the League resorts to war "it shall ipso facto be deemed to have committed an act of war against all other members of the League."

In such an event, the covenant provides for immediate severence of all trade or financial relations, the prohibition of all intercourse between the covenant and the prevention of all financial, commercial or personal intercourse between the nationals of the covenant—breaking state and the nationals of any other state, whether a member of the League or not."

Members of the government were divided over the advisability of invoking article XVI., some cabinet officers believing it was too harsh a step.

Four On Police Force Have Served As Chief

Four members of the city department of police have had service as chief of police and three of them have had experience as county detective. In one instance, however, only one of the members has served both as chief of police and county detective.

The present police chief is Cy Horner. Others in the department who have served as chief are Henry Dysart, J. Ed Elder and M. J. Young.

The members who have served as county detective are M. J. Young, George Kennedy and C. G. Logan.

Horner has served since the time W. H. Gillespie became mayor. Dysart served under Mayor Dunlap, J. Ed Elder served under Mayor Barnes and Young was chief during a portion of the Tyler regime and the Newell administration.

C. G. Logan served as county detective when Charles H. Young was district attorney; Young served when George Muse was prosecutor and Kennedy was county detective under J. Elder Bryan.

Arrest Three For Alleged Robbing Of Man Of $700

Man, Wife And Son Held At Uniontown For Alleged Robbery Of 'Love Sick' Man

(International News Service)

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Jan. 14.—Mr. and Mrs. Paul Shotter and a son, Paul, Jr., today were being detained by police on complaints of 74-year-old Anthony Bergen, who says he is missing $700 after he announced to the world that he felt like getting married.

Shotter heard the aged man's marital inclinations and allegedly told Bergen that he knew just the woman. According to Bergen, Shotter introduced him to Mrs. Shotter and then suggested that they have some drinks. Bergen paid $50 for some refreshments. When he woke up, $650 was missing, he claimed.

Bergen had drawn the $700 from the bank when he experienced the matrimonial urge.

All of the Shotters have denied Bergen's charges.

ERIE, Pa., Jan. 14.—For meritorious work in combatting a British Honduras malaria epidemic last year, Royal Alphonsas Hunt of Erie has been recommended to the secretary of state at Washington for special recognition awards, friends here learned today.

The recommendation was made by American consular officials at Belize, British Honduras, where the fever epidemic raged last September.

Hunt was a pharmacist's mate, first class, in the U. S. navy. He has been in the service since he was 18 years old. He and three co-workers treated 300 patients daily during the epidemic and saved many lives.

The first American yacht on record was a Boston yacht build in 1774 by Lord Percy.

Asks School Board For Hearing On Tax

W. M. Nunn appeared before the New Castle School Board Wednesday evening and in behalf of the Real Estate Board asked that the school board designate a night at which the Real Estate men could appear before the school board.

"We realize what a job you have on your hands" said Mr. Nunn "and we do not wish to add to that burden. We feel however that we can be of service to this board and for that reason ask for a hearing. If such a request is granted, 2,000 property owners will be at the meeting and of course the meeting could not be held in the school board rooms."

Board Handcuffed By Law

It was explained to Mr. Nunn that the action of the school board in the matter of expenses was controlled by law and that the board was more or less tied. The members wanted to be fair to the Real Estate Board however and after Mr. Nunn had left, ordered the secretary to notify him that the school board would hear the real estate men at the next regular board meeting, in the school board rooms.

Legion Of Honor Buys Equipment For Drum Corps

New Instruments Will Be Secured To Bring Drum Corps Up-To-Date

At the meeting of the Legion of Honor last evening, approval was given the drum corps request to purchase additional instruments to bring the drum corps up-to-date.

New horns and drums of the latest and most approved style will be secured and will be available for use shortly.

A report was submitted on the headstone question, relative to the purchase of stones by the county, but no definite recommendation was made.

H. W. McIlvenny was named to represent the Legion of Honor at a meeting to be held in the near future for the forming of a historical commission for the county.

CHIMNEY FIRE

Soot in a chimney on the frame home of Howard Leach, 444 County Line street, caught fire early last evening, bringing central and fourth ward firemen to the district. Smoke filled the cellar, but no damage was reported.

GRAB BAG

How many grapes does it take to make a ton of raisins?

What river is the widest?

Correctly Speaking—

Avoid pleonasm, i. e., the use of words which do not involve repetition of thought, but which are structurally unnecessary. Say "Two hundred students went," not "There were two hundred students went."

Today's Anniversary

On this day, in 1923, the first public demonstration of radio telephony between New York and London was made.

Today's Horoscope

Answers to Foregoing Question

1. Approximately four tons of grapes, having 24 per cent sugar, will make one ton of raisins, properly cured.

2. The Amazon river, in South America, is the widest in the world. It is 50 miles at its main mouth.

3. The Detroit river is sometimes referred to by that name.

Rail Executives Air Wage Stand Before Spokesmen Of Crafts

New Castle railroad craftsmen were awaiting with interest today the momentous decisions which the Chicago conference of railroad executives and craft representatives promises to bring Thursday. The 15 per cent wage reduction of all craftsmen is being considered.

Speaking for the combined association of railroad presidents, President Daniel Willard of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad has been conferring with the craft speakers since Monday. He has outlined the executives' stand on wage reduction.

Whether or not the craftsmen will accept or reject the 15 per cent drop in wages remains for the conference to decide. Decisions will affect a large portion of rail workers here.

The railroad mediation board will receive the wage matter for attention if the Chicago meeting fails to bring a settlement in the wage controversy.

Stubborn Coughs Ended by Recipe, Mixed at Home

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs due to colds. It takes but a moment to prepare, costs little, and saves money, but it gives real relief even for those dreaded coughs that follow severe cold epidemics.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of severe coughs and bronchial irritations.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

MY NEW YORK

BY JAMES ASWELL

By Central Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Marginalia of a Madhattanite:

All newspapermen practicing in New York think they know just what specially-prepared printed fare out-of-towners like to consume . . . They imagine there is a special problem in serving up this newsprint dish, with carefully marked off taboos against various subjects . . . "Out-of-towners would be shocked by that," and "nobody but a New Yorker would understand or be interested in that." . . . Blah! . . . Every publication originally intended for Manhattan consumption has succeeded across the land for the same reason which brought circulation in town . . . And nothing about New York interesting locally could fail to get widespread reaction outside, where the city is better known than it is to the natives, anyway . . .

The big gamblers and gunmen never pay in anything except cash. . . . Which is to say, the ex-gamblers, for there are not enough games going nightly now to make the profession worth while . . . There is a store in 42nd street which has been "going out of business" uninterruptedly for four years . . . Now the burlesque houses have taken, in some instances, to giving away "peppy" cartoon booklets with those boxes of candy sold between the acts . . . Broadway is the leanest lane in the world for "prize" candy offers so common a decade ago . . .

WHO?

Who goes to Harlem anymore . . . Up there, by the way, the cover charge is making its last stand, and the $2-a-half-pint ginger ale . . . An English paper the other day described Sixth avenue, in the West Forties as "a portion of New York's lower East Side" . . . That Russian railway wreck, after which the injured were laid out on a parallel track and promptly run over by a passing freight, was so astoundingly simple-minded as to make it understandable why the censors are tight about news from that land . . .

The gyp acutioneers still find customers for those mysterious "bonanza packages" alleged to be worth "at least $5" . . . No longer are prospective customers yanked bodily into Fifth Side shops by eager salesmen, eliminating another touch of humorous color from the quarter . . . Collier's Magazine began to prosper prodigiously as soon as it moved offices to the 13th floor of 250 Park Avenue, scoring the superstition powerful enough to eliminate that floor from many a Manhattan structure . . .

Will Rogers has never kissed any of his female movie partners . . . The Aquaria, in Cortlandt street, has a tank full of weird, pop-eyed tropical fish . . . At $25 per . . . In 1931 an average of $62.50 was spent by Americans for clothes . . . Many of the families in the Russian-Polish and Italian sections of the town have letter-readers call on them once a month to read and answer correspondence.

Charges Against Secretary Mellon Being Questioned

Impeachment Case Hinges On Stock Holding In Some 300 Corporations

Personal Attorney For Mellon Admits Stock Owning, But Not Extent

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Efforts before the House judiciary committee to impeach Secretary of the Treasury Mellon under an old statute in 1789 apparently hinged today on whether Mellon's stock ownership in some 300 corporations constitutes "active participation" in commerce and trade.

Members of the committee declared the entire case against Mellon appeared to be a question of whether the treasury secretary's stock holdings were such that he "actively engaged" in guiding the corporation's affairs.

Patman Leads Attack

Representative Patman of Texas, who impeached Mellon, charged Mellon and members of his family owned and controlled a majority of stock in many large corporations, including the Gulf Oil Company, the Aluminum Company of America and the Koppers Company of Pittsburgh. The latter, he charged, had large contracts with Soviet Russia and that Mellon therefore had a financial interest in the Soviet.

The question of entry of convict or forced labor produced goods, Patman held, would eventually be decided by Mellon as secretary of the Treasury, under the tariff act, and for this reason his Koppers Company holdings barred him under the old statute from holding the Treasury portfolio.

Charges Denied

Alexander W. Gregg, personal attorney for Mellon, told the committee he would concede Mellon had large stock holdings in the companies enumerated by Patman, but disagreed as to their extent. He denied Mellon owned a majority of the stock of either the Aluminum Company or the Gulf Oil Company.

Patman's contention was that Mellon violated the law against a Treasury secretary owning vessels engaged in foreign commerce, through his Gulf Oil holdings. The Gulf Oil Company operates ships in foreign trade, Patman charged, and Gregg conceded this point, but denied the implication.

Says Force Has Not Increased

William A. Eakin Looks Up Data In County Commissioners' Office

County Commissioners' Clerk William A. Eakin, takes exception to a communication to The News last night in which it was stated that when "Jimmy" Lamoree was clerk he did as much work with a few girls, as is now being done by the present force in the county commissioners office.

Mr. Eakin said this morning: "I have been looking up the records in the county commissioners office and find that in 1926, there were seven employees in the county commissioners' office, including the clerk, which is the same number as now employed. There were also the same number in 1927-8. It might be further stated that at that time the office did not have to look after the work of the poor board. This has added greatly to the work in the county commissioners office and we are doing the work with the same number of employees, that were on the force before this work was added."

TOWNSHIP TO PAY TUITION

Neshannock Township Arranges To Pay Tuition Due New Castle

Settlement by the Neshannock township school board for tuition of pupils long past due is likely following the meeting of the New Castle school board Wednesday evening in the administration building. The Neshannock board has offered to settle for $7814.16, although it will take approximately two months to make arrangements for getting the money. The New Castle board has agreed to accept the settlement.

Under a former school board of Neshannock township, no tuition was paid to New Castle district for pupils sent into the New Castle schools. The bills piled up to such an amount that last fall the board passed a ruling that no pupils would be admitted to the New Castle schools unless the tuition was paid from month to month. This virtually barred Neshannock township from entering its pupils in the New Castle schools and a temporary exemption was granted in their case until the opening of the second semester of the present term.

New School Board.

At the last election a new board was put into office and this board is desirous of paying its bills and recently authorized a check drawn for $7814.16. A checkup of the finances revealed the fact that there was not sufficent money in the treasury to pay that amount. The Neshannock board now agrees to get the money, by bond issue if necessary, if the New Castle board will permit Neshannock pupils to enter the schools here on the old basis where the township pays the bills at the end of the term.

Believing that the Neshannock board is genuinely interested in paying its bills, the New Castle board agreed to a further two-month extension of the previous extension of time allowed. In the meantime the Neshannock board agrees to get the money and settle back bills for tuition.

Only 1,550 Of Reported 7,000 Animals In County Get 1932 Licenses

Although tomorrow will be the first day when dogs in the county must display 1932 licenses, the county treasurer's office reported that only 1,550 licenses have been purchased. There is probably 7,000 animals to be licensed in the county.

According to Deputy Game Warden Tom O'Brien who is also constable of Union township, an extension had been granted to the 1931 licenses until tomorrow. After that day owners of unlicensed animals are liable to be fined by J. Wylie Brewster, state agriculture representative.

Prices for licenses are $1.10 for males, $2.10 for females and $10.10 for kennel licenses. Ten dogs may be kept in a licensed kennel.

Breeches were first worn by the ancient Greeks as a badge of slavery.

Board Is Asked To Pay Bill For Boy's Injuries

Mother Asks School Board To Pay For Attention Given Son

Mrs. George McCurdy of the First Ward, mother of 11 year old George McCurdy who was injured while on the grounds of the North Street School, appeared before the New Castle School Board Wednesday evening, and asked if the board would reimburse her the doctor's bills incurred in treating her son after the accident.

In making her request Mrs. McCurdy said "the boy was hurt on the school grounds and was not properly cared for at the time. We have to send him to a second ward school because we have no school in the first ward. We are taxpayers and believe that the board should reimburse us."

President Daniel B. Woolcock explained to Mrs. McCurdy that the board was prohibited from expending money for such purposes. J. H. McIlvenny said, "it is most unfortunate that the accident occurred and we regret it, but you must understand Mrs. McCurdy that if this board paid such a bill we could be surcharged and each member would be individually liable for his share."

"We believe the board can pay this bill" said Mrs. McCurdy. "I am here at the request of the committee interested in this and I have stated my position in the case. If the board refuses to pay, there are other ways to act."

After Mrs. McCurdy had gone, Dr. Green explained that the McCurdy boy had been injured on the school ground and had been brought into the Administration Building. At that time Dr. Baker was busy in another building and could not be reached.

Principal A. L. Hoffmeister went to the phone to call the moys mother but the youngster protested that he didn't want to frighten his mother and wanted to be allowed to go home alone. This was done and when he got home an examination showed there was a slight fracture of one of his arms. Insofar as the school board is concerned the matter is closed as there is no provision by law which would allow the board to pay any such bill.

Will Investigate Teacher's Salaries

Board Member Asks If Some Are Being Paid More Than Minimum

Teachers in the New Castle public schools who are receiving more than the minimum scale provided for in the Edmonds act will likely be cut back to that minimum next year, if the remarks of the school board members at the regular meeting Wednesday night are indicative of action to be taken in the setting of the budget.

The matter was brought out by A. C. Hyde, who asked if it was true that some teachers were being paid $200 more than the minimum provided for by the Edmonds act. Hyde said: "In some cases we are paying $2300 and $2400 for teachers when the scale calls for $2200. I would like to know if this is the practice."

Mrs. Douthett explained that back in 1920 teachers were scarce, that other districts were enticing teachers from the New Castle school district, and that in order to keep them here some increases in their contract were authorized.

Attorney Roy W. Hazen, a member of the budget committee, explained that this matter had already been given some attention by the committee, and that it was being made the subject of a full investigation.

China To Demand New Conference

(International News Service)

SHANGHAI, Jan. 14—The new Chinese government struck out bodily today in its first announcement regarding the Manchurian situation, stating it was ready either to demand a new Washington conference in international affairs or invocation of article XVI of the League of Nations covenant formally declaring Japan an aggressor nation.

The government's position was made known in a formal statement by Eugene Chen, minister for foreign affairs.

Article XVI, of the League covenant states that if any member of the League resorts to war "it shall ipso facto be deemed to have committed an act of war against all other members of the League."

In such an event, the covenant provides for immediate severence of all trade or financial relations, the prohibition of all intercourse between the covenant and the prevention of all financial, commercial or personal intercourse between the nationals of the covenant—breaking state and the nationals of any other state, whether a member of the League or not."

Members of the government were divided over the advisability of invoking article XVI., some cabinet officers believing it was too harsh a step.

Asks School Board For Hearing On Tax

W. M. Nunn appeared before the New Castle School Board Wednesday evening and in behalf of the Real Estate Board asked that the school board designate a night at which the Real Estate men could appear before the school board.

"We realize what a job you have on your hands" said Mr. Nunn "and we do not wish to add to that burden. We feel however that we can be of service to this board and for that reason ask for a hearing. If such a request is granted, 2,000 property owners will be at the meeting and of course the meeting could not be held in the school board rooms."

Board Handcuffed By Law

It was explained to Mr. Nunn that the action of the school board in the matter of expenses was controlled by law and that the board was more or less tied. The members wanted to be fair to the Real Estate Board however and after Mr. Nunn had left, ordered the secretary to notify him that the school board would hear the real estate men at the next regular board meeting, in the school board rooms.

GRAB BAG

How many grapes does it take to make a ton of raisins?

What river is the widest?

Correctly Speaking—

Avoid pleonasm, i. e., the use of words which do not involve repetition of thought, but which are structurally unnecessary. Say "Two hundred students went," not "There were two hundred students went."

Today's Anniversary

On this day, in 1923, the first public demonstration of radio telephony between New York and London was made.

Today's Horoscope

Answers to Foregoing Question

1. Approximately four tons of grapes, having 24 per cent sugar, will make one ton of raisins, properly cured.

2. The Amazon river, in South America, is the widest in the world. It is 50 miles at its main mouth.

3. The Detroit river is sometimes referred to by that name.

Handsome troop service stripes, the pride of every Boy Scout, were given to Robert Keck, Robert Zahniser, James Pherson, Bill Pherson and Walter Conover.

Ralph Davies, one of the most active members of the troop was presented with a special troop service pin.

When the presentations had been made, 30 minutes of patrol stunts kept things moving lively. After the stunt period the meeting ceremoniously adjourned.

During 1931 the troop made rapid strides forward placing second in the recent three months' inter-troop efficiency contest. Only the West Pittsburg boys outscored them. For two years the troop has been city champs in the field meets held here.

James Fox was voted a member of the troop at the meeting.

STAGE MOCK TRIAL

The Elks Boy Scouts held their weekly meeting in the Elks home recently. The meeting was in charge of Scoutmaster Gordon Cartwright. Troop committee chairman Walter C. DeArment, Assistant Scoutmaster Sandy Howard and Junior Asistant Scoutmaster Harry Brown and Senior Patrol Leader Bill Fair were also present.

The opening exercises were held and troop business taken care of. The interesting project of the evening was a trial. Bill Fair was accused of being cruel to pop bottles.

The closing exercises were then held and the troop dismissed.

ROUND NEW LEADER

Louis B. Round, local utility official who was chosen last week to serve as president of the Lawrence county council of the Boy Scouts during 1932, formally accepted the honor Wednesday. Round has requested some time to consider the election.

Active in council affairs for several years, more recently as the supervisor of Camp John M. Phillips activities, Mr. Round brings to his new post a wealth of experience in handling Boy Scout matters. His interest in youth is manifested by the untiring efforts and close attention he has shown in every affair that has demanded his participation.

Mr. Round fills the position which Dr. C. J. Williamson has held during the past year. Dr. Williamson retired with the election of Mr. Round last Thursday, when the new president's term automatically commenced.

Council presidents preside at each meeting of the council's executive board and is in general responsible for the progress the scout council makes.

TROOP 37 GATHERS

Troop 37 met at the Arthur McGill school building on Monday night with Senior Patrol Leader Williams in charge of the opening exercises.

Next the patrol meetings were held with three members of the Cat patrol, two of the Lion patrol and four of the Raven patrol being in attendance. Of the nine members present, eight wore uniforms.

The dues and attendance reports were given in the business meeting. There was only one thing brought up in the new and old business discussion, and that was everyone caring to pass the cycling test gather in the spring for a 50-mile bicycle trip.

Dodge ball was played in the gymnasium of the school.

After the game a knot-tying contest was held. No less than three were allowed to be in the contests from each patrol. The Cat patrol won with the Lions second and the Ravens third.

The meeting was adjourned by Bugler Freeman blowing taps.

Charges Against Secretary Mellon Being Questioned

Impeachment Case Hinges On Stock Holding In Some 300 Corporations

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Efforts before the House judiciary committee to impeach Secretary of the Treasury Mellon under an old statute in 1789 apparently hinged today on whether Mellon's stock ownership in some 300 corporations constitutes "active participation" in commerce and trade.

Members of the committee declared the entire case against Mellon appeared to be a question of whether the treasury secretary's stock holdings were such that he "actively engaged" in guiding the corporation's affairs.

Patman Leads Attack

Representative Patman of Texas, who impeached Mellon, charged Mellon and members of his family owned and controlled a majority of stock in many large corporations, including the Gulf Oil Company, the Aluminum Company of America and the Koppers Company of Pittsburgh. The latter, he charged, had large contracts with Soviet Russia and that Mellon therefore had a financial interest in the Soviet.

The question of entry of convict or forced labor produced goods, Patman held, would eventually be decided by Mellon as secretary of the Treasury, under the tariff act, and for this reason his Koppers Company holdings barred him under the old statute from holding the Treasury portfolio.

Charges Denied

Alexander W. Gregg, personal attorney for Mellon, told the committee he would concede Mellon had large stock holdings in the companies enumerated by Patman, but disagreed as to their extent. He denied Mellon owned a majority of the stock of either the Aluminum Company or the Gulf Oil Company.

Patman's contention was that Mellon violated the law against a Treasury secretary owning vessels engaged in foreign commerce, through his Gulf Oil holdings. The Gulf Oil Company operates ships in foreign trade, Patman charged, and Gregg conceded this point, but denied the implication.

Says Force Has Not Increased

William A. Eakin Looks Up Data In County Commissioners' Office

County Commissioners' Clerk William A. Eakin, takes exception to a communication to The News last night in which it was stated that when "Jimmy" Lamoree was clerk he did as much work with a few girls, as is now being done by the present force in the county commissioners office.

Mr. Eakin said this morning: "I have been looking up the records in the county commissioners office and find that in 1926, there were seven employees in the county commissioners' office, including the clerk, which is the same number as now employed. There were also the same number in 1927-8. It might be further stated that at that time the office did not have to look after the work of the poor board. This has added greatly to the work in the county commissioners office and we are doing the work with the same number of employees, that were on the force before this work was added."

TOWNSHIP TO PAY TUITION

Neshannock Township Arranges To Pay Tuition Due New Castle

Settlement by the Neshannock township school board for tuition of pupils long past due is likely following the meeting of the New Castle school board Wednesday evening in the administration building. The Neshannock board has offered to settle for $7814.16, although it will take approximately two months to make arrangements for getting the money. The New Castle board has agreed to accept the settlement.

Under a former school board of Neshannock township, no tuition was paid to New Castle district for pupils sent into the New Castle schools. The bills piled up to such an amount that last fall the board passed a ruling that no pupils would be admitted to the New Castle schools unless the tuition was paid from month to month. This virtually barred Neshannock township from entering its pupils in the New Castle schools and a temporary exemption was granted in their case until the opening of the second semester of the present term.

New School Board.

At the last election a new board was put into office and this board is desirous of paying its bills and recently authorized a check drawn for $7814.16. A checkup of the finances revealed the fact that there was not sufficent money in the treasury to pay that amount. The Neshannock board now agrees to get the money, by bond issue if necessary, if the New Castle board will permit Neshannock pupils to enter the schools here on the old basis where the township pays the bills at the end of the term.

Believing that the Neshannock board is genuinely interested in paying its bills, the New Castle board agreed to a further two-month extension of the previous extension of time allowed. In the meantime the Neshannock board agrees to get the money and settle back bills for tuition.

Few Dogs Licensed As Zero Hour Nears

Only 1,550 Of Reported 7,000 Animals In County Get 1932 Licenses

Although tomorrow will be the first day when dogs in the county must display 1932 licenses, the county treasurer's office reported that only 1,550 licenses have been purchased. There is probably 7,000 animals to be licensed in the county.

According to Deputy Game Warden Tom O'Brien who is also constable of Union township, an extension had been granted to the 1931 licenses until tomorrow. After that day owners of unlicensed animals are liable to be fined by J. Wylie Brewster, state agriculture representative.

Prices for licenses are $1.10 for males, $2.10 for females and $10.10 for kennel licenses. Ten dogs may be kept in a licensed kennel.

Board Is Asked To Pay Bill For Boy's Injuries

Mother Asks School Board To Pay For Attention Given Son

Mrs. George McCurdy of the First Ward, mother of 11 year old George McCurdy who was injured while on the grounds of the North Street School, appeared before the New Castle School Board Wednesday evening, and asked if the board would reimburse her the doctor's bills incurred in treating her son after the accident.

In making her request Mrs. McCurdy said "the boy was hurt on the school grounds and was not properly cared for at the time. We have to send him to a second ward school because we have no school in the first ward. We are taxpayers and believe that the board should reimburse us."

President Daniel B. Woolcock explained to Mrs. McCurdy that the board was prohibited from expending money for such purposes. J. H. McIlvenny said, "it is most unfortunate that the accident occurred and we regret it, but you must understand Mrs. McCurdy that if this board paid such a bill we could be surcharged and each member would be individually liable for his share."

"We believe the board can pay this bill" said Mrs. McCurdy. "I am here at the request of the committee interested in this and I have stated my position in the case. If the board refuses to pay, there are other ways to act."

After Mrs. McCurdy had gone, Dr. Green explained that the McCurdy boy had been injured on the school ground and had been brought into the Administration Building. At that time Dr. Baker was busy in another building and could not be reached.

Principal A. L. Hoffmeister went to the phone to call the moys mother but the youngster protested that he didn't want to frighten his mother and wanted to be allowed to go home alone. This was done and when he got home an examination showed there was a slight fracture of one of his arms. Insofar as the school board is concerned the matter is closed as there is no provision by law which would allow the board to pay any such bill.

Will Investigate Teacher's Salaries

Board Member Asks If Some Are Being Paid More Than Minimum

Teachers in the New Castle public schools who are receiving more than the minimum scale provided for in the Edmonds act will likely be cut back to that minimum next year, if the remarks of the school board members at the regular meeting Wednesday night are indicative of action to be taken in the setting of the budget.

The matter was brought out by A. C. Hyde, who asked if it was true that some teachers were being paid $200 more than the minimum provided for by the Edmonds act. Hyde said: "In some cases we are paying $2300 and $2400 for teachers when the scale calls for $2200. I would like to know if this is the practice."

Mrs. Douthett explained that back in 1920 teachers were scarce, that other districts were enticing teachers from the New Castle school district, and that in order to keep them here some increases in their contract were authorized.

Attorney Roy W. Hazen, a member of the budget committee, explained that this matter had already been given some attention by the committee, and that it was being made the subject of a full investigation.

Police Puzzled, Resume Hunt For Girl's Attackers

HUNT TWO MEN IN SMALL COUPE

Girl Revived For Spell Whispers Two Numbers Of Auto License

(International News Service)

CHARLEROI, Pa., Jan. 14.— With but meager clues in their hands, authorities today doggedly pushed an investigation into the attack on Dorothy May Henrion, 17-year-old high school honor student, who was beaten into unconsciousness by two young hoodlums after she fought off their advances. The girl may die.

The police probe was based on a hunt for a "small coupe" with a license number including the figures "62." They admitted it was a "needle in the haystack" quest.

Had Been Visiting

Dorothy May was waylaid on the street within 100 yards of her home as she was returning there after visiting with a girl friend. The attackers tore the girl's clothes to shreds and her shoes were missing when she stumbled onto a neighbors porch to moan for help and lapse into unconsciousness.

She revived for only a brief time. Then she whispered "A small coupe." Asked how many men beat her, she held up two fingers. She mumbled the figures "62" and then screamed:

"Don't. Don't."

Condition Serious

Doctors fought today to keep the girl alive. Though her body is not badly bruised. Physicians believe she sustained a heavy blow over the heart, probably from the first of one of the assailants. Heart stimulants were being used and her condition was growing more serious.

According to the doctors, she already is blind as the result of the attack.

[illegible] Early And Call It A Day

Under a ruling from the department

One aspect of the case puzzled police, they admitted. The house from which the girl was returning was less than 200 feet from her own home. Traffic on the road was heavy. She was believed to have been waylaid halfway between the two residences. Yet, police said, there was no alarm spread.

School Ruling On Armistice Day

State Says School Can't Dismiss Early And Call It A Day

Under a ruling from the department of public instruction, received at the New Castle school board meeting Wednesday evening, the New Castle schools cannot dismiss early on Armistice day and call it a full day's school. Recently the board decided to have patriotic exercises held in the schools each Armistice day and dismiss early, calling it a full school day.

The letter received from Deputy Superintendent W. M. Dennison, states that the board is permitted to name the days it cares to as holidays, but that no holiday can be counted as a full school day. Thus if the schools dismiss Armistice day, an extra day must be added to the school year.

REPRESSION DINNER PROVES BIG SUCCESS

The Men's Bible class of the First Methodist church, of which Ralph S. Reed is president, were most successful hosts Wednesday evening, when they entertained their members and friends at a "repression" dinner in the church dining room.

A menu of "Dutch" origination and of "Bostonian" style was served, with the members of the class seeing that each person was served in an efficient manner.

Observations In 7th Ward

The string of colored lights and festive display reaching over Wabash avenue from Lafayette street to the end of the avenue, have been removed. The Christmas display was a pretty one and each resident cooperated in making it one of the most striking in the city.

Seen on the streets: Soldier in full uniform on Mahoning avenue, huge truck of used automobile tires on Liberty street, men repairing sewer near railroad crossing on Mahoning avenue, two large truckfuls of Mercer county potatoes.

Abe Levine has a pair of odd looking cuff links which were purchased in 1881 by H. A. Kyle, of Enon Valley, from M. Harris. The links are unusually large, have a glass setting picturing a blue bird in each.

After a desperate scramble lasting several minutes and delighting several onlookers, a dog on West Madison avenue the other day fell into a cellar opening across from the Christian church. He was none the worse for the experience but was scared a bit.

Where do some people have their minds when addressing letters? Lingerlight received a letter yesterday which had been addressed to New York, New York. The letter had made the trip to that far off city and it took four or five days to come back to it's intended destination. Letter Carrier William Woods delivered a letter a short time ago to "Mrs. Inez" on West Clayton street. The sender had forgotten to include the last name "Mrs. Inez Root," but through the carrier's good guessing ability the missive reached the desired place.

Prayer Half Day In Wesleyan Church

Arrangements have been completed among six churches of the city for the January half day of prayer which will be held Friday at 2:30 in the Wesleyan Methodist church, Lyndal street.

The purpose of the service is to unitedly pray for a revival of spirit, in connection with the special evangelistic services being held and to pray for the meetings to be held in the Maitland Primitive Methodist church in February, and also to pray for a city-wide revival during these serious times of unemployment.

Rev. B. J. Hall will be in charge of the afternoon service and Evangelist Robertson will preach in the evening.

More Money Needed For Mayor's Relief

With but a little over $2,000 of a balance remaining in the Mayor's Relief Fund to carry on the work necessary, it is imperative that subscriptions be increased, or that those who have previously subscribed and who have allowed their subscriptions to lapse, pay in their money promptly.

The amount subscribed today amounted to $148, a material increase over the daily contributions of the last few weeks, but still inadequate. Approximately $200 daily is now being spent in relief work. The total subscriptions to date amount to $6,827.17.

The committee has stated that they will be unable to carry on the work when they have used up the balance in the fund, as there is no person on the committee who can afford to make up the deficit, if such a thing occurs.

Renewed effort should be made by all citizens to subscribe as liberally as possible, and in order to accommodate those who would like to subscribe, the subscription blank is again printed.

This may be filled out and either brought or mailed to the office of City Treasurer L. W. McClung, who is treasurer of the fund.

SUBSCRIPTION BLANK

I agree to pay the sum of.....dollars monthly on the first of each month for as many months as funds are needed by the Mayor's Relief Committee and will forward my remittances to L. W. McClung, Treasurer.

I reserve the right to cancel this pledge whenever I find it necessary.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

Prevalence Of Accidents To Children

Dr. Myers Avers Pain Needed In Training Youngster's Training

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University.

We boast about the conquest of diseases among children. We note with pride the lengthening life span which medical science has helped attain. Yet by negligence and ignorance we allow more children to lose their lives by accident than from any other known cause. Almost as many infants under five die from accident as from all kinds of intestinal disorders, and far more than from bronchial pneumonia; and most of all the babies killed by accident are burned or scalded to death, destroyed by automobiles or suffocated. Of all human deaths from mechanical suffocation, 75 per cent are children under five and, of children suffocated, 97 per cent are under a year of age. Infants should be tucked away with care. Those mothers who bravely let the infant "cry it out" in the early years, should make sure he does not smother himself in the bed clothing.

The number of children between five and nine years of age destroyed by accident is more than twice the number killed by diphtheria. At this age range automobiles are the chief cause of accidental deaths. Ranking next in order are burns, drownings, falling, firearms. But children of these ages rarely go swimming. And what are they doing with firearms?

Of children ages 10 to 14, accidents cause more death than tuberculosis and heart diseases together, the two most destructive diseases of this period. Although tuberculosis kills more adolescents than any other disease, accidents kill still more of them. Then we must not overlook the larger numbers of children left temporarily or permanently mental or physical cripples.

Almost the sole cause of death by accident among young children is playing in the street, and carelessly crossing it. Such accidents are not most prevalent on the way to and from school, but during play hours out of school, within a few blocks of the victim's home. Most of such accidental deaths could be prevented if parents, particularly of the intelligentsia, believed in the use of pain to teach young children adequate restraint; if, moreover, they taught the child from the day when he began to toddle never, until within several months of the time he would enter school, to step into the street unaided, making the first offense, and every one thereafter, punishable immediately by bodily pain. If parents of the upper level of intelligence were so to train their children in the early years, other parents, seeing their good works, would turn in and follow them.

The damnable doctrine which in the past decade has swept our country, to the effect that children should be taught safety only by positive suggestion, and that physical pain never should be employed as punishment, has cost many hundreds of lives of young children every year, rendering those escaping alive and uninjured less likely later to avoid death from accident. It may not be too much to say that some writers who, with a fine purpose to be kind and sympathetic toward children, have been doing more than any one has known to slaughter hundreds of children annually.

If we desire to save the children from the hazards of the street, or from being consumed by fire, physical pain is needed to make our teaching effectual. Let us calmly ask ourselves, "What is better, to train the young child with the aid of a little pain on his bare anatomy to stay out of the street or fireplace and be safe from such dangers, or to let his whole body be consumed by a conflagration or his life snuffed out by a passing motor car?"

Here's Quick Way To Break Up a Cold

Makes You Feel Like a New Person Almost Before You Know It

THE thing to do with a cold is to break it up in a hurry—with something you know does the job; not to trifle with a lot of trick ideas and remedies. Colds are too dangerous to experiment with.

Get a box of Hill's Cascara Quinine at any drug store. Take two tablets now. Then follow directions on box. Drink lots of water, too—that's all.

Soon that miserable, aching feeling begins to go. The cold breaks up. The poisons are moved from your system. The world looks like an altogether different place.

Those results come because Hill's goes back to first principles by going to the seat of the trouble. It's not a new-fangled fancy idea but a tried and proved way that's made to do ONE THING WELL: to knock a cold in a jiffy.

Hill's costs only a few cents. Use it for quick relief after everything else you've tried has failed.

Mellon Urges Higher Taxes

Entire Credit Structure Of Country Needs Reinvigorating, Says Mellon

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Higher taxes on incomes both big and little were held by Secretary Mellon Wednesday essential not merely for maintaining unimpaired the credit of the government, but also for reinvigorating the entire credit structure of the country, through a balanced budget.

Appearing before the house Ways and Means committee as the initial witness in hearings to consider new revenue legislation to get Uncle Sam "out of the hole" Mellon made a plea for his tax program which would increase rates substantially to those of the 1924 revenue act. Approval of these rates would increase government revenues $315,000,000 this fiscal year and $920,000,000 next year, according to estimates.

Mellon called for retrenchment of government expenditures declaring that every unnecessary outlay must be eliminated, "just as enforced rigid economy prevails in every home in the land, so must it be observed in every operation of the federal government."

Butler Jurist Is Dead After Six Months Illness

Judge J. O. Campbell, 51, Succumbs At Philadelphia Hospital

BUTLER, Pa., Jan. 14.—Judge James Oliver Campbel of Butler president judge of the fiftieth judicial district died in University hospital, Philadelphia, after a two months' illness. The ailment found expression in persistent hiccoughing, which affected the heart.

Judge Campbell, a son of the late T. Chalmers and Juliette Campbell, was born in Butler October 31, 1880. He was graduated from the Butler high school and received the degree of A. B. from Washington and Jefferson college in 1902. He studied law with his father and was admitted to the Butler county bar in 1907.

Judge Campbell was a member of the general assembly of Pennsylvania in 1915 and 1917, and in 1919 was elected district attorney of Butler county. He resigned this office to accept appointment as first deputy attorney general of Pennsylvania, serving four years from January, 1923.

Elected judge of the Butler county court in November, 1929, Judge Campbell was nearing completion of his second year in that office. He succeeded Judge James M. COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

REVIEW "15'S" GAINS

Troop 15's boys met as usual this week under the leadership of Scoutmaster Sidney Smith and Assistant Scoutmaster Ray Ziegler. The scouts gathered in the First Christian church, their sponsoring organization.

In a troop contest which was run off just recently three boys made remarkable achievements. They were Herman Kitchen, who won first place rank; Robert Ray, who took second place and Ralph Davies who placed third.

Handsome troop service stripes, the pride of every Boy Scout, were given to Robert Keck, Robert Zahniser, James Pherson, Bill Pherson and Walter Conover.

Ralph Davies, one of the most active members of the troop was presented with a special troop service pin.

When the presentations had been made, 30 minutes of patrol stunts kept things moving lively. After the stunt period the meeting ceremoniously adjourned.

During 1931 the troop made rapid strides forward placing second in the recent three months' inter-troop efficiency contest. Only the West Pittsburg boys outscored them. For two years the troop has been city champs in the field meets held here.

James Fox was voted a member of the troop at the meeting.

Round, Davis Cited For 'Distinguished Boy Work' By National Scout Board

Two distinguished medals, the Silver Beaver award of the Boy Scouts, awarded by the National Boy Scouts' executive board to President L. B. Round and Scout Commissioner Ralph F. Davis of the local council for "distinguished service to boyhood," came in today's mails to the Lawrence County council office.

Only a few months ago the local committee on distinguished service awards recommended that Round and Davis be cited for the meritorious contributions they have made to the county's scouting. Today's news brought the approval of this request.

Plan Presentation

Encased in handsome holders, the solid silver emblem represents one of the finest awards the Boy Scouts can confer.

Scout Executive Herbert Horton said the awards will be presented at appropriate exercises to be held in conjunction with the council's 22nd anniversary dinner in the George Washington junior high school cafeteria on February 12.

If it is at all possible, the presentation will be made by some out-of-town member of the Boy Scouts' national executive board. Mr. Horton today began communicating for a member of the board who might be present.

The Silver Beaver award in itself brings honor, but the type of service to boyhood that it symbolizes bespeaks more honor than the badge and blue and white ribbon represents. The blue and white stands for loyalty and seniority.

Since 1922, when the Lawrence County council was formed, Mr. Round has been serving as a councilman. Mr. Davis has been active since 1923. Both have taken a leading role in scout affairs and to them can be given a large amount of credit for the development of the organization.

Two Houses In Rankin Wrecked By Explosion

No Loss Of Life, Young Girl Injured By Flying Brick, Many Hurled From Beds

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 14.—Two dwellings in Rankin, a suburb, were wrecked by a terrific explosion early today.

No one was killed in the blast, cause of which was not immediately established, according to authorities of Rankin and Swissvale, adjoining borough.

Mary Festa, 16, who lived in a house adjoining that in which the explosion occurred, was injured by a flying brick.

Police who rushed to the scene said examination of the wreckage convinced them no one had been buried in debris which was strewn through the street, blocking trolley traffic.

Occupants of nearby buildings were hurled from their beds by the blast, windows were shattered and the entire section was aroused.

Police, who estimated damage at about $15,000, believed the explosion resulted from a gas leak, although the theory was not immediately confirmed.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

Police Puzzled, Resume Hunt For Girl's Attackers

HUNT TWO MEN IN SMALL COUPE

(International News Service)

CHARLEROI, Pa., Jan. 14.— With but meager clues in their hands, authorities today doggedly pushed an investigation into the attack on Dorothy May Henrion, 17-year-old high school honor student, who was beaten into unconsciousness by two young hoodlums after she fought off their advances. The girl may die.

The police probe was based on a hunt for a "small coupe" with a license number including the figures "62." They admitted it was a "needle in the haystack" quest.

Had Been Visiting

Dorothy May was waylaid on the street within 100 yards of her home as she was returning there after visiting with a girl friend. The attackers tore the girl's clothes to shreds and her shoes were missing when she stumbled onto a neighbors porch to moan for help and lapse into unconsciousness.

She revived for only a brief time. Then she whispered "A small coupe." Asked how many men beat her, she held up two fingers. She mumbled the figures "62" and then screamed:

"Don't. Don't."

Condition Serious

Doctors fought today to keep the girl alive. Though her body is not badly bruised. Physicians believe she sustained a heavy blow over the heart, probably from the first of one of the assailants. Heart stimulants were being used and her condition was growing more serious.

According to the doctors, she already is blind as the result of the attack.

Miss Henrion was an honor student in her class. She was known as a quiet type and made few friends, even among girls. She virtually had no boy friends.

One aspect of the case puzzled police, they admitted. The house from which the girl was returning was less than 200 feet from her own home. Traffic on the road was heavy. She was believed to have been waylaid halfway between the two residences. Yet, police said, there was no alarm spread.

School Ruling On Armistice Day

State Says School Can't Dismiss Early And Call It A Day

Under a ruling from the department of public instruction, received at the New Castle school board meeting Wednesday evening, the New Castle schools cannot dismiss early on Armistice day and call it a full day's school. Recently the board decided to have patriotic exercises held in the schools each Armistice day and dismiss early, calling it a full school day.

The letter received from Deputy Superintendent W. M. Dennison, states that the board is permitted to name the days it cares to as holidays, but that no holiday can be counted as a full school day. Thus if the schools dismiss Armistice day, an extra day must be added to the school year.

REPRESSION DINNER PROVES BIG SUCCESS

The Men's Bible class of the First Methodist church, of which Ralph S. Reed is president, were most successful hosts Wednesday evening, when they entertained their members and friends at a "repression" dinner in the church dining room.

A menu of "Dutch" origination and of "Bostonian" style was served, with the members of the class seeing that each person was served in an efficient manner.

Graham Johnson and Will Huston of Akron, Ohio, will spend next week-end with local friends and relatives.

Mrs. Arlie Nelson, of Oil City, is spending today with friends in seventh ward.

Observations In 7th Ward

The string of colored lights and festive display reaching over Wabash avenue from Lafayette street to the end of the avenue, have been removed. The Christmas display was a pretty one and each resident cooperated in making it one of the most striking in the city.

Seen on the streets: Soldier in full uniform on Mahoning avenue, huge truck of used automobile tires on Liberty street, men repairing sewer near railroad crossing on Mahoning avenue, two large truckfuls of Mercer county potatoes.

Abe Levine has a pair of odd looking cuff links which were purchased in 1881 by H. A. Kyle, of Enon Valley, from M. Harris. The links are unusually large, have a glass setting picturing a blue bird in each.

After a desperate scramble lasting several minutes and delighting several onlookers, a dog on West Madison avenue the other day fell into a cellar opening across from the Christian church. He was none the worse for the experience but was scared a bit.

Where do some people have their minds when addressing letters? Lingerlight received a letter yesterday which had been addressed to New York, New York. The letter had made the trip to that far off city and it took four or five days to come back to it's intended destination. Letter Carrier William Woods delivered a letter a short time ago to "Mrs. Inez" on West Clayton street. The sender had forgotten to include the last name "Mrs. Inez Root," but through the carrier's good guessing ability the missive reached the desired place.

The purpose of the service is to unitedly pray for a revival of spirit, in connection with the special evangelistic services being held and to pray for the meetings to be held in the Maitland Primitive Methodist church in February, and also to pray for a city-wide revival during these serious times of unemployment.

Rev. B. J. Hall will be in charge of the afternoon service and Evangelist Robertson will preach in the evening.

More Money Needed For Mayor's Relief

With but a little over $2,000 of a balance remaining in the Mayor's Relief Fund to carry on the work necessary, it is imperative that subscriptions be increased, or that those who have previously subscribed and who have allowed their subscriptions to lapse, pay in their money promptly.

The amount subscribed today amounted to $148, a material increase over the daily contributions of the last few weeks, but still inadequate. Approximately $200 daily is now being spent in relief work. The total subscriptions to date amount to $6,827.17.

The committee has stated that they will be unable to carry on the work when they have used up the balance in the fund, as there is no person on the committee who can afford to make up the deficit, if such a thing occurs.

Renewed effort should be made by all citizens to subscribe as liberally as possible, and in order to accommodate those who would like to subscribe, the subscription blank is again printed.

This may be filled out and either brought or mailed to the office of City Treasurer L. W. McClung, who is treasurer of the fund.

SUBSCRIPTION BLANK

I agree to pay the sum of.....dollars monthly on the first of each month for as many months as funds are needed by the Mayor's Relief Committee and will forward my remittances to L. W. McClung, Treasurer.

I reserve the right to cancel this pledge whenever I find it necessary.

Treatment Of Leg Ill Successful

Doctor Lauds Injection Method For Varicose Veins

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

A reader writes to ask about the possibilities of curing varicose veins.

It may be said with confidence that most cases of this affliction are curable with the modern method of injecting the veins. Formerly the only methods of treating the condition were surgical, requiring a more or less prolonged stay in bed in the hospital. Nor were the results by any means satisfactory. If surgery was not employed, the only treatment was by elastic supports to the leg, which were troublesome and time consuming, and besides held out no hope of a permanent cure.

Today the injection treatment has been used over a sufficiently long period of time that it can be recommended to all who seek relief. If any sufferer with this disease has not heard of this method of treatment and does so through this article, it will not have been written needlessly.

In any surgical clinic today one may see a number of these patients who have received the treatment. I have seen one woman who had an ulcer on the leg, resulting from varicose veins, for 28 years. Her life had gradually narrowed down to the point where she did virtually nothing else but dress and care for the ulcer. She had been treated by lights and salves and every known form of treatment. Yet a month after the veins were injected the ulcer was nearly healed and she was comfortable and happy in her return to an almost normal life.

Itt is not difficult to imagine the happiness of this woman who had for all those years tried vainly to heal up this ugly spreading sore. No wonder she thought healing was impossible. While that is the longest period I have heard of the existence of an ulcer which responded to treatment, similar cases are common enough.

The treatment is by injection in the veins of a solution which obliterates them. The subsequent healing of the skin disease is due to improved nutrition, from better circulation.

The treatment must, of course, be carried out by a physician. The method has become so widely known, however, that in any community in the United States today, such treatment can be obtained.

The results have been sufficiently studied over a long enough period of time that we can be quite definite in any individual case as to what may be expected. There are some failures, but the majority of cases respond favorably. Even magically.

The injection can be done in the doctor's office. People who are at work, such as barbers and beauty parlor operatives and clerks (people particularly liable to varicose veins because they spend so much time on their feet), can have a treatment during the noon hour and go back to work safely in the afternoon.

LOOKING BACK

IN NEW CASTLE

What was probably the first occasion on which an attempt was made to place Washington street in proper condition as a business street and make it available in all seasons of the year for the traffic of the old days, is found to have been made in 1853. The improvement of the street consisted of planking to be used in keeping the vehicles of the day out of the mud. It is recorded that in that year, the contract for planking Washington street between the Neshannock creek and the Shenango river was awarded to Joseph and David Emery, for $1,600, quite a difference from the cost of modern paving which, however, is much more efficient. Under the contract, Joseph and David Emery were required to make two tracks between the points designated, each to be nine feet in width. The contract for the planking of a portion of Jefferson street with a single track was also awarded the same year to the same parties.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14—The tanker Sylvan Arrow and the freighter Katrina Luckenbach were safely anchored to buoys in Ambrose channel today following a collision between the two vessels in a heavy fog in the channel.

No loss of life occurred, but both ships were damaged.

Before the Luckenbach reached its present anchorage, freight was unloaded from it to barges to keep the vessel afloat.

The Age of FAT Need No Longer Be Feared

Soon after 30, multitudes of people gain excess fat. Many at earlier ages. A great reason lies in a weakened gland, which largely controls nutrition. Food that should create fuel and energy goes to fat.

Since this discovery, doctors the world over feed this gland factor to the over-fat. Slender figures all around you are due to this method now.

In Tablet Form

Marmola prescription tablets present this new-day method in ideal form. A famous laboratory prepares them to fit the average case. People have used them for 24 years—millions of boxes of them. The results are seen in every circle. Those slender figures, now so common, are not due to starving.

Every box contains the formula. So users know, and doctors know, just how Marmola acts. You are taking in Marmola what the best physicians use.

Fight fat in this modern way. Combat the cause. Take Marmola—four tablets daily—until weight comes down to normal. As the fat goes, watch your vim come back. Then tell your friends what did it. Don't wait longer—start this right way now.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

Prevalence Of Accidents To Children

Dr. Myers Avers Pain Needed In Training Youngster's Training

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University.

We boast about the conquest of diseases among children. We note with pride the lengthening life span which medical science has helped attain. Yet by negligence and ignorance we allow more children to lose their lives by accident than from any other known cause. Almost as many infants under five die from accident as from all kinds of intestinal disorders, and far more than from bronchial pneumonia; and most of all the babies killed by accident are burned or scalded to death, destroyed by automobiles or suffocated. Of all human deaths from mechanical suffocation, 75 per cent are children under five and, of children suffocated, 97 per cent are under a year of age. Infants should be tucked away with care. Those mothers who bravely let the infant "cry it out" in the early years, should make sure he does not smother himself in the bed clothing.

The number of children between five and nine years of age destroyed by accident is more than twice the number killed by diphtheria. At this age range automobiles are the chief cause of accidental deaths. Ranking next in order are burns, drownings, falling, firearms. But children of these ages rarely go swimming. And what are they doing with firearms?

Of children ages 10 to 14, accidents cause more death than tuberculosis and heart diseases together, the two most destructive diseases of this period. Although tuberculosis kills more adolescents than any other disease accidents kill still more of them. Then we must not overlook the larger numbers of children left temporarily or permanently mental or physical cripples.

Almost the sole cause of death by accident among young children is playing in the street, and carelessly crossing it. Such accidents are not most prevalent on the way to and from school, but during play hours out of school, within a few blocks of the victim's home. Most of such accidental deaths could be prevented if parents, particularly of the intelligentsia, believed in the use of pain to teach young children adequate restraint; if, moreover, they taught the child from the day when he began to toddle never, until within several months of the time he would enter school, to step into the street unaided, making the first offense, and every one thereafter, punishable immediately by bodily pain. If parents of the upper level of intelligence were so to train their children in the early years, other parents, seeing their good works, would turn in and follow them.

The damnable doctrine which in the past decade has swept our country, to the effect that children should be taught safety only by positive suggestion, and that physical pain never should be employed as punishment, has cost many hundreds of lives of young children every year, rendering those escaping alive and uninjured less likely later to avoid death from accident. It may not be too much to say that some writers who, with a fine purpose to be kind and sympathetic toward children, have been doing more than any one has known to slaughter hundreds of children annually.

If we desire to save the children from the hazards of the street, or from being consumed by fire, physical pain is needed to make our teaching effectual. Let us calmly ask ourselves, "What is better, to train the young child with the aid of a little pain on his bare anatomy to stay out of the street or fireplace and be safe from such dangers, or to let his whole body be consumed by a conflagration or his life snuffed out by a passing motor car?"

Those results come because Hill's goes back to first principles by going to the seat of the trouble. It's not a new-fangled fancy idea but a tried and proved way that's made to do ONE THING WELL: to knock a cold in a jiffy.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Higher taxes on incomes both big and little were held by Secretary Mellon Wednesday essential not merely for maintaining unimpaired the credit of the government, but also for reinvigorating the entire credit structure of the country, through a balanced budget.

Appearing before the house Ways and Means committee as the initial witness in hearings to consider new revenue legislation to get Uncle Sam "out of the hole" Mellon made a plea for his tax program which would increase rates substantially to those of the 1924 revenue act. Approval of these rates would increase government revenues $315,000,000 this fiscal year and $920,000,000 next year, according to estimates.

Mellon called for retrenchment of government expenditures declaring that every unnecessary outlay must be eliminated, "just as enforced rigid economy prevails in every home in the land, so must it be observed in every operation of the federal government."

Judge J. O. Campbell, 51, Succumbs At Philadelphia Hospital

BUTLER, Pa., Jan. 14.—Judge James Oliver Campbell of Butler president judge of the fiftieth judicial district died in University hospital, Philadelphia, after a two months' illness. The ailment found expression in persistent hiccoughing, which affected the heart.

Judge Campbell, a son of the late T. Chalmers and Juliette Campbell, was born in Butler October 31, 1860. He was graduated from the Butler high school and received the degree of A. B. from Washington and Jefferson college in 1902. He studied law with his father and was admitted to the Butler county bar in 1907.

Judge Campbell was a member of the general assembly of Pennsylvania in 1915 and 1917, and in 1919 was elected district attorney of Butler county. He resigned this office to accept appointment as first deputy attorney general of Pennsylvania, serving four years from January, 1923.

Elected judge of the Butler county court in November, 1929, Judge Campbell was nearing completion of his second year in that office. He succeeded Judge James M. Galbreath, who had served a ten-year term as judge, and who was appointed by the governor to complete the unexpired term of the late John R. Henninger, who died in 1928.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Assailing Admiral Pratt's statement regarding the present situation in Hawaii as inflammatory and defamatory, and designating the "reign of terror" as a gross exaggeration, Victor S. K. Asks To Lease Martin Gantz School Site

In behalf of a client, W. M. Nunn appeared before the school board Wednesday evening and asked that the school property on Jefferson street, a part of the old Martin Gantz property be leased for a monthly rental of $50 per month. He explained that his client would erect a building which would be charged off in five years, but that if the board wanted to use the property at any time within five years it should recompense his client for part of the loss.

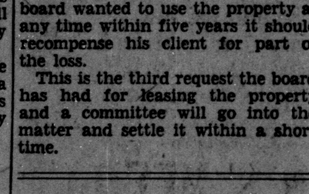

This is the third request the board has had for leasing the property and a committee will go into the matter and settle it within a short time.

Deafness and Head Noises From Catarrh

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises caused by catarrh, if your nostrils are clogged or if phlegm drops in your throat causing catarrh of the stomach or bowels, secure proper treatment at once. Otherwise you may lose your health, become a wornout catarrhal wreck with your smell, taste and hearing completely gone.

Sprays, salves and inhalers may bring you temporary relief, but permanent escape from this dangerous, health-sapping, disgusting disease can only come from a constitutional treatment that will expel the catarrhal poison from your system. So go to New Castle Drug, Eckerd's or your druggist today for an ounce of Parmint, take this home and add to it a little sugar and ½ pint hot water. A tablespoonful taken four times a day will act upon the blood and mucous membrane and bring relief.

Think what it will mean to breathe freely again, to hear plainly, smell, taste, and arise in the morning refreshed and strong, with clear head and throat free from phlegm. Certainly you cannot enjoy or benefit from life so long as you are afflicted with catarrh. So for your own sake give Parmint a trial—start treatment today.

Round, Davis Cited For 'Distinguished Boy Work' By National Scout Board

Two distinguished medals, the Silver Beaver award of the Boy Scouts, awarded by the National Boy Scouts' executive board to President L. B. Round and Scout Commissioner Ralph F. Davis of the local council for "distinguished service to boyhood," came in today's mails to the Lawrence County council office.

Only a few months ago the local committee on distinguished service awards recommended that Round and Davis be cited for the meritorious contributions they have made to the county's scouting. Today's news brought the approval of this request.

Plan Presentation

Encased in handsome holders, the solid silver emblem represents one of the finest awards the Boy Scouts can confer.

Scout Executive Herbert Horton said the awards will be presented at appropriate exercises to be held in conjunction with the council's 22nd anniversary dinner in the George Washington junior high school cafeteria on February 12.

If it is at all possible, the presentation will be made by some out-of-town member of the Boy Scouts' national executive board. Mr. Horton today began communicating for a member of the board who might be present.

The Silver Beaver award in itself brings honor, but the type of service to boyhood that it symbolizes bespeaks more honor than the badge and blue and white ribbon represents. The blue and white stands for loyalty and seniority.

Since 1922, when the Lawrence County council was formed, Mr. Round has been serving as a councilman. Mr. Davis has been active since 1923. Both have taken a leading role in scout affairs and to them can be given a large amount of credit for the development of the organization.

Two Houses In Rankin Wrecked By Explosion

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 14.—Two dwellings in Rankin, a suburb, were wrecked by a terrific explosion early today.

No one was killed in the blast, cause of which was not immediately established, according to authorities of Rankin and Swissvale, adjoining borough.

Mary Festa, 16, who lived in a house adjoining that in which the explosion occurred, was injured by a flying brick.

Police who rushed to the scene said examination of the wreckage convinced them no one had been buried in debris which was strewn through the street, blocking trolley traffic.

Occupants of nearby buildings were hurled from their beds by the blast, windows were shattered and the entire section was aroused.

Police, who estimated damage at about $15,000, believed the explosion resulted from a gas leak, although the theory was not immediately confirmed.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

News Of The World As Told In Pictures

1931—Year of Triumph For Progressive Women

* * * * * * *

Though the Old Year Died Unmourned, It Brought Many Honors to the Banner of Feminism.

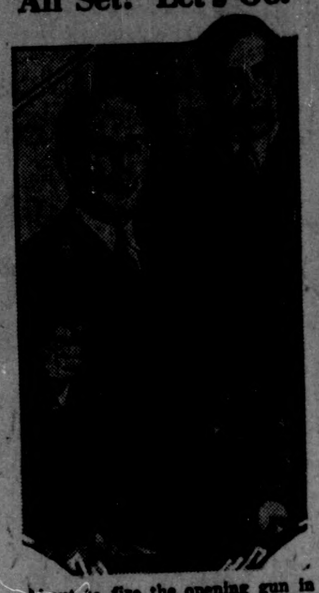

The year to which we recently bade an unregretful adieu had its faults, from a business viewpoint, but it will be remembered affectionately by women as the year when the world began to show its recognition of her equality with men in the many fields of endeavor. Among the honors showered on womanhood in 1931, was the award of the Nobel Peace Prize to Jane Addams, beloved social worker and founder of Hull House, Chicago; the appointment of Miss Mary Wooley, of Mount Holyoke College, to be a delegate to the Disarmament Conference at Geneva—the only woman ever to be entrusted with such an important international role. In literature, the award of the coveted Pulitzer Prize to Margaret Ayer Barnes for her novel "Years of Grace," added more laurels to feminine achievement, as did the bestowal of the Henry Draper Medal to Dr. Anne Julep Cannon, for her astronomical investigations at Harvard University. Then among the 35 women appointed by President Hoover to serve on 26 commissions, Ada Louise Comstock stands out as the only woman member of the famous Wickersham Commission. In the political arena, Mrs. Hattie Caraway brought glory to her sex, in that she is the only woman member of the United States Senate, having been appointed to fill the unexpired term of her late husband, Senator Thaddeus Caraway of Arkansas. So though we may consider 1931 "well gone," it can be looked back upon by women as a banner year.

GOLF CHAMP AND WIFE IN HAVANA

Off to the races are Billy Burke, national open golf champion, and Mrs. Burke, shown arriving on their vacation in Havana, Cuba, where racing season is now under way.

All Set? Let's Go!

About to fire the opening gun in the Democratic Presidential campaign, John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, is shown with Jouette Shouse, a member of the executive committee, as Raskob called the meeting of leaders to order at Washington, D. C. Chicago, also the Republican rendezvous, was chosen as the 1932 convention city.

Elite in South Show Summer Styles

While fur coats and galoshes constitute the costume of the moment in the frigid North, the Winter colony in the sunny South is disporting itself in raiment that we associate with June, July and August. This is the season when fashion history is made, for what is being worn down amid the palms today will be all the vogue in northern climes next Summer. Here are some of society's smartest, pictured at Palm Beach, Fla., garbed in the styles of the minute. Left is Mrs. John Barry Ryan, daughter of Otto H. Kahn, international financier, in a simple but distinctive street dress of printed silk. Mrs. Frederick Johnson (second from left), prominent New York society matron, is shown wearing a neat linen frock with a chic little jacquette. Second from right is Mrs. Harrison Williams, of New York, called society's best-dressed woman, in a volumnous striped jersey-sweater. Note the rakishly tied scarf. Extreme right is Mrs. Baldwin Brown, New York, who favors this close-knit woolen costume for motoring. Mrs. Brown is carrying the latest thing in pocketbooks. All favor two-color shoes.

Charming 'Daughter of the Air'

The personification of grace, poise and beauty is Miss Rosamond Pierce, Boston society debutante, pictured above as "Daughter of the Air," the role she is playing in the musical comedy "Mania," presented at Boston by a group of prominent society folk. Miss Pierce is the premier danseuse of the production, which was written by a Brookline member of the elite. The entire cast is made up of social registerites.

Confessed Slaying

Because, according to his confession, he wanted an automobile to go and see his sick mother, Stanley Wismer, 14-year-old farm hand at Doylestown, Pa., shot and killed Elmer D. Bartholomew, a farmer. The boy, shown above after his arrest, said he did the shooting with a .22-caliber rifle.

Led to Speakership

This "J. N. Garner for congress" button led Speaker John Garner to the house of representatives 30 years ago as the congressman from the Fifteenth Texas district. A friend recently sent the Democratic chieftain the button to remind him of the first race for the seat he has held ever since.

Principals in "Honor Slaying"

MRS. GRANVILLE FORTESCUE. MRS. THALIA MASSIE.

LIEUT. THOMAS H. MASSIE. JOSEPH KAHAHAWAI.

Here are four of the principals in the Honolulu "honor-slaying" which has aroused world-wide interest. Joseph Kahahawai, native Hawaiian, accused with four other countrymen of a criminal attack on Mrs. Thalia Massie, was kidnaped and slain while out on bail, pending a second trial for the offense, the jury having disagreed at the first trial, despite Mrs. Massie's identification of the accused men. Mrs. Granville Fortescue, her mother, and Lieutenant Thomas Massie, U. S. N., her husband, are under arrest, together with two enlisted men, charged with the slaying. Racial feeling ran so high in Honolulu that the accused Americans were held aboard the U. S. S. Alton. The men have waived their right to a naval court martial and will stand a civil trial with Mrs. Fortescue, thus chivalrously placing themselves in further jeopardy.

THEY'RE BOTH FIGHTING FOR CHINA

This photograph, one of the first to be made in the Chinese ranks on the Manchurian front, shows the difference between two types of Chinese soldiers. The soldier at left is the Caucasian type, while his companion is true Asiatic. Both are with Chinese troops at Tien Chuan Tai, furthermost outpost on the Tahushan defense.

LOVELY OR USEFUL PIECES OF DECORATIVE ART BRIGHTEN UP CORNERS

Lovely and useful pieces of decorative art may be picked up at bargain prices in the stores these days of inventory taking. All serve some useful purpose, if no more than to brighten up a corner "where they are." A few of them are pictured: 1, is a modernistic smoking stand with chromium metal tubing; 2, lovely bronze head, which may be used as one of a pair of bookends, as an ash receiver or incense burner; 3, is a statuette which dresses up the telephone; 4, two Chinese rice paper prints; 5, three small vases of Copenhagen porcelain; 6, two occasional tables; 7, graceful terra cotta animals; 8, Dura silver alloy electric alarm clock.

Society Derbyite

Standing by her plane awaiting the word to go, Mrs. Betty Huyler Gillies, society aviatrix, is shown just before she took off from Hicksville, L. I., Country Club in the easy stage air derby to Miami, Fla. Forty planes, piloted by members of the Amateur Air Pilots' Association, participated in the race. Eight of the ships were flown by women.

With Chinese on Manchurian Front

Treatment Of Leg Ill Successful

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

A reader writes to ask about the possibilities of curing varicose veins.

It may be said with confidence that most cases of this affliction are curable with the modern method of injecting the veins. Formerly the only methods of treating the condition were surgical, requiring a more or less prolonged stay in bed in the hospital. Nor were the results by any means satisfactory. If surgery was not employed, the only treatment was by elastic supports to the leg, which were troublesome and time consuming, and besides held out no hope of a permanent cure.

Today the injection treatment has been used over a sufficiently long period of time that it can be recommended to all who seek relief. If any sufferer with this disease has not heard of this method of treatment and does so through this article, it will not have been written needlessly.

In any surgical clinic today one may see a number of these patients who have received the treatment. I have seen one woman who had an ulcer on the leg, resulting from varicose veins, for 28 years. Her life had gradually narrowed down to the point where she did virtually nothing else but dress and care for the ulcer. She had been treated by lights and salves and every known form of treatment. Yet a month after the veins were injected the ulcer was nearly healed and she was comfortable and happy in her return to an almost normal life.

Itt is not difficult to imagine the happiness of this woman who had for all those years tried vainly to heal up this ugly spreading sore. No wonder she thought healing was impossible. While that is the longest period I have heard of the existence of an ulcer which responded to treatment, similar cases are common enough.

The treatment is by injection in the veins of a solution which obliterates them. The subsequent healing of the skin disease is due to improved nutrition, from better circulation.

The treatment must, of course, be carried out by a physician. The method has become so widely known, however, that in any community in the United States today, such treatment can be obtained.

The results have been sufficiently studied over a long enough period of time that we can be quite definite in any individual case as to what may be expected. There are some failures, but the majority of cases respond favorably. Even magically.

The injection can be done in the doctor's office. People who are at work, such as barbers and beauty parlor operatives and clerks (people particularly liable to varicose veins because they spend so much time on their feet), can have a treatment during the noon hour and go back to work safely in the afternoon.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Six pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

LOOKING BACK

IN NEW CASTLE

What was probably the first occasion on which an attempt was made to place Washington street in proper condition as a business street and make it available in all seasons of the year for the traffic of the old days, is found to have been made in 1853. The improvement of the street consisted of planking to be used in keeping the vehicles of the day out of the mud. It is recorded that in that year, the contract for planking Washington street between the Neshannock creek and the Shenango river was awarded to Joseph and David Emery, for $1,600, quite a difference from the cost of modern paving which, however, is much more efficient. Under the contract, Joseph and David Emery were required to make two tracks between the points designated, each to be nine feet in width. The contract for the planking of a portion of Jefferson street with a single track was also awarded the same year to the same parties.

The Age of FAT Need No Longer Be Feared

Soon after 30, multitudes of people gain excess fat. Many at earlier ages. A great reason lies in a weakened gland, which largely controls nutrition. Food that should create fuel and energy goes to fat.

Since this discovery, doctors the world over feed this gland factor to the over-fat. Slender figures all around you are due to this method now.

In Tablet Form

Marmola prescription tablets present this new-day method in ideal form. A famous laboratory prepares them to fit the average case. People have used them for 24 years—millions of boxes of them. The results are seen in every circle. Those slender figures, now so common, are not due to starving.

Every box contains the formula. So users know, and doctors know, just how Marmola acts. You are taking in Marmola what the best physicians use.

Fight fat in this modern way. Combat the cause. Take Marmola—four tablets daily—until weight comes down to normal. As the fat goes, watch your vim come back. Then tell your friends what did it. Don't wait longer—start this right way now.

School Board Takes Action On Athletics

Committee Named To Put Athletic Council On Business Like Basis

HOLD UP PAYMENT OF ALL SALARIES

Athletic Council Submits Proposals To Help Solve Present Difficulty

Following a discussion which lasted for about an hour and a half, the New Castle School Board passed two motions Wednesday evening concerning the Athletic Council. One is that a committee will be appointed from the board to put the Athletic Council back on a business basis, and the other is that at the present time no salaries be paid from moneys in the athletic treasury while there are bills for equipment outstanding.

The matter came before the board when President Woolcock asked for action on the monthly financial statement of the athletic council. This statement shows a net deficit of $3877.44, exclusive of petty cash or salaries due. The statement shows $968.17 on hand less $11 expense for the Ellwood basketball game.

Asks Bills Be Paid

The athletic council held a meeting on Wednesday afternoon and decided to ask the board of directors to take over the deficit and to pay salaries and bills due. The latter request brought on a discussion as to whether any salaries should be paid while there are bills pending for equipment and supplies.

Said J. Herbert McIlvenny, "I believe we should pay bills due merchants before we pay salaries due. The salaried employes can surely wait until such time as the board can work out a program in this matter."

Attorney Roy W. Hazen said, "We will have to have an opinion from our solicitor in this matter as to what we can do and I think we should hold up for a time in this matter. As to the money in hand it should be applied on bills for merchandise."

A. C. Hyde: "If the board took over the deficit of the athletic council, the money would only be loaned and would be paid back later."

J. H. McIlvenny, "I would like to get some idea as to how our cost of athletics compares with that of other cities our size. If there must be a deficit in athletics then we should have all the facts and have some control over the expenditure of the moneys.

Light Bill

Mr. Hyde then brought up the matter of a bill due the Giant Company for additional lights on Taggart Field. The total bill amounted to about $750 but he said the company would settle for a ten per cent discount for cash immediately. He moved that this be done but Dr. Cleland asked if it would be fair to take most of the available money to pay a bill which was not really due for several months yet, under an agreement, when some local merchants were asking for settlement of their accounts. The motion was defeated.

Mr. McIlvenny then moved that the board authorize the payment of as many bills as the money on hand would pay, and that for the present no athletic salaries be paid out of the funds on hand. This motion passed.

The board then considered a communication from the athletic council in which this body presented a suggested solution of the difficulties the council finds itself in.

Communication of Council

The communication follows:

To The Board of Education
School District of the City of
New Castle, Pa.

Ladies and Gentlemen:

As per a statement of the Athletic Council as presented to you at a meeting of the Board in December showing a deficit in our financial condition for the current school year, the Athletic Council respectfully asks the Board of Education, if in the judgment of the latter they can find a way of doing so, of taking care of our unpaid obligations, under the following conditions:

1—That in case the Board does so, the Athletic Council shall pay to the Board 20 percent of their net receipts after each home football game until such time as the above obligations have been paid in full.

(A) The net receipts of games shall be the balance after the necessary expenses of the game, an amount not to exceed $175 per game and also the guarantees to visiting teams shall have been paid.

(B) If a spring football game is played it is felt that any proceeds from it should be used to defray the expenses of spring football practice and for a football camp next fall, as it is felt that with so many of the football boys graduating this spring, it will be very necessary to have our football camp.

2—That the Athletic Council shall pledge itself to conduct all branches of athletics in the most economical manner possible until such time as these obligations have been met so that a contingent fund has been built up which in the judgement of the Board and the Athletic Council will be ample to take care of such a condition as has arisen during the current season.

3—In case there is any balance in the funds of the Athletic Council over and above an amount necessary to take care of a football camp next fall, it shall be paid into the school funds to be applied to such obligation.

4—That the Athletic Council shall present to the Board of Education a complete financial statement showing our exact standing at the close of each calendar month.

5—That the Athletic Council will accept any suggestions that the Board of Education may have to offer relative to the conduct and management of athletics of the Senior High School, in any shape or manner.

Approved for submission to Board of Education at meeting of the Athletic Council, Wednesday, January 13, 1932.

Signed:
F. L. ORTH
President A. A.
RALPH H. GARDNER
Secretary A. A.

This matter was considered and President Woolcock suggested that a committee should be appointed to go into every detail of the athletic council in an effort to re-establish the council on a firm financial basis. In this connection he said "I am convinced that Mr. Gardner is making an earnest, conscientious effort to co-operate with the board of school directors in this matter and wants to put the council on a firm basis."

The committee will be appointed and the proposal of the athletic council considered.

Favor Revision Of Edmonds Act

BELIEVE BOARD SHOULD HAVE SAY

Members of the New Castle School Board expressed themselves as being opposed to the Edmonds Act and favoring a revision of the act which would give local school boards some latitude in the matter of salaries and government of schools, Wednesday evening at the regular monthly board meeting.

The expression on the Edmonds Act came when a letter was received from Robert E. Larrimee, Superintendent of Altoona Schools asking that Dr. C. C. Green be sent to Harrisburg to attend a conference of superintendents of second class school districts to discuss the possibilities of some reform in school laws.

Dr. Green To Go

The board authorized Dr. Green to go to the conference and in discussing the proposal Mrs. J. C. B. Douthett said, "I believe this board should go on record as favoring an amendment to the Edmonds Act to make it possible to effect a reduction in salaries."

It was suggested that Uniontown was effecting a 20 per cent reduction in teachers' but this was explained that the teachers themselves are preparing to return 20 per cent of their salaries for the last five months of the school year. There is a question as to the legality of this procedure as the Edmonds Act is stringent in its provisions.

J. Herbert McIlvenny brought out the fact that the board was restricted at every turn from any reductions and has asked that the course of the Uniontown teachers be watched to see if such an arrangement could be held as legal.

At the same time it was voted to send W. W. Duff and Roy W. Hazen to the School Directors' convention in Harrisburg on February 3-4 with instructions to work for action upon the part of the convention leading to some reform in the school law. Mr. Hyde moved their being sent in and said that he felt the board would stand back of the delegates in any legislation they cared to suggest that would lead to some relief in the matter of restrictions in the school law.

NEGRO SLAYER OF GIRL AS ROCKVIEW IS SULLEN TODAY

tiary, Deputy Warden MacFarland and Rev. W. J. Claudy, general superintendent of Rockview prison, meanwhile resumed their investigation into the brutal attack and murder.

Findings of the investigators, May said, will largely determine what action will be taken by the prison board.

In Solitary Confinement

Pittsburgh, Jan. 14.—Sullenly silent, Fred Collins, 37-year-old negro, was held in solitary confinement in Western State penitentiary here today while prison officials and Centre county authorities completed an investigation into the assault and murder of Betty Hickock, 22, daughter of Dr. Asa L. Hickock, psychiatrist at the Rockview state prison farm at Bellefonte, yesterday.

The girl was overpowered in the bathroom of her home at the farm by Collins, who stabbed her to death after assaulting her, because of jealousy over acts of kindness she had done other prisoners.

Heavily Guarded

Collins, who surrendered himself to Rockview officials a short time after the slaying, was rushed to the penitentiary here last night under a heavy guard of state troopers.

He was hustled to a solitary cell while officials ordered the prison gates closed and declined to permit questioning of the prisoner, a patient of the girl's father.

Collins, who had been assigned to work about the Hickock home and the prison farm yard by Dr. Hickock, had been under mental treatment for the past four years.

A native of Shippensburg, he was sentenced to Rockview, according to penitentiary records, by Judge George Baldwin, in Beaver county, on June 25, 1924. He had been convicted of second degree murder charges in connection with the axe murder of Floyd Morgan, Beaver Falls merchant, in 1923.

Undecided on Action

Meantime Warden Stanley Ashe of the Western penitentiary and authorities of Centre county, where the prison farm is located, sought to determine what action will be taken against Collins. Warden Ashe, who hurried to Bellefonte immediately on being notified of the murder, remained there to confer with local officials.

He indicated first degree murder charges will not be lodged against Collins because he is a psychiopathic case. Preliminary conferences with Centre county authorities, it was learned at the Western penitentiary, call for appointment of a commission by the Center county court to determine Collins' sanity. If he is found insane, officials said, he will probably be committed to the Fairview hospital in Wayne county.

Hold Inquest

An inquest hurriedly called by Coroner W. R. Heaton of Centre county was held in the death chamber at the Bellefonte prison as soon as Warden Ashe arrived there. The coroner's jury held Collins responsible for the murder and declared it was "premeditated, growing out of a spirit of revenge and jealousy".

Prison officials who questioned Collins said the negro told them he had become enraged at Miss Hickock through jealousy of Henry Malone, another negro trusty at the prison farm, who had received many kindnesses from Miss Hickock.

Malone, who was shaving in the basement of the Hickock home, said he knew nothing of the murder until officials from the main prison arrived at the farm.

Gives Self Up

Collins, after the attack and stabbing, walked to the prison proper and calmly informed officials there that he had "killed a girl".

After questioning he was rushed to a cell while prison authorities hurried to the Hickock home, where they found Miss Hickock dead on the bathroom floor. Warden Ashe and Coroner Heaton were summoned immediately, while officials clamped down a lid of silence. Details of the murder were not revealed until several hours later.

Dr. Hickock, who had been visiting in Harrisburg, hurried back to Bellefonte as soon as he was informed of the slaying.

He had considered Collins "safe", he told authorities, despite his psychopathic tendencies, and was at a loss to account for the savage attack and murder.

Collins, Dr. Hickock said, had apparently "thought the world" of the Hickock family. He was "an excellent worker, quiet and polite," according to the psychiatrist.

Definite announcement of action to be taken against Collins was to be made at Bellefonte today, where Warden Ashe remained over night to complete the probe into the murder.

Warden Ashe announced that funeral services for the slain girl will be held at the prison chapel Saturday morning. According to preliminary plans, Warden Ashe and many prison officials will attend.

The body will then be taken to Meshoppen, Wyoming county, and interred in the Hickock family burial plot.

May Face Murder Charge

(International News Service)

Bellefonte, Pa., Jan. 14.—Although considerable doubt has been expressed that Fred Collins, negro convict who assaulted and killed Betty Hickock, 22-year-old daughter of Dr. A. L. Hickock, Rockview Penitentiary Psychiatrist, would be placed on trial for murder, preparations went forward today to prosecute Collins on a murder charge.

Collins' case will be laid before the Centre County Grand Jury which convenes here on February 8. What type of indictment will be sought against the slayer has not yet been decided. Determination of the indictment to be sought probably will be held in abeyance pending a thorough mental examination of the convict, now under close guard at the Western Penitentiary at Pittsburgh.

Despite expressed doubt that Collins could be brought to trial for the murder because he is a psychopathic case and legally irresponsible, district attorney John G. Love today intimated that avoidance of trial on a first degree murder charge would be obtained only through proof that Collin's hallucinations were along the homicidal line and that he was irresponsible while in the grip of such hallucations.

Sentenced In Beaver

(International News Service)

Beaver, Pa., Jan. 14.—Fred Collins, burly 37-year old negro who assaulted Betty Hickock, 22-year old daughter of Dr. A. L. Hickock, resident physician at the Rockview Penitentiary, then stabbed her to death with a knife, was sentenced to prison by Judge George Baldwin in Beaver county for participation with two other negroes in a fatal attack on a Beaver Falls storekeeper whom they sought to rob, according to court records today.

Collins, who "drifted" to Beaver Falls from Shippensburg, Pa., his original home, was found guilty by a jury June 9, 1924, of second degree murder in connection with the slaying of Floyd Morgan, in his small store in Beaver Falls. James Harrison and Ernest Kyler, the two accomplices who were accused with Collins of striking Morgan over the head with an axe, received similar sentences.

According to testimony at the trials, the trio came to Morgan's store many hours after he had closed it for business. Morgan, who lived at the rear, against the warnings of his housekeeper, opened the door and admitted the three Negroes. They made several small purchases and then Collins asked for an article which was kept on a high shelf.

As Morgan reached for the article, he was struck over the head with an axe and died almost instantly. The three Negroes fled and made their way to Canton, O., by "hopping" a frieght. Later, they found work in Akron and Cleveland and finally came to West Virginia where they were recognized by police and returned to Pennsylvania.

Trials of the three men provided one of the sensations of the Beaver county court. Collins was the first to go before a jury and Kyler and Harrison followed in quick succession. All three were found guilty of second degree murder and received equal sentences. However, Judge Baldwin ruled that Kyler, believed to have been the "brains" of the trio, should spend his time in solitary confinement.

Collins was almost a "model" prisoner after entering the penitentiary, police said. Four years ago he began to exhibit signs of mental incompetence and was placed under the care of Dr. Hickock. He was considered a harmless prisoner by Dr. Hickock and other prison attaches and was given a position in the prison physician's home.

Girl Victim Of Hit-Run Driver

Police last night received a call from the Jones Service Station on the Youngstown road, to the effect that a girl named Elizabeth Kinder, aged 18, had been hit by a car, a Chevrolet Sedan, bearing an Ohio license, in the immediate vicinity of the station and that the driver of the car had not stopped but kept on going. The car had its right front light broken. The full extent of the injuries of the girl have not been determined.

A cold does 3 things
"Pape's" stops them all

A cold always affects you in at least three ways. Air passages are inflamed and irritated. Perspiration is checked. Bowels are clogged with acid wastes from the mucous discharge. So doctors say you must do three things to be rid of a cold.

Pape's Cold Compound does all three! It reduces inflammation and swelling of the mucous membrane; it induces perspiration; opens the bowels. Chew one of these pleasant tablets and see how quickly nasal discharge stops; head clears, breathing becomes easy. See how that achy, feverish, weak feeling disappears. And "Pape's" doesn't stop with killing cold germs. It activates bowels and removes germs and acid wastes from the system. All drug stores—35c. Just remember "Pape's".

Deafness and Head Noises From Catarrh

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises caused by catarrh, if your nostrils are clogged or if phlegm drops in your throat causing catarrh of the stomach or bowels, secure proper treatment at once. Otherwise you may lose your health, become a wornout catarrhal wreck with your smell, taste and hearing completely gone.

Sprays, salves and inhalers may bring you temporary relief, but permanent escape from this dangerous, health-sapping, disgusting disease can only come from a constitutional treatment that will expel the catarrhal poison from your system. So go to New Castle Drug, Eckerd's or your druggist today for an ounce of Parmint, take this home and add to it a little sugar and ¼ pint hot water. A tablespoonful taken four times a day will act upon the blood and mucous membrane and bring relief.

Think what it will mean to breathe freely again, to hear plainly, smell, taste, and arise in the morning refreshed and strong, with clear head and throat free from phlegm. Certainly you cannot enjoy or benefit from life so long as you are afflicted with catarrh. So for your own sake give Parmint a trial—start treatment today.

Vanishing Americans
28.—The Removal Act

IN AN AGREEMENT MADE IN 1802 BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND GEORGIA, SETTLING A BOUNDARY QUESTION, THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT PROMISED TO EXTINGUISH THE LAND TITLES OF THE CHEROKEES LIVING WITHIN THE LIMITS OF THE STATE AND REMOVE THE INDIANS TO A WESTERN RESERVATION AS SOON AS IT COULD BE DONE PEACEABLY.

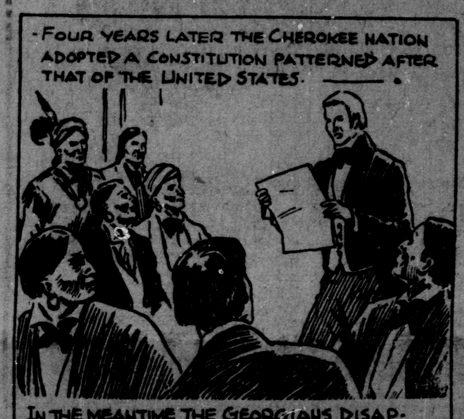

EIGHTEEN YEARS PASSED WITHOUT ANY ACTION BEING TAKEN, AND THE GEORGIANS, EAGER TO ACQUIRE THE INDIAN LANDS, DEMANDED THAT THE GOVERNMENT FULFILL ITS PROMISE.

IN 1823 FEDERAL COMMISSIONERS WENT TO NEW ECHOTA TO NEGOTIATE A TREATY OF REMOVAL WITH THE CHEROKEES.

ACCUSTOMED TO DEALING WITH LESS ENLIGHTENED TRIBES, THE WHITES, WITH THE AID OF SOME CREEK CHIEFS, TRIED CAJOLERY, INTIMIDATION AND BRIBERY TO INDUCE THE CHEROKEES TO PART WITH THEIR LANDS, BUT WITHOUT SUCCESS.

FOUR YEARS LATER THE CHEROKEE NATION ADOPTED A CONSTITUTION PATTERNED AFTER THAT OF THE UNITED STATES.

IN THE MEANTIME THE GEORGIANS, DISAPPOINTED AT THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT'S FAILURE TO SECURE THE INDIAN LANDS, THREATENED TO EXTEND THE JURISDICTION OF THE STATE OVER THE CHEROKEES.

IN 1830 PRESIDENT ANDREW JACKSON SIGNED A BILL PROVIDING FOR THE REMOVAL OF THE CHEROKEES TO A RESERVATION IN THE WEST. FOR A LONG TIME THE CONSTITUTIONALITY OF THE ACT WAS CONTESTED AND THE FATE OF THE CHEROKEES HUNG IN THE BALANCE.

* * * * * * *

Though the Old Year Died Unmourned, It Brought Many Honors to the Banner of Feminism.

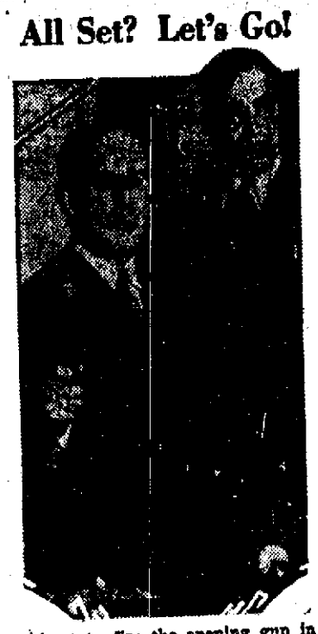

The year to which we recently bade an unregretful adieu had its faults, from a business viewpoint, but it will be remembered affectionately by women as the year when the world began to show its recognition of her equality with men in the many fields of endeavor. Among the honors showered on womanhood in 1931, was the award of the Nobel Peace Prize to Jane Addams, beloved social worker and founder of Hull House, Chicago; the appointment of Miss Mary Wooley, of Mount Holyoke College, to be a delegate to the Disarmament Conference at Geneva—the only woman ever to be entrusted with such an important international role. In literature, the award of the coveted Pulitzer Prize to Margaret Ayer Barnes for her novel "Years of Grace," added more laurels to feminine achievement, as did the bestowal of the Henry Draper Medal to Dr. Anne Julep Cannon, for her astronomical investigations at Harvard University. Then among the 35 women appointed by President Hoover to serve on 26 commissions, Ada Louise Comstock stands out as the only woman member of the famous Wickersham Commission. In the political arena, Mrs. Hattie Caraway brought glory to her sex, in that she is the only woman member of the United States Senate, having been appointed to fill the unexpired term of her late husband, Senator Theddeus Caraway of Arkansas. So though we may consider 1931 "well gone," it can be looked back upon by women as a banner year.

Elite in South Show Summer Styles

While fur coats and galoshes constitute the costume of the moment in the frigid North, the Winter colony in the sunny South is disporting itself in raiment that we associate with June, July and August. This is the season when fashion history is made, for what is being worn down amid the palms today will be all the vogue in northern climes next Summer. Here are some of society's smartest, pictured at Palm Beach, Fla., garbed in the styles of the minute. Left is Mrs. John Barry Ryan, daughter of Otto H. Kahn, international financier, in a simple but distinctive street dress of printed silk. Mrs. Frederick Johnson (second from left), prominent New York society matron, is shown wearing a neat linen frock with a chic little jacquette. Second from right is Mrs. Harrison Williams, of New York, called society's best-dressed woman, in a voluminous striped jersey-sweater. Note the rakishly tied scarf. Extreme right is Mrs. Baldwin Brown, New York, who favors this close-knit woolen costume for motoring. Mrs. Brown is carrying the latest thing in pocketbooks. All favor two-color shoes.

Led to Speakership

Principals in "Honor Slaying"

MRS. GRANVILLE FORTESCUE. MRS. THALIA MASSIE.

LIEUT. THOMAS H. MASSIE. JOSEPH KAHAHAWAI.

Here are four of the principals in the Honolulu "honor-slaying" which which has aroused world-wide interest. Joseph Kahahawai, native Hawaiian, accused with four other countrymen of a criminal attack on Mrs. Thalia Massie, was kidnaped and slain while out on bail, pending a second trial for the offense, the jury having disagreed at the first trial, despite Mrs. Massie's identification of the accused men. Mrs. Granville Fortescue, her mother, and Lieutenant Thomas Massie, U. S. N., her husband, are under arrest, together with two enlisted men, charged with the slaying. Racial feeling ran so high in Honolulu that the accused Americans were held aboard the U. S. S. Alton. The men have waived their right to a naval court martial and will stand a civil trial with Mrs. Fortescue, thus chivalrously placing themselves in further jeopardy.

With Chinese on Manchurian Front

Hole-In-One For Bobby Jones On Georgia Course

(International News Service)

AUGUSTA, Ga., Jan. 14—The Augusta National Golf course, being constructed here under the supervision of Bobby Jones, had received a premature but fitting christening today.

Jones, in a practice round yesterday, made a hole in one on the 136-yard fourteenth. Victories have been common to the retired champion but few pleased him as much as this feat, and an impromptu celebration was held.

Bobby had performed the feat only once before—at the East Lake course in 1923. He turned the trick then with the same club that he used yesterday—his trusty number four iron.

The Old Block Tips the Chip

Walker-Schmeling Bout Called Off

Scarcity Of Dollars In Miami Forces Cancelling Of Proposed Heavyweight Bout

Trying Now For Schmeling And Dempsey Battle—Jack Sharkey Wants Chance

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Max Schmeling, temporarily thrown out of employment by abandonment of his scheduled heavyweight title bout with Mickey Walker next month, looked forward today to a match with Jack Dempsey next summer.

Joe Jacobs, manager of the champion, announced he would await the arrival of Leonard Sacks, Dempsey's business manager, to discuss a Schmeling-Dempsey bout. Sacks declared in St. Louis yesterday the old champion would fight either Schmeling or Primo Carnera some time this year.

Bout Called Off

The Walker-Schmeling match, scheduled for Miami on February 25, was slated to be formally signed late yesterday after weeks of negotiations but was called off by Jacobs at the eleventh hour when he came to the belated realization the affair would be a financial flop.

Madison Square Garden, which was to have promoted the bout through one of its subsidiaries, feared from the start that the fight would draw little else but flies. But Jacobs would not admit it until yesterday when he received a confidential report from Professor Billy McCarney, his trusted associate, who has been sizing up prospects in Miami.

Dollars Are Scarce

Prof. McCarney, who can spot a twenty-five cent piece in a swamp, reports that dollars in Miami are scarcer than republicans in Mississippi.

Walker appears to have lost all chance of getting a crack at the title. Jacobs was prattling idly last night about Chicago, Philadelphia, Los Angeles and Atlantic City wanting the Mickey-Max scrap. But Chicago and Los Angeles both have rejected Jacobs' demand for a $200,000 guarantee.

Schmeling is under suspension in New York and cannot fight Dempsey here. And Madison Square Garden will not promote the match through one of its subsidiaries unless Dempsey will first take on some trial horse like Tom Heeney or Johnny Risko in a test bout.

How About Sharkey

Many boxing men agree with the prediction of Jimmy Johnston, manager of the Garden, that the fight game will be ruined all over the country if Dempsey turns out to be a hollow shell and is knocked out by Schmeling in one or two rounds.

In the background there is Jack Sharkey. He has been trying vainly to get his promised return bout with Schmeling ever since he lost to Max on a foul in June, 1930. If Dempsey is not signed to meet Schmeling, Sharkey will be the only available opponent for the German.

The members of the Third U. P. church who live on the Butler road held a cottage prayer meeting at the home of Mrs. J. B. Gibson on Tuesday night.

Some of the folks from Gardner went out last Thursday evening to see Mrs. Joseph McKnight, near East Brook. Mrs. McKnight has been in failing health for some time but is slowly improving. She has always been so active and such an adept with the needle and so fond of reading that her failing eyesight is a heavy loss. Mr. and Mrs. Kinsey McKnight returned home while their guests were there from the funeral of Mrs. John Hettenbaugh, who was a very close friend of Mrs. McKnight, and whose going is deeply mourned.

Attorney C. W. Fenton and Mrs. Fenton of the New Castle-Ellwood road spent last Thursday visiting friends in Pittsburgh.

SPYING ON SPORTS

BY WILLIAM RITT

Central Press Sports Editor

The big thrills of the 1932 Olympics will not take place exclusively in Los Angeles, site of the track and field contests. A series of thrills will happen along one of the steep shoulders of Mount Van Hoevenberg, a lofty crest which stands guard in white and green majesty over Lake Placid, N. Y., site of the Olympic winter games.

And the international bobsled contests will furnish them.

A mile-a-minute sport — that's bobsledding.

A twisting silver white track curving down from the heights like a monstrous glass snake, its surface of gleaming ice as smooth as a baby's arm.

Shouts from below and echoes from above. The run is clear. And here comes a sled! A speeding black speck appears and disappears as the bobsled swings around the banked curves and down the straightaways.

Closer and you can see the four bulky figures of the riders swaying and bobbing with that pecular motion which helps hurl their vehicle forward. Swoos-s-sh! Around a curve. Swoos-s-sh! Around another. The sled, leaping like a speed-crazed whippet, lashes by at 60 miles an hour. There is a split-second impression of four furry figures, masked with helmets and goggles, four monstrous beetles crouched on tornado-driven straw—and they are gone, down the last straightaway and to the finish line.

Bobsledding, strangely enough in a land dotted with roller coasters, is an unknown sport to most Americans. It is roller coasting grown up, the average roller coaster being to a bobsled run what a game of marbles is to golf.

Bobsledding takes nerve, weight, skill and a hair-trigger brain. For sheer thrill there are few sports that equal that of flashing around ice-sheeted curves at 60 miles an hour, the speed seeming much greater because of the proximity to the ground.

Four men ride each sled. The first rider pilots the sled like an automobile, a steering wheel guiding the runners. The last man operates the brake, a saw-toothed sheet of steel which, dropped, grips into the track. The two middle men, aside of giving weight and balance to the sled, and aiding in maintaining the equilibrium of the vehicle, are merely passengers.

The steerer and brakeman must synchronize their operations—or it's just too bad.

Bobsled riders are usually heavy men with a well-upholstered frame. They ride a 12 and a half-foot sled which, itself, weighs 485 pounds. These sleds cost plenty.

The Olympic run is a specially constructed affair, built expressly for the international contest. A bobsled run architect was brought from Germany to design it.

The great spiral run was first cut into the earth. The turns were given a "floor" of rock to avoid dis-integration after rains. The run was then iced and sprinkled with snow.

The Olympic run is a mile and a half in length and has a 10 per cent drop. There are 26 curves along the spiral of ice and anyone who can take those twists with a laugh will never be seasick. The ride lasts less than two minutes, but it seems a life time.

School Authorities Present New Summary Of School Finances

SAY SCHOOLS IN GOOD CONDITION

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 14—Authorities of the Ellwood City schools today announced a financial statement of the local schools as of December 1, 1931.

The authorities are not attacking President J. A. Evan's special committee on reduction of school expenses, but say they merely wish to rectify several features of the committee's statement given out yesterday. It is their opinion that the public should become acquainted with these facts.

The statement given by Supt. W. Ray Smith and secretary R. K. Mattocks is as follows:

Total	$98,387.90

Mr. Smith and Mr. Mattocks point out the following facts:

One of the first matters pointed out is that $40,742.50 in bonds and coupons must be paid between now and Sept. 1. To offset this there is $60,000 in certificates of deposit that was not considered in the committee's report. Second there is $10,000 in taxes collectable between Dec. 1, 1931 to Sept. 1, 1932. The collection for December was $7,548.14, thus leaving a balance of $2,451.86 to be collected from now until Sept. 1. There is due owing from the tax collector, T. A. E. McConahy for the years, 1931, 1932 $98,387.90. The collection in the past three years covering the same period has been in excess of $50,000.

The money which at present is in the closed Citizen's Nat'l bank is entirely covered by bonds which can be sold if necessary. There are funds coming in from townships for tuition for their students. This statement confirms all reports on the sound financial condition of the local school district.

Appeal Is Taken In Driving Case

Alleged That John Lang Was Not Taken Before Nearest Justice Of Peace

Alleging that Justice of the Peace S. Y. Douds was without jurisdiction in placing a fine on John Lang for reckless driving, a special allocator for a certiorari was granted by Judge James A. Chambers in county court today upon application of defendant's counsel.

It is claimed that Lang was arrested on a charge of reckless driving and taken before 'Squire Douds, who fined him $10 and costs. It is claimed that the arrest was made in Perry township, and that the law specifies that in such cases the information should be made before the nearest justice of the peace. A. H. Fox is justice of the peace in Perry township and nearer than S. Y. Douds. It is claimed therefore that Douds was without jurisdiction in assessing the fine.

Supt. Smith Speaks On Character Building

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 14—Address delivered to the Women's Club of this city on Tuesday afternoon by Supt of Schools, W. Ray Smith, was most interesting. Ideas incorporated follow:

Character Building

Troubled mothers will be glad to know that there is no conscious revolt of modern youth. It is only because so much is happening in one generation that the surge and stress of the younger tribe looks like an active outbreak against all moral discipline. But we believe that modern psychology coupled with common sense and experience of parents and teachers will bring order out of chaos.

Our greatest problem is to know how to build character which will steady the hands and guide the minds of our modern youth.

Before asking how to build character we must know what kind of character we wish to have. We want to develop a character that will be able to adjust itself to a changing situation, in order to meet the complicated new problems that arise, in order to act intelligently as situations present themselves. This kind of character must have three elements: intelligence, so that choice may be made wisely; the right social disposition, so that choice will be made ethically, and finally the correlative habits to execute the choices that have been made intelligently and ethically. Character is not made and finished once for all. The world is changing, so we have to keep growing to keep up with it. It must have all of these qualities on a growing basis so that it can grow as increasing insight shall come, and so that it can adapt itself as changes present themselves.

Character is the habit basis of conduct. Then we speak of habit we must include the habits of thinking and of feeling, as well as habits of outward behavior, for it takes all of these to make character and they must be organized into a whole, each part of which freely and efficiently with each other part. When we speak of building character habit aspects point the way. The essence of such building is learning. Learning is conduct that has been so acquired that when the time comes it carries itself.

I shall mention four elements in bringing about learning; first, we cannot learn what we do not practice; second, we do not learn everything that we do practice; the third one, we may call association; the fourth is the ideals and attitudes built in connection.

We have discussed what we mean by character, and the kind of character we want. We have seen that building various elements in character is what we wish and to so learn these elements that when the time comes they carry themselves. We have seen that for such building the child must practice precisely the thing to be built. Otherwise he may learn not to do the thing rather than to do it. We have also seen that whenever we deal with a child he is learning a host of attendant things, ideals and attitudes, which in the end count tremendously in character One instance may count but little but day in and day out, week in and week out, year in and year out, the child is building attitudes that determine for him henceforth what he is going to count as the important thing in life. It is out of his own ideas, his own valuations that he has built during these years that he decides what he will do and what he will not, so that it is these attendant learnings that in the long-run build his attitudes toward life. This is perhaps the most important single element in the whole of character building.

Ellport Home Is Burned To Ground

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 14.—Ellport boro was again attacked by another fire of undetermined origin about 5 o'clock this morning, when the two-story frame home of A. A. Wimer and family completely burned to the ground.

Mr. Wimer and his son Walter were the only occupants of the house at the time of the fire and were awakened by the intense heat and dense smoke to find both the upstairs rooms in flames and means of escape by the stairway cut off by the fire. They succeeded in extricating themselves from the burning building by the roof of the back porch from which they jumped to the ground.

There being no fire alarm or facilities for combatting fires at Ellport, it was some time before the neighbors could be aroused, but when arriving there it was found that the entire inside of the house was a mass of flames. The men succeeded in breaking down the front door and removed a few pieces of furniture. After the frame work of the house had fallen, a grate covered and smouldering on the second floor proved to be an unique sight.

The Ellwood City chemical truck was called out but the flames had gained too much headway to save the house, so the efforts of the men were concentrated on keeping the house occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Michael Huber, adjoining property which was quite close, from catching fire.

The big blaze attracted a large crowd who were powerless to prevent the extensive damage. It was fortunate that the residents of the district were present to play some garden hose on a nearby dwelling which caught fire several times.

The homes of George Rapp and Jacob Culp were seriously threatened by the flames. The arrival of the Ellwood fire department prevented this danger. The collapse of a chimney after everything else was demolished nearly injured several people. A timed warning scream sent everybody scurrying for safety.

Fire Chief H. T. Plante of Ellwood City estimated the loss at $3500, which, it is reported, is partially covered by insurance.

Hot Mills And Mechanicals Win

Two Good Games In Shelby League On Wednesday Night

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 14—Continuing their straight and narrow path to the championship of the League, the flashy Hot Mills performers won their fouth consecutive victory last night, when they trounced the Office 37-25. The Specialty maintained their hold on second place with their decisive win over the luckless Mechanicals score 38-24.

The boys from the Office were determined to upset the champions in the first game and early indications showed that they would be successful. They took the situation in control in the opening period and help their opponents to 3 points while accumulating six themselves. Reilley, Januzzi, and Elder each got a basket for the Office. Ben Chambers was the only scorer for Ellwood—getting a basket and a foul.

In the second quarter, as in his previous sprints, Dicky Freidhoff again broke loose to register three baskets before the period closed. Each of the other members of the team except Fitzgerald broke into the scoring column. For the Office the same three again tallied for the Office to make the score at the half stand 16-13 in favor of the Hot Mills. Once in the lead the Hot Hills unleashed a baffling offensive in the third quarter that netted them 13 points to 4 for the Office. Jim Fitzgerald led the attack with three baskets and two fouls. The champions enjoyed a fine lead over their opponents, 29-17, at the close of the third quarter.

Any hopes of making a last quarter stand by the Office were dashed as the Hot Mills still continued its offensive drive, which netted them 8 points. The Office held their own in this period. The final score was 37-25 for the Hot Mills.

The Specialty pasers also had a slow start and were held in check by the Mechanicals. But they improved and increased their score as time wore on. They were pressed hard in the first period and just managed to hold an 8-6 lead. The ex-champs opened up in the ensuing stanza to double their lead on the Mechanicals. Each member contributed his share of scoring in this period. The score at the half was 20-10.

They still continued their fine work in the third quarter to outscore their rivals 11-4. The attack was led by Boone and Aiello. The Mechanicals were gradually finding it more difficult to solve their opponent's intricate defense. The period ended with the score being 31-14 for the Specialty.

The closing chapter was a different matter altogether. The Mechanicals turned the table and made a desperate effort to increase their score. Unfortunately it was cut short by the final whistle. The team was beginning to function properly and baskets were rained in. The Specialty was outscored 11-7 in this last quarter. The final score was 38-25 for the Specialty.

Walt Sumner, ex-New Castle high star and Joe Latiano played remarkably for the winners. The former accredited himself with five baskets and one foul and the latter four baskets and one foul. Kimes and Ferucci were the best performers for the losers—getting four and three baskets respectively.

Following the games a dance was held in the auditorium, which will be a weekly feature at the club house.

The board of education members and their wives were special guests. The total in attendance was 128.

The vast dining room was a spectacle to behold in its impressive decorations of blue and gold crepe paper, the class colors. Large lighted tapers adorned the various tables where each place contained a most clever favor. Miss Phyliss Newton, chairman of the decoration committee deserves much credit for this enhancing sight.

Throughout the dinner an orchestra enlivened the occasion with fine music.

A most impressive program was presented at the close of the dinner. Fred Iseman, the president of the class, presided as toastmaster. He was very clever and original in his handling of the affair.

In his toast to the senior girls, Davy Aiken was very humorous but quite to the point. Miss Viola Bookamer responded. Miss Minnie Bookamer delivered the toast to the faculty and board of education to which O. D. Montgomery responded.

The concluding event of this program were the class donors, Robert Jones and Phyliss Newton who presented each member of the class with a gift which pointed out some factor in their scholastic career. School Board Takes Action On Athletics

Athletic Council Submits Proposals To Help Solve Present Difficulty

Following a discussion which lasted for about an hour and a half, the New Castle School Board passed two motions Wednesday evening concerning the Athletic Council. One is that a committee will be appointed from the board to put the Athletic Council back on a business basis, and the other is that at the present time no salaries be paid from moneys in the athletic treasury while there are bills for equipment outstanding.

The matter came before the board when President Woolcock asked for action on the monthly financial statement of the athletic council. This statement shows a net deficit of $3077.44, exclusive of petty cash or salaries due. The statement shows $968.17 on hand less $11 expense for the Ellwood basketball game.

Asks Bills Be Paid

The athletic council held a meeting on Wednesday afternoon and decided to ask the board of directors to take over the deficit and to pay salaries and bills due. The latter request brought on a discussion as to whether any salaries should be paid while there are bills pending for equipment and supplies.

Said J. Herbert McIlvenny, "I believe we should pay bills due merchants before we pay salaries due. The salaried employes can surely wait until such time as the board can work out a program in this matter."

Attorney Roy W. Hazen said, "We will have to have an opinion from our solicitor in this matter as to what we can do and I think we should hold up for a time in this matter. As to the money in hand it should be applied on bills for merchandise."

A. C. Hyde: "If the board took over the deficit of the athletic council, the money would only be loaned and would be paid back later."

J. H. McIlvenny, "I would like to get some idea as to how our cost of athletics compares with that of other cities our size. If there must be a deficit in athletics then we should have all the facts and have some control over the expenditure of the moneys.

Light Bill

Mr. Hyde then brought up the matter of a bill due the Giant Company for additional lights on Taggart Field. The total bill amounted to about $750 but he said the company would settle for a ten per cent discount for cash immediately. He moved that this be done but Dr. Cleland asked if it would be fair to take most of the available money to pay a bill which was not really due for several months yet, under an agreement, when some local merchants were asking for settlement of their accounts. The motion was defeated.

Mr. McIlvenny then moved that the board authorize the payment of as many bills as the money on hand would pay, and that for the present no athletic salaries be paid out of the funds on hand. This motion passed.

The board then considered a communication from the athletic council in which this body presented a suggested solution of the difficulties the council finds itself in.

Communication of Council

The communication follows:

To The Board of Education
School District of the City of
New Castle, Pa.
Ladies and Gentlemen:

As per a statement of the Athletic Council as presented to you at a meeting of the Board in December showing a deficit in our financial condition for the current school year, the Athletic Council respectfully asks the Board of Education, if in the judgment of the latter they can find a way of doing so, of taking care of our unpaid obligations, under the following conditions:

1—That in case the Board does so, the Athletic Council shall pay to the Board 20 percent of their net receipts after each home football game until such time as the above obligations have been paid in full.

(A) The net receipts of games shall be the balance after the necessary expenses of the game, an amount not to exceed $175 per game and also the guarantees to visiting teams shall have been paid.

(B) If a spring football game is played it is felt that any proceeds from it should be used to defray the expenses of spring football practice and for a football camp next fall, as it is felt that with so many of the football boys graduating this spring, it will be very necessary to have our football camp.

2—That the Athletic Council shall pledge itself to conduct all branches of athletics in the most economical manner possible until such time as these obligations have been met so that a contingent fund has been built up which in the judgement of the Board and the Athletic Council will be ample to take care of such a condition as has arisen during the current season.

3—In case there is any balance in the funds of the Athletic Council over and above an amount necessary to take care of a football camp next fall, it shall be paid into the school funds to be applied to such obligation.

4—That the Athletic Council shall present to the Board of Education a complete financial statement showing our exact standing at the close of each calendar month.

5—That the Athletic Council will accept any suggestions that the Board of Education may have to offer relative to the conduct and management of athletics of the Senior High School, in any shape or manner.

Approved for submission to Board of Education at meeting of the Athletic Council, Wednesday, January 13, 1932.

Signed:
F. L. ORTH
President A. A.
RALPH H. GARDNER
Secretary A. A.

This matter was considered and President Woolcock suggested that a committee should be appointed to go into every detail of the athletic council in an effort to re-establish the council on a firm financial basis. In this connection he said "I am convinced that Mr. Gardner is making an earnest, conscientious effort to co-operate with the board of school directors in this matter and wants to put the council on a firm basis."

The committee will be appointed and the proposal of the athletic council considered.

Favor Revision Of Edmonds Act

BELIEVE BOARD SHOULD HAVE SAY

Members of the New Castle School Board expressed themselves as being opposed to the Edmonds Act and favoring a revision of the act which would give local school boards some latitude in the matter of salaries and government of schools, Wednesday evening at the regular monthly board meeting.

The expression on the Edmonds Act came when a letter was received from Robert E. Larrimee, Superintendent of Altoona Schools asking that Dr. C. C. Green be sent to Harrisburg to attend a conference of superintendents of second class school districts to discuss the possibilities of some reform in school laws.

Dr. Green To Go

The board authorized Dr. Green to go to the conference and in discussing the proposal Mrs. J. C. B. Douthett said, "I believe this board should go on record as favoring an amendment to the Edmonds Act to make it possible to effect a reduction in salaries."

It was suggested that Uniontown was effecting a 20 per cent reduction in teachers' but this was explained that the teachers themselves are preparing to return 20 per cent of their salaries for the last five months of the school year. There is a question as to the legality of this procedure as the Edmonds Act is stringent in its provisions.

J. Herbert McIlvenny brought out the fact that the board was restricted at every turn from any reductions and has asked that the course of the Uniontown teachers be watched to see if such an arrangement could be held as legal.

At the same time it was voted to send W. W. Duff and Roy W. Hazen to the School Directors' convention in Harrisburg on February 3-4 with instructions to work for action upon the part of the convention leading to some reform in the school law. Mr. Hyde moved their being sent in and said that he felt the board would stand back of the delegates in any legislation they cared to suggest that would lead to some relief in the matter of restrictions in the school law.

tiary, Deputy Warden MacFarland and Rev. W. J. Claudy, general superintendent of Rockview prison, meanwhile resumed their investigation into the brutal attack and murder.

Findings of the investigators, May said, will largely determine what action will be taken by the prison board.

In Solitary Confinement

Pittsburgh, Jan. 14.—Sullenly silent, Fred Collins, 37-year-old negro, was held in solitary confinement in Western State penitentiary here today while prison officials and Centre county authorities completed an investigation into the assault and murder of Betty Hickock, 22, daughter of Dr. Asa L. Hickock, psychiatrist at the Rockview state prison farm at Bellefonte, yesterday.

The girl was overpowered in the bathroom of her home at the farm by Collins, who stabbed her to death after assaulting her, because of jealousy over acts of kindness she had done other prisoners.

Heavily Guarded

Collins, who surrendered himself to Rockview officials a short time after the slaying, was rushed to the penitentiary here last night under a heavy guard of state troopers.

He was hustled to a solitary cell while officials ordered the prison gates closed and declined to permit questioning of the prisoner, a patient of the girl's father.

Collins, who had been assigned to work about the Hickock home and the prison farm yard by Dr. Hickock, had been under mental treatment for the past four years.

A native of Shippensburg, he was sentenced to Rockview, according to penitentiary records, by Judge George Baldwin, in Beaver county, on June 25, 1924. He had been convicted of second degree murder charges in connection with the axe murder of Floyd Morgan, Beaver Falls merchant, in 1923.

Undecided on Action

Meantime Warden Stanley Ashe of the Western penitentiary and authorities of Centre county, where the prison farm is located, sought to determine what action will be taken against Collins. Warden Ashe, who hurried to Bellefonte immediately on being notified of the murder, remained there to confer with local officials.

He indicated first degree murder charges will not be lodged against Collins because he is a psychopathic case. Preliminary conferences with Centre county authorities, it was learned at the Western penitentiary, call for appointment of a commission by the Center county court to determine Collins' sanity. If he is found insane, officials said, he will probably be committed to the Fairview hospital in Wayne county.

Hold Inquest

An inquest hurriedly called by Coroner W. R. Heaton of Centre county was held in the death chamber at the Bellefonte prison as soon as Warden Ashe arrived there. The coroner's jury held Collins responsible for the murder and declared it was "premeditated, growing out of a spirit of revenge and jealousy".

Prison officials who questioned Collins said the negro told them he had become enraged at Miss Hickock through jealousy of Henry Malone, another negro trusty at the prison farm, who had received many kindnesses from Miss Hickock.

Malone, who was shaving in the basement of the Hickock home, said he knew nothing of the murder until officials from the main prison arrived at the farm.

Gives Self Up

Collins, after the attack and stabbing, walked to the prison proper and calmly informed officials there that he had "killed a girl".

After questioning he was rushed to a cell while prison authorities hurried to the Hickock home, where they found Miss Hickock dead on the bathroom floor. Warden Ashe and Coroner Heaton were summoned immediately, while officials clamped down a lid of silence. Details of the murder were not revealed until several hours later.

Dr. Hickock, who had been visiting in Harrisburg, hurried back to Bellefonte as soon as he was informed of the slaying.

He had considered Collins "safe", he told authorities, despite his psychopathic tendencies, and was at a loss to account for the savage attack and murder.

Collins, Dr. Hickock said, had apparently "thought the world" of the Hickock family. He was "an excellent worker, quiet and polite," according to the psychiatrist.

Definite announcement of action to be taken against Collins was to be made at Bellefonte today, where Warden Ashe remained over night to complete the probe into the murder.

Warden Ashe announced that funeral services for the slain girl will be held at the prison chapel Saturday morning. According to preliminary plans, Warden Ashe and many prison officials will attend.

The body will then be taken to Meshoppen, Wyoming county, and interred in the Hickock family burial plot.

May Face Murder Charge

(International News Service)

Bellefonte, Pa., Jan. 14.—Although considerable doubt has been expressed that Fred Collins, negro convict who assaulted and killed Betty Hickock, 22-year-old daughter of Dr. A. L. Hickock, Rockview Penitentiary Psychiatrist, would be placed on trial for murder, preparations went forward today to prosecute Collins on a murder charge.

Collins' case will be laid before the Centre County Grand Jury which convenes here on February 8. What type of indictment will be sought against the slayer has not yet been decided. Determination of the indictment to be sought probably will be held in abeyance pending a thorough mental examination of the convict, now under close guard at the Western Penitentiary at Pittsburgh.

Despite expressed doubt that Collins could be brought to trial for the murder because he is a psychopathic case and legally irresponsible, district attorney John G. Love today intimated that avoidance of trial on a first degree murder charge would be obtained only through proof that Collin's hallucinations were along the homicidal line and that he was irresponsible while in the grip of such hallucations.

Sentenced In Beaver

(International News Service)

Beaver, Pa., Jan. 14.—Fred Collins, burly 37-year old negro who assaulted Betty Hickock, 22-year old daughter of Dr. A. L. Hickock, resident physician at the Rockview Penitentiary, then stabbed her to death with a knife, was sentenced to prison by Judge George Baldwin in Beaver county for participation with two other negroes in a fatal attack on a Beaver Falls storekeeper whom they sought to rob, according to court records today.

Collins, who "drifted" to Beaver Falls from Shippensburg, Pa., his original home, was found guilty by a jury June 9, 1924, of second degree murder in connection with the slaying of Floyd Morgan, in his small store in Beaver Falls. James Harrison and Ernest Kyler, the two accomplices who were accused with Collins of striking Morgan over the head with an axe, received similar sentences.

According to testimony at the trials, the trio came to Morgan's store many hours after he had closed it for business. Morgan, who lived at the rear, against the warnings of his housekeeper, opened the door and admitted the three Negroes. They made several small purchases and then Collins asked for an article which was kept on a high shelf.

As Morgan reached for the article, he was struck over the head with an axe and died almost instantly. The three Negroes fled and made their way to Canton, O., by "hopping" a frieght. Later, they found work in Akron and Cleveland and finally came to West Virginia where they were recognized by police and returned to Pennsylvania.

Trials of the three men provided one of the sensations of the Beaver county court. Collins was the first to go before a jury and Kyler and Harrison followed in quick succession. All three were found guilty of second degree murder and received equal sentences. However, Judge Baldwin ruled that Kyler, believed to have been the "brains" of the trio, should spend his time in solitary confinement.

Collins was almost a "model" prisoner after entering the penitentiary, police said. Four years ago he began to exhibit signs of mental incompetence and was placed under the care of Dr. Hickock. He was considered a harmless prisoner by Dr. Hickock and other prison attaches and was given a position in the prison physician's home.

Girl Victim Of Hit-Run Driver

Police last night received a call from the Jones Service Station on the Youngstown road, to the effect that a girl named Elizabeth Kinder, aged 18, had been hit by a car, a Chevrolet Sedan, bearing an Ohio license, in the immediate vicinity of the station and that the driver of the car had not stopped but kept on going. The car had its right front light broken. The full extent of the injuries of the girl have not been determined.

Place Bonds To Protect City

Henry Dysart, inspector of the city law department, today stated that most of the business houses which have signs have placed insurance to indemnify the city against liability in case of accidents from the signs. The bonds taken out with various companies are good for one year.

MARSO IS FINED BY MAYOR MAYNE

Jack Marso, who was arrested on Center street with Sis Wheeler and Anna Conley Wednesday night, were given hearings before Mayor Charles B. Mayne and the two women were discharged under suspended sentence on their promise to get out of town. Marso was fined $10 with the alternative of ten days in the county jail.

A cold does 3 things

"Pape's" stops them all

A cold always affects you in at least three ways. Air passages are inflamed and irritated. Perspiration is checked. Bowels are clogged with acid wastes from the mucous discharge. So doctors say you must do three things to be rid of a cold.

Pape's Cold Compound does all three! It reduces inflammation and swelling of the mucous membrane; it induces perspiration; opens the bowels. Chew one of these pleasant tablets and see how quickly nasal discharge stops; head clears, breathing becomes easy. See how that achy, feverish, weak feeling disappears. And "Pape's" doesn't stop with killing cold germs. It activates bowels and removes germs and acid wastes from the system. All drug stores—35c. Just remember "Pape's".

Vanishing Americans
28.—The Removal Act

IN AN AGREEMENT MADE IN 1802 BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND GEORGIA, SETTLING A BOUNDARY QUESTION, THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT PROMISED TO EXTINGUISH THE LAND TITLES OF THE CHEROKEES LIVING WITHIN THE LIMITS OF THE STATE AND REMOVE THE INDIANS TO A WESTERN RESERVATION AS SOON AS IT COULD BE DONE PEACEABLY.

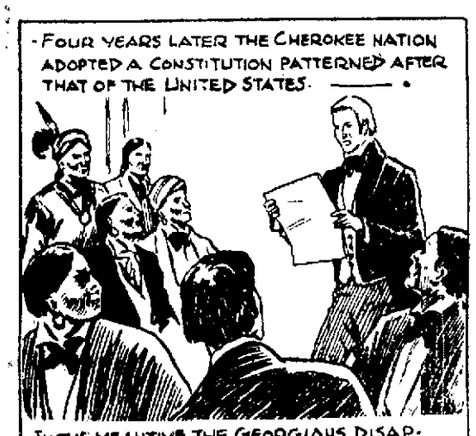

EIGHTEEN YEARS PASSED WITHOUT ANY ACTION BEING TAKEN, AND THE GEORGIANS, EAGER TO ACQUIRE THE INDIAN LANDS, DEMANDED THAT THE GOVERNMENT FULFILL ITS PROMISE.

IN 1823 FEDERAL COMMISSIONERS WENT TO NEW ECHOTA TO NEGOTIATE A TREATY OF REMOVAL WITH THE CHEROKEES.

© 1931, BY J. CARROLL MANSFIELD.

ACCUSTOMED TO DEALING WITH LESS ENLIGHTENED TRIBES, THE WHITES, WITH THE AID OF SOME CREEK CHIEFS, TRIED CAJOLERY, INTIMIDATION AND BRIBERY TO INDUCE THE CHEROKEES TO PART WITH THEIR LANDS, BUT WITHOUT SUCCESS.

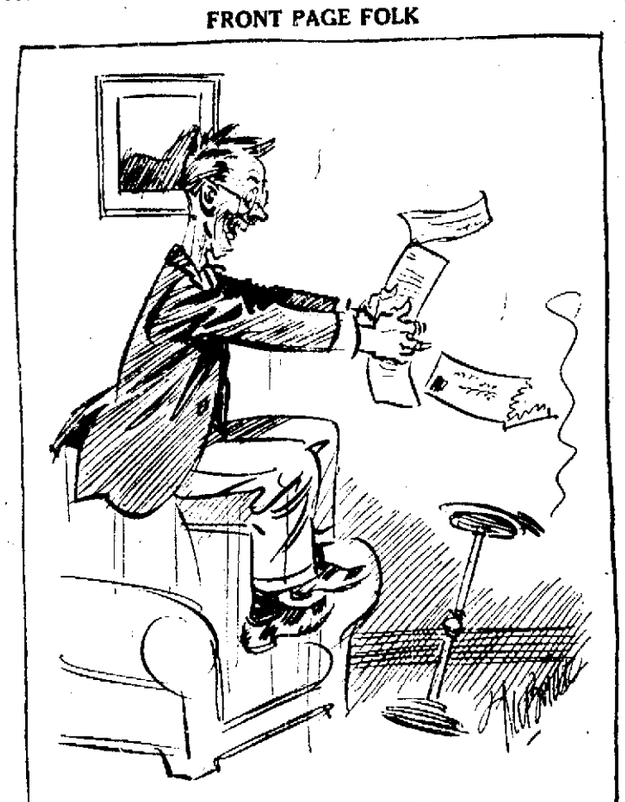

FOUR YEARS LATER THE CHEROKEE NATION ADOPTED A CONSTITUTION PATTERNED AFTER THAT OF THE UNITED STATES.

IN THE MEANTIME THE GEORGIANS, DISAPPOINTED AT THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT'S FAILURE TO SECURE THE INDIAN LANDS, THREATENED TO EXTEND THE JURISDICTION OF THE STATE OVER THE CHEROKEES.

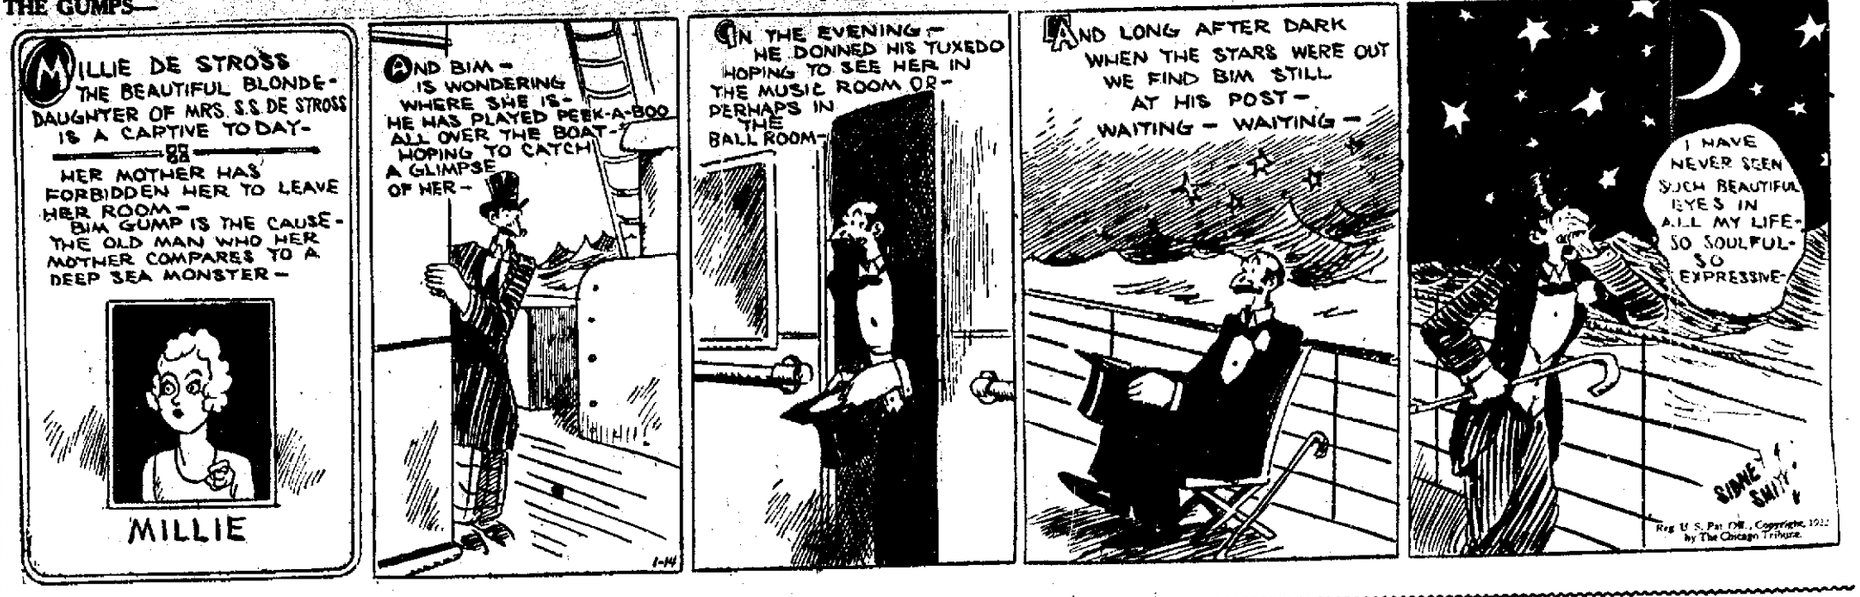

IN 1830 PRESIDENT ANDREW JACKSON SIGNED A BILL PROVIDING FOR THE REMOVAL OF THE CHEROKEES TO A RESERVATION IN THE WEST. FOR A LONG TIME THE CONSTITUTIONALITY OF THE ACT WAS CONTESTED AND THE FATE OF THE CHEROKEES HUNG IN THE BALANCE.

Stock Market Swings Vigorously Forward

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—All sections of the stock market swung forward vigorously this morning to the best price levels on the move. The momentum generated by Wednesday's closing advance was sufficient to force a long list of the rails and industrials 1 to 3 points higher and the same was true of the rail bond list, some of which have recovered 5 to 15 points from their January lows.

Transactions in the first half-hour totalled 600,000 shares, about three times as many as in the average recent session and many of the leaders were bid up aggressively at the opening.

Progress of the rail wage conference at Chicago was closely checked as buying demand for the railway stocks continued in good volume. Union Pacific at 84 showed a recovery of 19 points over the low of last week and Atchison at 92¼ was up 17 points as measured by the same standard.

United States Steel topped 45 for a new gain of 1 point and a 10-point recovery over the January 5 level. Westinghouse, American Can, General Motors, American Tobacco, Dupont, Eastman Kodak and other favorites participated in today's forward move, while utilities like Consolidated Gas, United Corporation, United Gas Improvement, Public Service and North American reached the best levels since the turn of the year. Trading slowed up near the noon period but prices were well maintained.

Rum Runner Wrecks Car In Escaping Officers On Watch

County Detective And State Highway Patrol Co-operate With Bessemer Police

About four o'clock this morning, Chief of Police A. A. Shoup of Bessemer, advised County Detective H. M. Lee that he had been advised that there would be a car loaded with liquor, pass along the highway through Bessemer in a short time and asked the assistance of the county detective.

County Detective Lee and officers of the State Highway Patrol raced to the scene and were stationed along the highway along with Chief Shoup and members of his force.

Presently along came the high powered Hudson sedan that was expected, making about seventy-five miles an hour. It disregarded the efforts of Shoup and his men to stop it and went on about two blocks and again disregarded the efforts of Lee and the State Highway Patrolmen to stop it.

It was found overturned and wrecked about half a mile further on, the man driving the car having escaped to the nearby woods at the time of the wrecking of the car. Search of the woods was made for more than an hour without result. The car has been towed into a garage. It bears an Ohio license.

But one glass container with liquor in it was found by the officers. There was evidence that there had been many others in the car but they were all smashed up and the contents lost. It looks possible that the driver of the machine smashed all possible containers with a hammer before the machine was wrecked.

Farmers Plowing For Spring Crops

Unusual Weather Conditions Are Being Turned To Good Account

One of the unusual sights in the country districts is to see farmers plowing in January. During the past few weeks many farmers have taken advantage of the fine weather to turn over fields of sod, in preparation for the spring planting.

Until recently the ground was too dry, but recent rains have helped the situation, and sod is now in excellent condition. Many farmers have even found that fields which were in wheat, oats or corn, last year, can now be plowed.

About the only two offices which do not expire in February are those of city solicitor and city engineer. It is rumored there will be some changes and some reappointments.

'Jack Young' Breezes Into Town Once More; Brings Back Memories

"Poomp Handle" Jack Young, one of the five best dog catchers in the country, exponent of the surprise attack in the prize ring, one of New Castle's best known dusky sons is back. Looking ten years younger than he did when he left here 12 years ago, feeling as fit as a fiddle, or anyway as fit as a ukelele, Jack arrived in New Castle today with the announcement that he was ready to take on all and sundry at 140 pounds.

Time was when Jack's "poomp handle" punch was something to be feared. Many an opponent has been looking at the lights from the flat of his back when the "poomp handle" connected with his lower set of teeth and win or lose Jack was always good for an entertaining fight.

As well known as he was in the prize ring, Jack was better known as the City Dog Catcher. Woe betide the pooch that strayed out onto the street without a tag. One graceful flip of his net and the pooch was gone.

Twelve years ago Jack left for other parts. Youngstown knew him for a while, then he struck out for the Great Lake region. His last port of call was Buffalo, N. Y., but the homing instinct got him down recently and he's back.

"Ah'm in good shape" said Mr. Young today. "Ah weigh 140 stripped, mah timing is just as good as it ever was, mah footwork is not a bit slower, and if they'll gimme a chance in the ring with anybody mah own weight just bring 'em on."

"As a matter of fact" confided Mr. Young in a stage whisper, "ah believe ah would like to take on George Chip". And with that he left. Genial as he always was, confident as ever, with a laugh that starts at his feet and works up by degrees, "Poomp Handle" Jack is back in New Castle. There may be no fatted calves go to the block in his behalf, but a lot of folks are glad he is back.

Undefeated in the Section Three circuit, two leading high school basketball combinations clash at the George Washington junior high floor Friday night when New Castle faces New Brighton high. The game will start at 8:00 o'clock. In the preliminary tilt the New Castle Reserves battle the New Brighton Reserves. The opening tussle is scheduled for 7:15.

The New Brighton team, somewhat green as far as material is concerned, has surprised to date. Ellwood City and Rochester have been defeated by the valley five in the Section Three race. Tuesday night the Freedom high cagers took a licking at the hands of the Brighton machine. Improvement has been noticeable at every game. According to dope New Castle will face a stiff opponent tomorrow night.

A victory either way means a tie for first place and possibly the top berth should Butler lose to Ellwood City. New Brighton has been preparing for this game for some time and according to reports is primed for its first meeting with the Pa Newc boys in a number of years. Like Beaver Falls, New Brighton hasn't met New Castle in athletics for several years.

This tilt headlines the remainder of the games in the league due to the fact that the teams are undefeated. One of the best games witnessed here this season is predicted. Coach Phil Bridenbaugh today is sending his team through the final workout in connection with this contest.

Coach Phil Bridenbaugh stated that he will send in the same starting lineup as that which faced the Tubers. Andy Lasky will probably be seen at center, John Uram and John Teplica will take their places at forwards and Bus Reiber and Captain Nick Uram will likely be the sentinels.

Tickets for the contest are on sale at the Sporting Goods Store on East Washington street. The pasteboards sell for 50 cents. An overflow crowd is expected to watch the schoolboys battle.

Hole-In-One For Bobby Jones On Georgia Course

(International News Service)

AUGUSTA, Ga., Jan. 14—The Augusta National Golf course, being constructed here under the supervision of Bobby Jones, had received a premature but fitting christening today.

Jones, in a practice round yesterday, made a hole in one on the 136-yard fourteenth. Victories have been common to the retired champion but few pleased him as much as this feat, and an impromptu celebration was held.

Bobby had performed the feat only once before—at the East Lake course in 1923. He turned the trick then with the same club that he used yesterday—his trusty number four iron.

The Old Block Tips the Chip

Walker-Schmeling Bout Called Off

Scarcity Of Dollars In Miami Forces Cancelling Of Proposed Heavyweight Bout

Trying Now For Schmeling And Dempsey Battle—Jack Sharkey Wants Chance

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Max Schmeling, temporarily thrown out of employment by abandonment of his scheduled heavyweight title bout with Mickey Walker next month, looked forward today to a match with Jack Dempsey next summer.

Joe Jacobs, manager of the champion, announced he would await the arrival of Leonard Sacks, Dempsey's business manager, to discuss a Schmeling-Dempsey bout. Sacks declared in St. Louis yesterday the old champion would fight either Schmeling or Primo Carnera some time this year.

Bout Called Off

The Walker-Schmeling match, scheduled for Miami on February 25, was slated to be formally signed late yesterday after weeks of negotiations but was called off by Jacobs at the eleventh hour when he came to the belated realization the affair would be a financial flop.

Madison Square Garden, which was to have promoted the bout through one of its subsidiaries, feared from the start that the fight would draw little else but flies. But Jacobs would not admit it until yesterday when he received a confidential report from Professor Billy McCarney, his trusted associate, who has been sizing up prospects in Miami.

Dollars Are Scarce

Prof. McCarney, who can spot a twenty-five cent piece in a swamp, reports that dollars in Miami are scarcer than republicans in Mississippi.

Walker appears to have lost all chance of getting a crack at the title. Jacobs was prattling idly last night about Chicago, Philadelphia, Los Angeles and Atlantic City wanting the Mickey-Max scrap. But Chicago and Los Angeles both have rejected Jacobs' demand for a $200,000 guarantee.

Schmeling is under suspension in New York and cannot fight Dempsey here. And Madison Square Garden will not promote the match through one of its subsidiaries unless Dempsey will first take on some trial horse like Tom Heeney or Johnny Risko in a test bout.

How About Sharkey

Many boxing men agree with the prediction of Jimmy Johnston, manager of the Garden, that the fight game will be ruined all over the country if Dempsey turns out to be a hollow shell and is knocked out by Schmeling in one or two rounds.

In the background there is Jack Sharkey. He has been trying vainly to get his promised return bout with Schmeling ever since he lost to Max on a foul in June, 1930. If Dempsey is not signed to meet Schmeling, Sharkey will be the only available opponent for the German.

Piles Go Quick
Without Salves or Cutting

Thousands of sufferers from itching, bleeding or protruding piles have learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves nor cutting remove the cause.

Bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To end Piles an internal medicine must be used to stimulate the circulation, heal and restore the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonhardt was the first to discover a real internal Pile remedy. He called his prescription HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for 1000 patients with the marvelous record of success in 960 cases, and then decided every Pile sufferer should be able to get HEM-ROID tablets from their own druggist with a rigid money back guarantee.

Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID has an almost unbelievable record of success right in this city. So why waste time on external treatments or worry about an operation when Eckerd's Cut Rate and New Castle Drug Co. invites every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID with guarantee of money back if it does not end their Piles, no matter how stubborn the case?

ROAMING
With Richards
Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

Roamed around to Gaston park yesterday just to get an eyeful of what was going on out there. It proved to be an eyeful. In the past seven or eight weeks the place has been transformed from a brush choked woods into as pretty a piece of park as you want to see. For a while I wasn't sure I was in the right place.

The appearance of Gaston park now is an example of what can be done when several people get together and devise a plan of action. Sometime ago some of the mayor's relief committee decided that it would be a good thing to use the labor coming into the committee registers for cleaning up Gaston park. The weather has made it possible to work every day and it is in better shape now than it has ever been.

Where once dense brush and trees made a mass of trees and limbs, the place has been cleaned out and only a few saplings are left. The little gullies that run at the bases of the hills have been walled with stone, paths have been put in and next summer Gaston park will be a real place of beauty.

As a very small boy I roamed what was then Cunningham's woods almost daily. Old Long avenue was then nearly the frontier of civilization as far as New Castle went and Cunningham's woods was considered out in the wilds.

Perhaps we didn't appreciate it then as we should, but just walking through it yesterday brought back other days with a rush. Days when a gang of barefooted kids played "two-in" over on the small diamond, or went over to the "skinned diamond" to watch the bigger teams play. What is now nothing but a little bog we thought was a place of mystery where lizards, sea-serpents and snapping turtles made their home.

The idea of cleaning up the place as it is being cleaned up deserves a lot of credit. Just one thing, however. A number of little saplings have been set out along the walks and if left alone will some day make a leafy lane. Already some youngster trying out their Christmas knife has whacked off the tops of four or five of these saplings. There isn't any excuse for such half-pint vandalism and the boys should cut it out. If they don't, some night will see them in trouble.

Early returns from a number of precincts bring some rare stories about this warm wave. One chap says his iris are shooting up. Another has his tulips ready to leaf, and still another has cherry and peach buds out where they should be in April.

Johnny Newell claims that the gulf stream is changing its position and that in a few years we will have climate here like Florida. Which means that the Slippery Rock may replace Miami Beach and Kennedy's Mills will look like Coral Gables.

Whether it is the gulf stream or just a caprice of Dame Nature makes little difference to us. It is saving a lot of coal, thank you kindly, and that's something.

Checkers Expert Now In City Has Played Game's Leading Exponents; Says Pastime Beneficial To Mind

If you would play the ancient game of checkers to a marked degree of efficiency try to match your wits against a player as good or better than yourself—otherwise your game will become weak.

That is the advice of H. O. Newcomb, of Middlefield, O., widely-known checkers expert, member of the American Checkers Association, past president of the Ohio Checkers Association, for many years champion of Ohio and a participant in many national tournaments.

Newcomb, now a visitor in New Castle, staying at the Y. M. C. A., has played his best-loved game with some of the world's leading exponents of the checkered board. His achievements in this game are many, but in the field of chess he is also regarded as a good player who is seldom beaten.

Newcomb has won a prize in three national checkers tournaments. His best prize was ninth standing in the sixth annual tournament held in New York in 1924. In the fifth national event held in Boston in 1922 he received first consolation prize. In the seventh tournament held in Cedar Point, O., near Sandusky, Newcomb captured highest honors. He was champion of Ohio for five years in succession, lost the crown once in that time, and later recaptured it. He has played in several large tournaments in St. Petersburg, Fla., where he got from second to fourth prizes.

The New Castle visitor has played some of the leading exponents of the game, and has won—as well as lost—to international experts. He recalls that he played games with Clarence Freeman, Ferrie, Wyllie, Newell Banks and others. During the international games in 1905 between the United States and England, Newcomb played a game with Ferrie, then a member of the British team, and it was a draw. The two games with Freeman, champion of the United States, were draws.

The present checkers champion of the world, Newcomb said, is Robert Stewart, an Englishman. Richard Jordan, previous world champion, died in an automobile accident, and Stewart and Newell Banks, one of the finest players in the United States, played off for the championship in England, the winner being Stewart.

Newcomb has played and won several games from Banks, a really outstanding player and who, many experts of the game believe, would have been the world champion, if the 48-game match had been played in this country instead of abroad.

Speaking about his game Newcomb is certain that checkers is beneficial to the mind as well as interesting. It keeps you mentally awake, he said.

COMFORT for COLICKY BABIES
with Castoria's gentle regulation

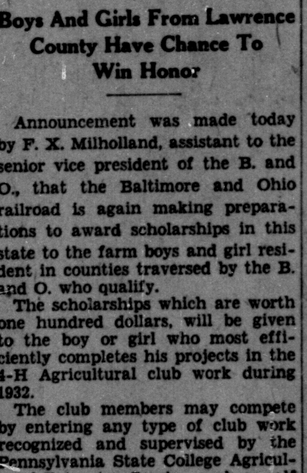

"The best way to cure colic," says a famous doctor, "is to prevent it." And the best way to prevent it is to avoid gas in stomach and bowels by keeping the entire intestinal tract open, free from waste.

But there's one thing to remember here. A tiny baby's tender organs cannot stand harsh treatment. They must be gently urged.

This is just the place Castoria comes to a mother's aid. Castoria, you know, is made specially for the delicate needs of babies and children. It is a pure vegetable preparation which is absolutely harmless. It contains no harsh drugs, no narcotics.

Children never fight Castoria. They like its taste and the relaxed comfort its gentle regulation brings.

For many years it has helped mothers through trying ordeals with colicky babies, with children suffering from digestive upsets, colds and other little ailments. Keep it on hand for your children. You can always tell genuine Castoria by the name Chas. H. Fletcher.

ENDED HIS LIFE, AFTER FIRST ATTEMPT FAILED

(International News Service)

NEW YORK Jan. 14—Three years ago, Robert D. Cochrane sold his thriving paint business in Sewickley, Pa., for $175,000. He was going to invest his money in stocks and become a millionaire.

He invested the money but the crash wiped him out. He and his wife came to New York, hoping to recoup.

But it was a discouraging job. Early in December Cochrane went into the cellar of his rooming house and tried to kill himself by inhaling gas. He was saved.

He waited nearly a month and then tried again. He went down to the cellar, telling Mrs. Cochrane he would "tend the furnace."

An hour passed and he didn't come back. His wife became alarmed. Investigating, she found him stretched out on the floor. A bullet from a brand new rifle had ended his life.

SPYING ON SPORTS

Central Press Sports Editor

The big thrills of the 1932 Olympics will not take place exclusively in Los Angeles, site of the track and field contests. A series of thrills will happen along one of the steep shoulders of Mount Van Hoevenberg, a lofty crest which stands guard in white and green majesty over Lake Placid, N. Y., site of the Olympic winter games.

And the international bobsled contests will furnish them.

A mile-a-minute sport—that's bobsledding.

A twisting silver white track curving down from the heights like a monstrous glass snake, its surface of gleaming ice as smooth as a baby's arm.

Shouts from below and echoes from above. The run is clear. And here comes a sled! A speeding black speck appears and disappears as the bobsled swings around the banked curves and down the straightaways.

Closer and you can see the four bulky figures of the riders swaying and bobbing with that pecular motion which helps hurl their vehicle forward. Swoos-s-sh! Around a curve. Swoos-s-sh! Around another. The sled, leaping like a speed-crazed whippet, lashes by at 60 miles an hour. There is a split-second impression of four furry figures, masked with helmets and goggles, four monstrous beetles crouched on tornado-driven straw—and they are gone, down the last straightaway and to the finish line.

Bobsledding, strangely enough in a land dotted with roller coasters, is an unknown sport to most Americans. It is roller coasting grown up, the average roller coaster being to a bobsled run what a game of marbles is to golf.

Bobsledding takes nerve, weight, skill and a hair-trigger brain. For sheer thrill there are few sports that equal that of flashing around ice-sheeted curves at 60 miles an hour, the speed seeming much greater because of the proximity to the ground.

Four men ride each sled. The first rider pilots the sled like an automobile, a steering wheel guiding the runners. The last man operates the brake, a saw-toothed sheet of steel which, dropped, grips into the track The two middle men, aside of giving weight and balance to the sled, and aiding in maintaining the equilibrium of the vehicle, are merely passengers.

The steerer and brakeman must synchronize their operations—or it's just too bad.

Bobsled riders are usually heavy men with a well-upholstered frame. They ride a 12 and a half-foot sled which, itself, weighs 485 pounds. These sleds cost plenty.

The Olympic run is a specially constructed affair, built expressly for the international contest. A bobsled run architect was brought from Germany to design it.

The great spiral run was first cut into the earth. The turns were given a "floor" of rock to avoid dis-integration after rains. The run was then iced and sprinkled with snow.

The Olympic run is a mile and a half in length and has a 10 per cent drop. There are 26 curves along the spiral of ice and anyone who can take those twists with a laugh will never be seasick. The ride lasts less an two minutes, but it seems a life time.

The collection for December was $7,548.14, thus leaving a balance of $2,451.86 to be collected from now until Sept. 1. There is due owing from the tax collector, T. A. E. McConahy for the years, 1931, 1932 $98,387.90. The collection in the past three years covering the same period has been in excess of $50,000.

The money which at present is in the closed Citizen's Nat'l bank is entirely covered by bonds which can be sold if necessary. There are funds coming in from townships for tuition for their students. This statement confirms all reports on the sound financial condition of the local school district.

Appeal Is Taken In Driving Case

Alleged That John Lang Was Not Taken Before Nearest Justice Of Peace

Alleging that Justice of the Peace S. Y. Douds was without jurisdiction in placing a fine on John Lang for reckless driving, a special allocator for a certiorari was granted by Judge James A. Chambers in county court today upon application of defendant's counsel.

It is claimed that Lang was arrested on a charge of reckless driving and taken before 'Squire Douds, who fined him $10 and costs. It is claimed that the arrest was made in Perry township, and that the law specifies that in such cases the information should be made before the nearest justice of the peace. A. H. Fox is justice of the peace in Perry township and nearer than S. Y. Douds. It is claimed therefore that Douds was without jurisdiction in assessing the fine.

Supt. Smith Speaks On Character Building

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 14—Address delivered to the Women's Club of this city on Tuesday afternoon by Supt of Schools, W. Ray Smith, was most interesting. Ideas incorporated follow:

Character Building

Troubled mothers will be glad to know that there is no conscious revolt of modern youth. It is only because so much is happening in one generation that the surge and stress of the younger tribe looks like an active outbreak against all moral discipline. But we believe that modern psychology coupled with common sense and experience of parents and teachers will bring order out of chaos.

Our greatest problem is to know how to build character which will steady the hands and guide the minds of our modern youth.

Before asking how to build character we must know what kind of character we wish to have. We want to develop a character that will be able to adjust itself to a changing situation, in order to meet the complicated new problems that arise, in order to act intelligently as situations present themselves. This kind of character must have three elements: intelligence, so that choice may be made wisely; the right social disposition, so that choice will be made ethically, and finally the correlative habits to execute the choices that have been made intelligently and ethically. Character is not made and finished once for all. The world is changing, so we have to keep growing to keep up with it. It must have all of these qualities on a growing basis so that it can grow as increasing insight shall come, and so that it can adapt itself as changes present themselves.

Character is the habit basis of conduct. Then we speak of habit we must include the habits of thinking and of feeling, as well as habits of outward behavior, for it takes all of these to make character and they must be organized into a whole, each part of which freely and efficiently with each other part. When we speak of building character habit aspects point the way. The essence of such building is learning. Learning is conduct that has been so acquired that when the time comes it carries itself.

I shall mention four elements in bringing about learning; first, we cannot learn what we do not practice; second, we do not learn everything that we do practice: the third one, we may call association; the fourth is the ideals and attitudes built in connection.

We have discussed what we mean by character, and the kind of character we want. We have seen that building various elements in character is what we wish and to so learn these elements that when the time comes they carry themselves. We have seen that for such building the child must practice precisely the thing to be built. Otherwise he may learn not to do the thing rather than to do it. We have also seen that whenever we deal with a child he is learning a host of attendant things, ideals and attitudes, which in the end count tremendously in character One instance may count but little but day in and day out, week in and week out, year in and year out, the child is building attitudes that determine for him henceforth what he is going to count as the important thing in life. It is out of his own ideas, his own valuations that he has built during these years that he decides what he will do and what he will not, so that it is these attendant learnings that in the long-run build his attitudes toward life. This is perhaps the most important single element in the whole of character building.

Ellport Home Is Burned To Ground

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 14.—Ellport boro was again attacked by another fire of undetermined origin about 5 o'clock this morning, when the two-story frame home of A. A. Wimer and family completely burned to the ground.

Mr. Wimer and his son Walter were the only occupants of the house at the time of the fire and were awakened by the intense heat and dense smoke to find both the upstairs rooms in flames and means of escape by the stairway cut off by the fire. They succeeded in extricating themselves from the burning building by the roof of the back porch from which they jumped to the ground.

There being no fire alarm or facilities for combatting fires at Ellport, it was some time before the neighbors could be aroused, but when arriving there it was found that the entire inside of the house was a mass of flames. The men succeeded in breaking down the front door and removed a few pieces of furniture. After the frame work of the house had fallen, a grate covered and smouldering on the second floor proved to be an unique sight.

The Ellwood City chemical truck was called out but the flames had gained too much headway to save the house, so the efforts of the men were concentrated on keeping the house occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Michael Huber, adjoining property which was quite close, from catching fire.

It was among the oldest residences in this vicinity and was built of oak.

The big blaze attracted a large crowd who were powerless to prevent the extensive damage. It was fortunate that the residents of the district were present to play some garden hose on a nearby dwelling which caught fire several times.

The homes of George Rapp and Jacob Culp were seriously threatened by the flames. The arrival of the Ellwood fire department prevented this danger. The collapse of a chimney after everything else was demolished nearly injured several people. A timed warning scream sent everybody scurrying for safety.

Fire Chief H. T. Plante of Ellwood City estimated the loss at $3500, which, it is reported, is partially covered by insurance.

Two Good Games In Shelby League On Wednesday Night

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 14—Continuing their straight and narrow path to the championship of the League, the flashy Hot Mills performers won their fouth consecutive victory last night, when they trounced the Office 37-25. The Specialty maintained their hold on second place with their decisive win over the luckless Mechanicals score 38-24.

The boys from the Office were determined to upset the champions in the first game and early indications showed that they would be successful. They took the situation in control in the opening period and help their opponents to 3 points while accumulating six themselves. Reilley, Januzzl, and Elder each got a basket for the Office. Ben Chambers was the only scorer for Ellwood—getting a basket and a foul.

In the second quarter, as in his previous sprints, Dicky Freidhoff again broke loose to register three baskets before the period closed. Each of the other members of the team except Fitzgerald broke into the scoring column. For the Office the same three again tallied for the Office to make the score at the half stand 16-13 in favor of the Hot Mills. Once in the lead the Hot Hills unleashed a baffling offensive in the third quarter that netted them 13 points to 4 for the Office. Jim Fitzgerald led the attack with three baskets and two fouls. The champions enjoyed a fine lead over their opponents, 29-17, at the close of the third quarter.

Any hopes of making a last quarter stand by the Office were dashed as the Hot Mills still continued its offensive drive, which netted them 8 points. The Office held their own in this period. The final score was 37-25 for the Hot Mills.

The Specialty pasers also had a slow start and were held in check by the Mechanicals. But they improved and increased their score as time wore on. They were pressed hard in the first period and just managed to hold an 8-6 lead. The ex-champs opened up in the ensuing stanza to double their lead on the Mechanicals. Each member contributed his share of scoring in this period. The score at the half was 20-10.

They still continued their fine work in the third quarter to outscore their rivals 11-4. The attack was led by Boone and Aiello. The Mechanicals were gradually finding it more difficult to solve their opponent's intricate defense. The period ended with the score being 31-14 for the Specialty.

The closing chapter was a different matter altogether. The Mechanicals turned the table and made a desperate effort to increase their score. Unfortunately it was cut short by the final whistle. The team was beginning to function properly and baskets were rained in. The Specialty was outscored 11-7 in this last quarter. The final score was 38-25 for the Specialty.

Walt Sumner, ex-New Castle high star and Joe Latiano played remarkably for the winners. The former accredited himself with five baskets and one foul and the latter four baskets and one foul. Kimes and Ferucci were the best performers for the losers—getting four and three baskets respectively.

Following the games a dance was held in the auditorium, which will be a weekly feature at the club house.

High Seniors' Class Night

Banquet And Program At High School Wednesday Night

ISEMAN PRESIDES AS CLASS PRESIDENT

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 14.—An occasion that will be one of the bright lights of their future lives took place in the Lincoln high school last night, when the graduating class of Ellwood City high school held their annual class night dinner and program. The board of education members and their wives were special guests. The total in attendance was 128.

The vast dining room was a spectacle to behold in its impressive decorations of blue and gold crepe paper, the class colors. Large lighted tapers adorned the various tables where each place contained a most clever favor. Miss Phylias Newton, chairman of the decoration committee deserves much credit for this enhancing sight.

The menu also planned by Miss Newton was rather unique. They had a food served that represented each year of their high school careers. Besides being most appeasing to the palate, the dinner had its humorous points. Those present were heartily in accord of extending Miss Jackson and her staff of 9B and 10B girls their congratulations and admiration for preparing such a fete. Throughout the dinner an orchestra enlivened the occasion with fine music.

A most impressive program was presented at the close of the dinner. Fred Iseman, the president of the class, presided as toastmaster. He was very clever and original in his handling of the affair.

In his toast to the senior girls, Davy Aiken was very humorous but quite to the point. Miss Viola Bookamer responded. Miss Minnie Bookamer delivered the toast to the faculty and board of education to which O. D. Montgomery responded.

The concluding event of this program were the class donors, Robert Jones and Phyliss Newton who presented each member of the class with a gift which pointed out some factor in their scholastic career. Special music was provided throughout the program. Following this all adjourned to the gymnasium where the remainder of the evening was enjoyed with dancing.

The class officers are president, Fred Iseman; vice president, Earle Unger; treasurer, John Offutt. The honor students are Earle Unger, Milton Louis Caplan, Charlotte Jean Brown, Helen Elizabeth Hall, Mary M. Wimer, Andrew Rabel, Rose Marie Habrle, Gordon A. Welch, Olive Jean Sitler, and Minnie Virginia Bookamer. The first two named will deliver the valedictory and saluatory addresses respectively.

Miss Hemmerly Entertains Club

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 14—Miss Kathryn Hemmerly was a charming hostess to the members of her club at her home on Fourth St. Bridge was the principal attraction of the evening with two tables at play. Miss Grace Anderson and Miss Elizabeth Patton were presented with the first and second score honors respectively at the conclusion of the games.

At an appointed hour the hostess assisted by her sister Mary, served a delectable menu, much to the satisfaction of those present.

How Do You Buy

Do you buy blindfolded or do you want to see and know all about the article you desire?

Of two ads, one merely listing "a house" for sale, and the other describing a "modern tapestry brick bungalow, built in book cases, buffet and ironing board, wood burning fireplace," etc., which most appeals to you?

The "house" may have all the attractive features of the bungalow, but if the ad. does not tell about them, its appeal cannot equal that of the more fully described bungalow. An extra line costs only 10c. It may make the sale.

Stock Market Swings Vigorously Forward

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—All sections of the stock market swung forward vigorously this morning to the best price levels on the move. The momentum generated by Wednesday's closing advance was sufficient to force a long list of the rails and industrials 1 to 3 points higher and the same was true of the rail bond list, some of which have recovered 5 to 15 points from their January lows.

Transactions in the first half-hour totalled 600,000 shares, about three times as many as in the average recent session and many of the leaders were bid up aggressively at the opening.

Progress of the rail wage conference at Chicago was closely checked as buying demand for the railway stocks continued in good volume. Union Pacific at 84 showed a recovery of 19 points over the low of last week and Atchison at 92¼ was up 17 points as measured by the same standard.

United States Steel topped 45 for a new gain of 1 point and a 10-point recovery over the January 5 level. Westinghouse, American Can, General Motors, American Tobacco, Dupont, Eastman Kodak and other favorites participated in today's forward move, while utilities like Consolidated Gas, United Corporation, United Gas Improvement, Public Service and North American reached the best levels since the turn of the year. Trading slowed up near the noon period but prices were well maintained.

Rum Runner Wrecks Car In Escaping Officers On Watch

County Detective And State Highway Patrol Co-operate With Bessemer Police

About four o'clock this morning, Chief of Police A. A. Shoup of Bessemer, advised County Detective H. M. Lee that he had been advised that there would be a car loaded with liquor, pass along the highway through Bessemer in a short time and asked the assistance of the county detective.

County Detective Lee and officers of the State Highway Patrol raced to the scene and were stationed along the highway along with Chief Shoup and members of his force.

Presently along came the high powered Hudson sedan that was expected, making about seventy-five miles an hour. It disregarded the efforts of Shoup and his men to stop it and went on about two blocks and again disregarded the efforts of Lee and the State Highway Patrolmen to stop it.

It was found overturned and wrecked about half a mile further on, the man driving the car having escaped to the nearby woods at the time of the wrecking of the car. Search of the woods was made for more than an hour without result. The car has been towed into a garage. It bears an Ohio license.

But one glass container with liquor in it was found by the officers. There was evidence that there had been many others in the car but they were all smashed up and the contents lost. It looks possible that the driver of the machine smashed all possible containers with a hammer before the machine was wrecked.

Until recently the ground was too dry, but recent rains have helped the situation, and sod is now in excellent condition. Many farmers have even found that fields which were in wheat, oats or corn, last year, can now be plowed.

Appointments To Come February 1

Persons Renamed Or Appointed To Begin Terms In March

Only half a month approximately remains until council will make reappointments or new appointments to city offices. According to ordinances a majority of the appointments or reappointments are to be held on the first Monday of February, to become effective in March.

Almost every person in the employ of the city will come before the body for consideration on the first Monday of next month. Several appointments have already been made by the director of finance, but other councilmen are evidently awaiting February 1.

About the only two offices which do not expire in February are those of city solicitor and city engineer. It is rumored there will be some changes and some reappointments.

'Jack Young' Breezes Into Town Once More; Brings Back Memories

"Poomp Handle" Jack Young, one of the five best dog catchers in the country, exponent of the surprise attack in the prize ring, one of New Castle's best known dusky sons is back. Looking ten years younger than he did when he left here 12 years ago, feeling as fit as a fiddle, or anyway as fit as a ukelele, Jack arrived in New Castle today with the announcement that he was ready to take on all and sundry at 140 pounds.

Time was when Jack's "poomp handle" punch was something to be feared. Many an opponent has been looking at the lights from the flat of his back when the "poomp handle" connected with his lower set of teeth and win or lose Jack was always good for an entertaining fight.

As well known as he was in the prize ring, Jack was better known as the City Dog Catcher. Woe betide the pooch that strayed out onto the street without a tag. One graceful flip of his net and the pooch was gone.

Twelve years ago Jack left for other parts. Youngstown knew him for a while, then he struck out for the Great Lake region. His last port of call was Buffalo, N. Y., but the homing instinct got him down recently and he's back.

"Ah'm in good shape" said Mr. Young today. "Ah weigh 140 stripped, mah timing is just as good as it ever was, mah footwork is not a bit slower, and if they'll gimme a chance in the ring with anybody mah own weight just bring 'em on."

"As a matter of fact" confided Mr. Young in a stage whisper, "ah believe ah would like to take on George Chip". And with that he left. Genial as he always was, confident as ever, with a laugh that starts at his feet and works up by degrees, "Poomp Handle" Jack is back in New Castle. There may be no fatted calves go to the block in his behalf, but a lot of folks are glad he is back.

Thirteen Business Firms Are Affected By Post Office Site

With the formal acceptance by the Treasury Department of prices for five parcels of land on which the government will ultimately erect a post office building to cost approximately $326,000, investigation today revealed that 13 business locations, two of them vacant, are affected by the sale of the property. Each of the proprietors interviewed announced that he will seek new location for his business, but added that no official notification had been received to inform them when to vacate the site.

In addition to the commercial properties on the site, eight dwellers in apartments situated on the site property will also be affected.

In the Wallace property, which the Treasury Department has accepted at a price listed as $73,500, is the Cripps Hardware Company, 1-3 West Washington street, which will continue in business in a new location before start of demolition of the present brick building, Charles L. Cripps, president of the firm, said. Mr. Cripps said that no official notice had been received by his company on the subject of vacating the building. This firm has been in its present location since July 1, 1916, when it moved to 1 West Washington street. Later it expanded and enlarged its business to include the storeroom at No. 3.

J. C. Rucker, owner of the American restaurant, 5 West Washington street, has no definite plans, but announces he will seek a new location. He, too, has not received formal notice to vacate.

In the Clark property, which was sold for $27,000, the Sparano & DeLillo barber shop, 13 West Washington street, is affected by the government's acceptance of the property. It was reported at this establishment that its owners were endeavoring to find a new location.

Three business houses in the McCormick property, a brick structure, are affected. The wholesale tobacco business of Ben Brown, 7 West Washington street, will be moved to a new location, Mr. Brown said.

Carl L. Hanna, proprietor of the music store at 9 West Washington street, said he was undecided on his future location.

M. Montanari, shoemaker, 11 West Washington street, said he was undecided, since he has not been notified of the time to vacate.

On the second floor of the McCormick property at No. 7½, residents of three apartments are affected. They are occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Harry McDermott and family, Mrs. Miller, a widow, and R. Laughlin.

Hyman Kulkin, owner of property which the government has accepted at a price listed as $37,200, declared he was undecided where he will remove his meat market, which is located in a brick structure at 20 South Jefferson street.

An A. & P. store on the Kulkin property, adjoining the meat market, is also affected.

An old frame building, part of the Kulkin property, south of the brick, contains three storerooms, two of them vacant. C. Huddle, 22 South Jefferson street, proprietor of a barber shop, is undecided on his future location.

The Smith property, sold at $8,800, consists of a brick and cement block building facing Diamond Way. W. L. Emery, manager of the Diamond Way Garage, 21 Diamond Way, is undecided on his future location.

Patrick Hayden, welder and horseshoer, of No. 19, said he will move in two weeks to East South street.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Brown occupy an apartment above the garage.

Mrs. Mary E. Clark, resident of a small frame at 15 West Washington street, will continue to occupy her home. This building will not be affected by the erection of the post office.

Chinese Crew Attacked And Two Are Killed, Deny Jap Arms Stored In Shanghai

By DIXON HOSTE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

SHANGHAI, Jan. 14.—Pirates operating 20 miles from Shanghai today boarded the Chinese steamer Paofoong and attacked the crew, killing two.

Anxiety was expressed here over persistent reports by Chinese authorities that large quantities of arms were stored in Japanese warehouses in Shanghai, particularly in view of Japanese action in Tsingtao and Foochow.

Japanese officials denied the charge.

Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting

Thousands of sufferers from itching, bleeding or protruding piles have learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves nor cutting remove the cause.

Bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To end Piles an internal medicine must be used to stimulate the circulation, heal and restore the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonhardt was the first to discover a real internal Pile remedy. He called his prescription HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for 1000 patients with the marvelous record of success in 960 cases, and then decided every Pile sufferer should be able to get HEM-ROID tablets from their own druggist with a rigid money back guarantee.

Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID has an almost unbelievable record of success right in this city. So why waste time on external treatments or worry about an operation when Eckerd's Cut Rate and New Castle Drug Co. invites every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID with guarantee of money back if it does not end their Piles, no matter how stubborn the case?

ROAMING

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

Roamed around to Gaston park yesterday just to get an eyeful of what was going on out there. It proved to be an eyeful. In the past seven or eight weeks the place has been transformed from a brush choked woods into as pretty a piece of park as you want to see. For a while I wasn't sure I was in the right place.

The appearance of Gaston park now is an example of what can be done when several people get together and devise a plan of action. Sometime ago some of the mayor's relief committee decided that it would be a good thing to use the labor coming into the committee registers for cleaning up Gaston park. The weather has made it possible to work every day and it is in better shape now than it has ever been.

Where once dense brush and trees made a mass of trees and limbs, the place has been cleaned out and only a few saplings are left. The little gullies that run at the bases of the hills have been walled with stone, paths have been put in and next summer Gaston park will be a real place of beauty.

As a very small boy I roamed what was then Cunningham's woods almost daily. Old Long avenue was then nearly the frontier of civilization as far as New Castle went and Cunningham's woods was considered out in the wilds.

Perhaps we didn't appreciate it then as we should, but just walking through it yesterday brought back other days with a rush. Days when a gang of barefooted kids played "two-in" over on the small diamond, or went over to the "skinned diamond" to watch the bigger teams play. What is now nothing but a little bog we thought was a place of mystery where lizards, sea-serpents and snapping turtles made their home.

The idea of cleaning up the place as it is being cleaned up deserves a lot of credit. Just one thing, however. A number of little saplings have been set out along the walks and if left alone will some day make a leafy lane. Already some youngster trying out their Christmas knife has whacked off the tops of four or five of these saplings. There isn't any excuse for such half-pint vandalism and the boys should cut it out. If they don't, some night will see them in trouble.

Early returns from a number of precincts bring some rare stories about this warm wave. One chap says his iris are shooting up. Another has his tulips ready to leaf, and still another has cherry and peach buds out where they should be in April.

Johnny Newell claims that the gulf stream is changing its position and that in a few years we will have climate here like Florida. Which means that the Slippery Rock may replace Miami Beach and Kennedy's Mills will look like Coral Gables.

Whether it is the gulf stream or just a caprice of Dame Nature makes little difference to us. It is saving a lot of coal, thank you kindly, and that's something.

Checkers Expert Now In City Has Played Game's Leading Exponents; Says Pastime Beneficial To Mind

If you would play the ancient game of checkers to a marked degree of efficiency try to match your wits against a player as good or better than yourself—otherwise your game will become weak.

That is the advice of H. O. Newcomb, of Middlefield, O., widely-known checkers expert, member of the American Checkers Association, past president of the Ohio Checkers Association, for many years champion of Ohio and a participant in many national tournaments.

Newcomb, now a visitor in New Castle, staying at the Y. M. C. A., has played his best-loved game with some of the world's leading exponents of the checkered board. His achievements in this game are many, but in the field of chess he is also regarded as a good player who is seldom beaten.

Newcomb has won a prize in three national checkers tournaments. His best prize was ninth standing in the sixth annual tournament held in New York in 1924. In the fifth national event held in Boston in 1922 he received first consolation prize. In the seventh tournament held in Cedar Point, O., near Sandusky, Newcomb captured highest honors. He was champion of Ohio for five years in succession, lost the crown once in that time, and later recaptured it. He has played in several large tournaments in St. Petersburg, Fla., where he got from second to fourth prizes.

The New Castle visitor has played some of the leading exponents of the game, and has won—as well as lost—to international experts. He recalls that he played games with Clarence Freeman, Ferrie, Wyllie, Newell Banks and others. During the international games in 1905 between the United States and England, Newcomb played a game with Ferrie, then a member of the British team, and it was a draw. The two games with Freeman, champion of the United States, were draws.

The present checkers champion of the world, Newcomb said, is Robert Stewart, an Englishman. Richard Jordan, previous world champion, died in an automobile accident, and Stewart and Newell Banks, one of the finest players in the United States, played off for the championship in England, the winner being Stewart.

Newcomb has played and won several games from Banks, a really outstanding player and who, many experts of the game believe, would have been the world champion, if the 40-game match had been played in this country instead of abroad.

Speaking about his game Newcomb is certain that checkers is beneficial to the mind as well as interesting. It keeps you mentally awake, he said.

ENDED HIS LIFE, AFTER FIRST ATTEMPT FAILED

(International News Service)

NEW YORK Jan. 14—Three years ago, Robert D. Cochrane sold his thriving paint business in Sewickley, Pa., for $175,000. He was going to invest his money in stocks and become a millionaire.

He invested the money but the crash wiped him out. He and his wife came to New York, hoping to recoup.

But it was a discouraging job. Early in December Cochrane went into the cellar of his rooming house and tried to kill himself by inhaling gas. He was saved.

He waited nearly a month and then tried again. He went down to the cellar, telling Mrs. Cochrane he would "tend the furnace."

An hour passed and he didn't come back. His wife became alarmed. Investigating, she found him stretched out on the floor. A bullet from a brand new rifle had ended his life.

COMFORT for COLICKY BABIES

with Castoria's gentle regulation

"The best way to cure colic," says a famous doctor, "is to prevent it." And the best way to prevent it is to avoid gas in stomach and bowels by keeping the entire intestinal tract open, free from waste.

But there's one thing to remember here. A tiny baby's tender organs cannot stand harsh treatment. They must be gently urged.

This is just the place Castoria comes to a mother's aid. Castoria, you know, is made specially for the delicate needs of babies and children. It is a pure vegetable preparation which is absolutely harmless. It contains no harsh drugs, no narcotics.

Children never fight Castoria. They like its taste and the relaxed comfort its gentle regulation brings.

For many years it has helped mothers through trying ordeals with colicky babies, with children suffering from digestive upsets, colds and other little ailments. Keep it on hand for your children. You can always tell genuine Castoria by the name Chas. H. Fletcher.
